SENSATIONAL MESSAGES OF ROOSEVELT TO LA FOLLETTE

Claim Former President Responsible for Wisconsin Man's Candidacy.

CLAIM HE INTIMIDATED DEMOCRATIC SUCCESS

Allege His Determination to Have Progressive Against Taft.

By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 23.—Senator La Follette's messages to Governor Roosevelt...

"But you said more than this. You declared Roosevelt a candidate that he would not be a candidate, that his name in history was made, that he would not afford to take a defeat and that whoever made the fight was certain to be defeated for the nomination or for election if nominated, that this was a democratic year, that La Follette would not be injured in defeat, that there should be a candidate representing the progressive movement, that La Follette was the logical man and if he decided to make the fight he should announce his candidacy at once."

"That Roosevelt encouraged La Follette to become a candidate, you must deny." Houser renewed his charge that the attitude of the Roosevelt forces toward La Follette changed as soon as there became evident a widespread growth of progressive movement and the possibility of La Follette's nomination. "Then big business," said Houser, "represented by Hanna, Munsie, Perkins and others of higher and lower note, who always have opposed La Follette, entered into the contest and introduced Roosevelt as a candidate and are still actively supporting him. People will judge in the light of the facts whether or not Roosevelt is kept true faith with La Follette and is doing so with the real progressiveness of the country."

UNKNOWN DEAD OF MAINE BURIED

National Tribute Paid to Memories of Men Who Were Lost in Disaster in Havana Harbor.

By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 23.—With all the pomp and solemnity that a nation can pay its heroes of war, the last dead of the battleship Maine were laid away today in Arlington cemetery. Side by side with the bodies of those brought back from Havana harbor after the war with Spain, they were consigned to the earth of the Old Domain, while a nation paid its last measure of honor to the sixty-four "unidentified" of that great catastrophe that brought on the war, changed the map of the world and extended the empire of the United States into the far corners of the earth. Seldom in the history of the country had been planned a higher tribute to the memory of men or men. Government business in Washington was practically suspended by executive order. President Taft, most of the members of the cabinet, the highest officials of the army and navy and the marine corps, officials of departments and representatives of many foreign powers participated in the exercises. Elaborate preparations had been made for the ceremonies of the burial. Beginning with the removal of the dead from the United States ship Birmingham, which brought them from Havana and ending with the firing of three volleys of musketry over the new made graves across the Potomac, the ceremony was designed to show all honor and respect to the dead. The exercises were in an open air plaza behind the navy building. The speakers who faced the crowd in the plaza were only three, President Taft, Father Chadwick, chaplain of the Maine when the explosion occurred, February 15, 1898, and sent her to the bottom, and Chaplain Bayard, U. S. N.

Conspicuous among the officials for whom reservations were made on the steps of the navy building just behind President Taft were Rear Admiral Charles D. Sigsbee, who commanded the Maine at the time of the explosion; Rear Admiral Richard Waynwright, Lieut. Boyd and Medical Director R. L. Henneberger, officers under him at the time. For Admiral Dewey and Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, ranking officers in the navy and army, special places were set aside. During the memorial exercises the "Paul Revere" bell of All Souls' Unitarian Church was tolled. At Arlington cemetery the simple exercises included burial services by Chaplain Bayard and Father Chadwick. With the firing of three volleys of musketry by a company of marines, a national salute of 21 guns from an army battery in the cemetery and the sounding of the plaintive call of taps, the dead were given to the earth.

GENERAL RELIEF WORK NOW ARRANGED FOR

Number of Idle Men and Women Constantly Increasing—Deep Gloom Evident.

By Associated Press to the Coos Bay Times.

LONDON, March 23.—England is spending one of the gloomiest week ends in her history. In every town, village and hamlet throughout the country where skilled workmen are engaged in great industries, unemployment is on the increase and families of workmen rendered idle by the strike of a million coal miners in many cases are facing starvation. The distress and inconvenience resulting from the coal strike are every where in evidence.

Large factories, unable to secure coal, one by one are closing their gates and the steam trawlers remain anchored in the fishing ports unable to proceed to the fish banks on account of the shortage of fuel, thus shutting off a supply of cheap food.

Train service has been curtailed to the limit in every direction, hundreds of regular trains have been abandoned until after the strike. Throughout the country relief boards headed by well known and well-to-do men and women have been established to give relief. Thus far the miners alone have received $2,900,000 strike pay and it is estimated that $600,000 has been paid in benefits of other unions. The secretary of one of the largest unions said the treasuries will be drained to the last penny before the trouble is over, a condition of affairs that is causing much resentment against the leaders of the miners who are accused of stubbornness.
