Coming Here—Roy Lawhorne expects Warden W. Shumway, field editor of the Pacific International Power Boat, here shortly to spend a few weeks on the bay.

Is Better—Eric Bolt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. N. Bolt who is attending Willamette University at Salem, has been quite sick there but is now improving.

Diamonds Higher—Local jewelers have been advised of a marked increase in the price of diamonds. The increase on some stones within the last three years or so has been between 75 and 100 per cent.

Is Missing—Edward O. Gundelinger, a paint and oil salesman who is quite well known on the Bay from trips here, is reported to have disappeared in San Francisco, February 2, and friends and relatives are alarmed as to whereabouts. He is 52 years old.

Lent Soon—A week from tomorrow is Ash Wednesday, the first day of the Lenten season. Lent probably will be more generally observed on Coos Bay this year than in some time and there promises to be a rush of parties and social functions between now and then.

Marsden's View—Robert Marsden, Sr., is rather indignant over the view of some of the Council that he "thinks he has a claim to the water right of the city park property." Mr. Marsden says that he has furnished the city ample proof of the justice of his claim and City Attorney Goss so recognizes. Mr. Marsden says that he only wishes what is right in the matter and is not trying to misrepresent or deal unjustly with the city or anyone else in the matter.

BUY TUG ROBERTS

Siuslaw Jetty Contractors Purchase Old Vessel.

The Florence West says: "The steamer Roberts, which has been on dry dock for about a year past, is soon to be launched again and enter once more on a career of usefulness."

"Johnson, Anderson & Co. have purchased the Roberts and intend to use the boat for towing rock to the jetty work."

"The steamer Roberts was brought to the Siuslaw about 18 years ago, having been purchased by Meyer & Kyle for the trade here. For many years the boat made frequent trips from the Siuslaw to Coos Bay, Yaquina and Astoria carrying passengers and freight between those points, as well as towing lumber schooners out and in the Siuslaw River."

"For several years past she has been used only as a freight boat, and has not been at work all of the time."
