Undergoes Operation—Mrs. Roscoe Blases of Coos River underwent an operation for cancer of the breast yesterday at Mercy hospital. She is reported doing as well as could be expected, although her condition is rather critical.

Boy Killed—It has been learned that the boy who was killed near Bandon the other day by the accidental discharge of a shotgun was Vernie Butler, a 13-year-old lad and the son of a rancher in the Four Mile country. The boy died almost instantly, the charge of buckshot dismembering him.

Grants Divorce—Judge J. S. Coke, following a hearing in Chambers today granted Mrs. Elizabeth Eddy a divorce from Ernest E. Eddy. She was also granted the custody of their 10-year-old son. Desertion was the cause given. Eddy has not been on the Bay for some time.

Argue Case—Before Judge Coke in chambers this afternoon, the case of Euphemia Dyer vs. the City of Bandon is being argued. The case arises from an assessment for a street improvement, an injunction being sought to prevent the city from selling the property to collect the assessment.

For Game Preserve—Henry Seagstacken is planning to have a little game preserve of his own. He has a large ranch on South Slough which he has named "The Alders," and he is planning to put in a number of young trout in the various brooks on the place and will also liberate a number of Belgian hares there.

Case of Scarlet Fever—Joey McKeown, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McKeown, is reported ill with a case of scarlet fever at the J. W. Bennett residence. The disease was evidently contracted in San Francisco, as the little lad has been sick for about 10 days, but not until yesterday could it be determined what he was suffering from. When the attending physician, Dr. Horsfall, pronounced it scarlet fever, Mr. Bennett immediately summoned Health Officer Mingus, who took prompt measures to prevent any contagion. Mrs. McKeown and the patient and the nurse, Miss Hendley, were quarantined in their apartments and everything possible done for protection of the health of the others. The other children have been quarantined on the premises.

Case Decided—Word has just been received that Judge Harris of Eugene has handed down a decision in the case of Andreas Anderson, a South Slough rancher, vs. the Smith-Fowers Logging Company. The company condemned right of way across Anderson's land and he took it to the circuit court on the ground that the logging road was not a public service corporation and consequently did not have the right of eminent domain. L. A. Liljeqvist, who represented Anderson, has notified John D. Goss, who represented the company, that he will appeal the case.

Chandler Won Case—C. R. Peck this morning received a telegram announcing that W. S. Chandler was victorious in the case in which Mr. Peck represented him there last week. The case was begun by Mr. Chandler's half brother, R. B. Chandler, who charged Mr. Chandler and the Humboldt Steamship company with wrongfully converting 100 shares of stock in the company to W. S. Chandler. It seems that the stock in the company was bought by the late R. D. Chandler and was placed in R. B. Chandler's name for business reasons. Just prior to his death, R. D. Chandler ordered the stock changed to W. S. Chandler. The court found that the transfer was legal, and that R. B. Chandler had no claim to it.

Will Be Larger—According to word just received here, the new vessel which the C. A. Smith Company is having constructed at Newport News, Va., will be considerably larger than the Nann Smith, although the same type of vessel. She will be about 40 feet longer and have several feet more beam and will be able to carry a cargo of about 2,000,000 feet without stowing the lumber. A number of improvements will be made in her for quick loading and unloading by means of the crane and sling system.

Port Orford Port Case—J. D. Goss will leave tomorrow for Curry County to attend circuit court there. One of the principal cases he is interested in is the Port Orford Port case, several different phases of the Port Commission there being attacked. Quo warranto proceedings, similar to those in the Coos Bay Port case, have been ordered instituted by Governor West. C. R. Peck will aid W. H. Meredith in defending the port. The cases will be tried next week. Judge Coke will leave for there Friday.

Point Sunday morning to accompany the special train from there to the Bay for the Easter service of the order. The committee will also accompany the excursionists back in the evening. The program for the services is about completed.

New Store—H. Harkensee has a new store building under construction on Elrod near Tenth street. He recently bought the lot for $1250.

Lands Open—Arthur K. Peck, United States Land Commissioner, has received word that the land between Loon Lake and Allegany, which is to be thrown open April 10 is not for general entry. The order for the opening of Sections 1 to 5, 8 to 17, 20 to 29 and 32 to 35, in Township 23, Range 11, provides only for entry by people who resided on the land prior to its withdrawal for forest reserve purposes.

Nearly Drowned—"Billy" Manning, an old resident of this section, was almost drowned Monday. He was planning a trip to the clam beds in the lower Bay in his towboat and had the launch Express take him in tow. Somehow his skiff capsized, throwing him into the river. Capt. Rogers turned the Express back and picked him up but none too soon as the old man was exhausted and barely able to keep himself afloat.

successive times and the name of each winner is to be engraved on it.

Two Bandon Divorces—Two former Bandon couples were divorced today, desertion being the cause of each. The decrees were granted by Judge Coke after a hearing in chambers, F. J. Foeney representing each of the plaintiffs. One was Mrs. Carrie V. Mayer vs. J. G. Mayer. Mayer's whereabouts are unknown and Mrs. Mayer lives in Myrtle Point. The other was Oluf Fliskaa, whose wife, Kia Fliskaa, left him and returned to Norway.

Takes Prisoner—Ralph Quine, a son of Sheriff Quine of Douglas County, arrived here today to take L. F. Thom the housebreaker wanted there, back with him. Thom was arrested Sunday by Marshal Carter. Thom is charged with robbing the George Winston home near Roseburg. This is the second housebreaker that has been arrested this week for thefts near Roseburg, the other being a man named Davis who robbed the W. Q. Brown home at Riddle and who was arrested at Medford. Thom admitted his guilt to Marshal Carter and Nightwatch Shoupe, but when Quine arrived today, he first claimed he found the jewelry in an envelope in the road and later said he found it in an old tobacco sack. There is little doubt of his guilt. Deputy Sheriff Quine will take him out via Gardiner tomorrow.
