

WANT PUBLIC TO TAKE PART

Council Calls Meeting to Consider Questions for Special Election.

At a meeting of the Marshfield city council last evening, Chairman Ferguson of the special committee of the council to draft the question to be submitted at the special election in June, announced that a public meeting would be held at the council chamber Tuesday evening, April 23, for the purpose of receiving suggestions from the people. Any question relative to the waterworks or other public matters, it is understood, can be submitted at the election and if not binding will be advisory to the council.

It was first proposed to hold the meeting next Friday evening, but owing to Friday being the day of the primary election, it was decided to postpone it. The special election is to be held early in June.

For Fire Department.

After a lengthy discussion of the fire protection of the city, it was decided that Mayor Straw and Fire Chief Keating should appoint a committee of five to investigate the advisability of purchasing a combined auto truck and chemical engine for the city. The matter was brought before the council by a committee from the fire department consisting of Carl Albrecht, Chief Keating and Secretary L. W. Traver. Mr. Albrecht said that the department had been considering the matter for several months and had come to the conclusion that the auto chemical truck which would also haul the fire engine would be best for the department and the city. He said that a truck carrying about 2000 feet of hose could be bought for $6000 to $8000. It would have a speed of about 35 miles per hour.

Fire Chief Keating also talked strongly in favor of the auto chemical truck. He said that the department did not want the three additional chemical engines that had been suggested. He said that the three chemicals would cost about $2400. He said they had one chemical engine on hand now that they would be willing to turn over to Councilman Ferguson and his constituents if they wanted it. He said that it would be better for the owners of homes who favored the chemicals to buy a small extinguisher and have it ready.

Councilman Allen suggested that owing to the expense of the auto truck that it might be well to buy a team and that the team could be used for cleaning the streets.

Mr. Keating said this wouldn't do at all. In the first place, the same team could not be used by the fire department and for street cleaning purposes because when they would be wanted for a fire, they would be in a distant part of town, probably. In the next place, he said the cost of maintaining an auto truck was practically nothing, whereas a team would cost about $1350 per year, besides the original cost of it, and the cost of rearranging the city hall to accommodate it, about $1400, he figured.

Finally, it was decided that the mayor and fire chief should name a committee of citizens outside the department and council to consider the matter.

Will Pay Secretary.

Carl Albrecht presented another request from the fire department. It was that the city pay the secretary of the department and also pay the back salary for a year. The secretary gets $5 per month. Mayor Straw said that he thought that it should be understood that the council would pay any bill incurred by the fire department if it was O. K.'d by the officials of the department. He said that no one thought that the fire boys were trying to beat the city and that he did not think it right for them to have to bear any expense connected with it. The department, however, wished an official record made of the agreement and a resolution was adopted stating that the council would pay all legitimate bills of the department.

Other Business.

Robert Kruger appeared before the council and protested because the dredgings were flowing in on his lots at the corner of Fourth and Commercial. Engineer Gidley said that Mr. Kruger had decided to build his own bulkhead and be responsible for it and consequently the city workmen had not touched it. Mr. Kruger claimed that the city employees were responsible for the water backing up into his lots. He said that he had engaged a lawyer to represent him at last night's council meeting but he guessed "his lawyer must be drunk" because he didn't show up. No action was taken by the council, the matter being left to the hands of Engineer Gidley.

The council adjourned to meet the first Monday in May.

Tribbey to Resign.
Geo. W. Tribbey last evening presented his verbal resignation as electrical inspector to become effective the first of next month. He said he had gotten tired of the job. He said that in three years he had issued 287 permits and that the job only paid on an average of 25 cents per day. He said that as a result of having the buildings rewired, he had secured a material reduction in the insurance rate on Front street.

He was told to put his resignation in writing so that the council could properly take it up.

NOTICE TO DEMOCRATS OF COOS, CURRY AND DOUGLAS COUNTIES

The peculiar provisions of the law governing the selection of delegates to the National Convention allows you to vote for but one, although ten are to be elected. You are therefore urged to vote for the delegate from this district—John D. Goss of Marshfield. (Paid Ad.) Coos County Central Committee

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The House of Representatives unanimously adopted a resolution today extending sympathy to the relatives of those who met death in the disaster of the Titanic.

MAY SAVE OTHERS

Still Hope Second Vessel Has Some of Survivors.

(By Associated Press to the Coos Bay Times.)

MONTRAELE, April 16.—Notwithstanding reports to the contrary, the Allen Line officials believe the Parisian may be carrying some of the survivors of the Titanic. This probability is supported by the fact that the Parisian is headed for Halifax although she was originally bound for Philadelphia. The scout cruiser Chester, also, has been dispatched to meet steamers that might have news of the disaster.
