

Official Paper of Coos County

A NATIONAL PRIMARY

ENATOR Cummins is wholly right in his effort to secure a national primary election law as outlined in the Associated Press dis-patches to The Times yesterday. It too much to hope for, however, that the upper house of Congress will make this concession to the people without a struggle. The plan to name the President a nation wide popular vote is one that will appeal to all the people with the one exception of the professional politician. The politician will see in it a menace to his long enjoyed privilege of bossism and graft, but the people will sooner or later force the issue. Government direct by the people is coming certainly and surely.

Senator Cummin's bill for the National Primary is the opening gun in what will soon be a nation wide campaign for the initiative and referendum and other popular laws in which Oregon was first.

enough to fill all the demands that are coming in for them.

Some Appreciations, Here are some of the many expressions of appreciation of the special edition of The Times:

Rev. R. E. Browning: "The Times certainly deserves its meed of praise for the splendid effort it has made, and one that has ended so successfully, in the publication of the recent special edition of its paper. It is something for which every loyal citizen of Marshfield can feel especially proud, and no matter what his views upon other subjects may be, he cannot but extend to The Times his heartlest congratulations. It is decidedly the best thing of its kind that has ever been done in Marshfield, and reflects credit upon the Editor and those associated with him. We hear great deal about boosting litera-Certainly we have that and ture.

more too in this special edition, for we have plain cold facts about Coos Bay and its environs, all put together in such an attractive way as to make it speak loudly and warmly of all that we have here to offer. It has been a great pleasure to read it, and I am sure all the citizens of our Marshfield and surrounding country feel the same way. We sometimes lose sight of the immense importance a newspaper is to a town or city. There is nothing that tends more to unify the people andto be a common rallying point for all civic improvements and for the upbuilding of the city as a whole. As such it com-mands not simply the respect, but as garbled and misleading. the active support, of every rightminded citizen.

Good Electric Lighting Is Impossible Without Proper Lamps and Shades

Satisfactory lighting results rest not alone upon the generating plant and distributing systems of the Electric Company.

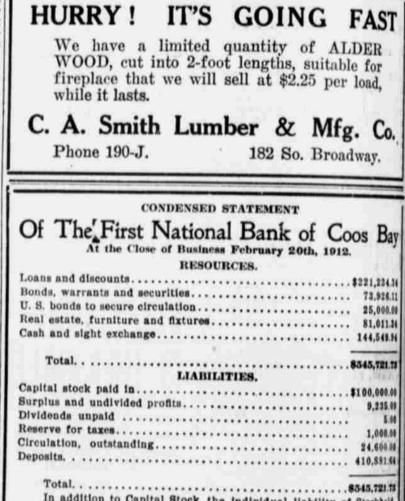

Receiving adequate electric current at correct voltage in itself will not produce good lighting.

The new (Mazda) tungsten lamps give almost three times as much light for the same consumption of current as do the carbon incandescent lamps.

We maintain representatives who are experts in illumination and who will prescribe for house holds not satisfied with lighting results.

Children are much more likely to contact the contagious diseases when they have colds. Whooping cough, diptheria, scarlet fever and con-sumption are diseases that are often contracted when the child has a cold. That is why all medical authorities say beware of colds. For the quick cure of colds you will find nothing better than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It can always be depended upon and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by all dealers,
