greens in the center of the ceilings formed each a nucleus for the cords of red hearts that fell from them to the corners and walls of the rooms. Even the programs were stamped with tiny hearts. The orchestra, which, under the direction of Professor Raymond, furnished the perfect music; was screened at one end of the hall by a leafy wall of huckleberry and hearts. Cool, refreshing punch was served to the dancers in another bowerly corner. This dainty Valentine party is the final triumph of the busy social whirl that ends when Lent arrives with its quiet days and rest.

Robert McLaughlin, August Hoelling, Wm. Wood, and Walter McLeod were hosts at a charming Valentine party Friday evening at Taylor Hall, North Bend. The fifty guests spent a delightful evening playing various games which the hosts' ingenuity had devised. Misses Ellen Anderson and Grace Williams sang solos, and Miss Mildred Rood gave a piano selection. Supper was served on two big tables by the chef, Mr. McLaughlin and his assistant, Mr. Hoelling, occasioning much fun. The patrons and patronesses of the "Infernal Deception," as it was humorously called, were Mr. and Mrs. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. O'Mara, Mr. and Mrs. Widner and Mrs. E. Langenberg. Among those present were Misses Esther Imhoff, Ellen Anderson, Amy Reynolds, Nora Hage, Hattie Hage, Norma Chase, Ethel Van Zile, Violet Johnson, Marjorie Swearingen, Lola Ritchie, Dorothy Kibler, Harris, Bennett Otillia Hoelling, Elizabeth Jennings, Elizabeth Hoelling, Grace Williams, Blanche Williams, Bessie Immel, Alice Carlson, Inez Anderson, Anna Reed, Maude Shelley, and Mildred Rood; Messrs. Harry Conroy, Glen Groat, Oscar Carlson, Percy Phillips, Frank Muskas, Frank Maloney, Lloyd Huntley, Geo. Dewey, Marion Reynolds, Fred Reynolds, Geo. Hinsey, Russel A. Marsten, Verius McKay, Ed Thomas, Wm. Davis, Joe Winsor, Vernon Shelley, and Fred Kruse.

The Sisters of Bethany gave a very pretty and equally successful sale last night at the I. O. O. F. Hall. The various booths were beautifully arranged and gotten up, and showed great care and taste in their selections of delicacies. Mention cannot be made of any one booth in particular for all were dainty as could be, and the ladies are greatly to be complimented upon the skill with which the affair was managed. Dainty pieces of embroidery, baby caps, blankets, dresses and toys were on display at the pretty baby booth; Indian curios, from old baskets to miniature canoes, and a real squaw-girl at the Indian wigwam; delicate plants and flower girls at the Japanese booth; aprons and quilts where the housewives were thickest; "sweets for the sweet" at the candy corner; strange packages at fish-pond and Chinese laundry, whose prompt disappearance proved the worth of their "spielers;" destinies revealed at the gypsy camp; substantial examples of housewifely skill that were conspicuous by their absence before the evening could prove their toothsome delicacy; and punch at the dainty red and green canopy that stood under the many-colored streamers in the center of the floor. Several dances were enjoyed throughout the evening by the younger people, and an auction of the goods remaining in the booths, with Jack Flanagan and Arthur McKeown as auctioneers, occasioned great fun. Almost two hundred dollars were cleared by the fair.

Although the exact date of the marriage of Hugo Quist and Miss Charlotte Murch, two popular Marshfield young people whose engagement was announced some time ago, has not been definitely set, it will be some time in June. The date will depend on the time that friends and relatives of the bride-to-be can come here from the East. Miss Murch's friends are planning a number of showers to be given for her after Lent.

Coos Bay boys at the Oregon Agricultural College at Corvallis have been having hard luck recently. Gordon Rasmussen had to go to Portland and have his arm broken and reset to overcome a defect resulting from the break sustained here last summer. Duncan Douglas has been suffering from abscesses in his ear and has had to go to Portland for medical treatment and may have to return to his home in Marshfield. George Murch, Jr., had his right hand badly cut on a lathe in the machine shop there but the injury will not permanently impair the member.

The marriage of Andrew V. Wickman, of Empire, and Miss Blanche C. Harter, of Medesto, Cal., was solemnized at the home of the bride's uncle, Judge H. W. H. at Medesto, Wednesday, February 14. The bride wore a blue traveling suit as is usual after the ceremony and a wedding dinner, at which only immediate relatives were present, the young couple left for San Francisco where they spent part of their honeymoon. They will come to Coos Bay on the steamer Reliance which sails from San Francisco tomorrow and will make their home at Empire.

The bride is a very accomplished young woman. Her father is a banker at Medesto and also owns some large peach ranches near there. Mr. Wickman, who has spent most of his life on Coos Bay, has many friends here who will warmly welcome him and his bride. He has for a number of years been in the employ of the Southern Oregon company.

Charley Johnson is expected home from Corvallis where he has been attending the special agricultural and dairying courses.

Mrs. Chas. Worrell invited a number of friends to her home last Saturday evening as a surprise for Mr. Worrell, whose birthday it was. Games and music pleasantly employed the evening for the guests, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Simpson, Mrs. Wm. Ross, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Smith, Rev. D. A. MacLeod, Misses Grace and Blanche Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Brouillard, Miss Della Brouillard, Miss Bessie Immel, Mr. and Mrs. Mandigo, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Gelsendorfer, Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Simpson, Edith Simpson and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Russell.

Miss Edith Thomas entertained a number of young folks at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas, in North Bend, last Saturday evening. Various games and music, including vocal solos by Robt. McLaughlin were followed by dancing and made the evening an unusually pleasant one. Refreshments were served. Among those present were: Elizabeth Hoelling, Ottella Hoelling, August Hoelling, Nora Hage, Tom Hage, Ira Wilson, Maggie Wilson, Joe Winsor, Vernon Shelley, Ole Jaren, Edward Thomas, Myrtle Thomas, Robert McLaughlin, Vesta McCullough, Dorothy Kibler, Fred Kruse, Anna Reed and Frank Maloney.

Mrs. W. T. Merchant is entertaining a number of the girls of the younger set at sewing this afternoon at her home on Knob Hill. Claude Nasburg and his bride are expected here shortly to make their home. They are now enjoying a honeymoon trip to points of interest along the coast. Mr. Nasburg plans to build a home here in the spring. Concerning their marriage at Portland last Wednesday, the Portland Telegram has the following:

"Miss Helen Doble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Doble, was married this noon to Claude Nasburg, of Marshfield. The wedding was in the presence of intimate friends at St. Mark's Episcopal Church, Rev. J. E. H. Simpson officiating. Miss Doble wore her modish traveling costume of pale blue broadcloth. Her chapeau and muff were fashioned of blue chiffon and on the latter was pinned a bouquet of mauve orchids. Her attendant was Mrs. Grant Mays, who arrived from The Dalles last night. Mrs. Mays was in an elaborate white lingerie gown with black picture hat. She carried an armful of bridesmaid rose buds. Harry Butler, of San Francisco, who was a fraternity brother (Sigma Chi) of Mr. Nasburg at the University of California, was best man. He arrived from the south this morning. Mr. Nasburg has been here since Sunday.

At the conclusion of the high church ceremonies, the wedding party and a few relatives and intimate friends repaired to the Hotel Multnomah where a wedding breakfast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Nasburg will leave tonight for a short wedding trip and expect to visit a short time in Portland before going to their future home in Marshfield. The engagement of Miss Doble, a popular Portland girl, to the prominent banker and real estate man of Southern Oregon was announced a few weeks ago."

Mrs. L. F. Falkenstein entertained a few friends informally at her home in North Bend Saturday afternoon.

A birthday cake with five big candles, red and white bon-bons, a fish-pond that yielded not only fish but miniature ducks and frogs to eager fishing-rods, and valentines that kept popping under the door at unexpected moments from a real St. Valentine, were joys that enraptured all fourteen of the little guests who met at the J. H. Flanagan home Wednesday afternoon to celebrate the fifth birthday of little Eleanor Flanagan. The children spent a happy afternoon over the inviting fish-pond and mysterious valentines, and inspecting the house, which was prettily hung with red and white hearts, and the big birthday cake furnished the last straw to their glee. The guests of Miss Eleanor were Catharine Toye, Margaret Stump, Elizabeth Flanagan, Bess Flanagan, Elvy Grant, Elizabeth Swanton, Graeie McKeown, Virginia Coke, Tom Flanagan, Frederiek Schetter, George Williams, Joey McKeown, Proctor Flanagan, and Baby Jim Flanagan.
