There was a good attendance and many of the members took part in the interesting program on the topic "Modern Dramatists." At the close of the afternoon refreshments were served by the hostess. Mrs. Browning will entertain the club Monday April 29.

Miss Ruby Hendry is entertaining several of her schoolmates at a birthday party this afternoon at her home in Ferndale.

The Senior Class of the High School are rehearsing the play "A Rose of Plymouthtown" which they intend to present at the Masonic Theatre Class Day. The play is a bit of Puritan life, is pregnant with the old New England spirit and presents high possibilities for the successful acting that the Seniors have proved they possess. The entire class will take part, the cast being limited to the members of the class. Miss Nora Tover as "Rose of Plymouthtown" will have the leading part. The setting and costumes promise to make the production extremely realistic and picturesque. The other Seniors taking part are Miss May Preece, Miss Mary Preece, Messrs. Chauncey Clarke, Ernest Harrington and Bartlett Flanagan.

Mrs. W. A. Tove was hostess at one of the latest, most elaborate and delightful receptions of the spring season at her home in West Marshfield yesterday afternoon. The house was artistically decorated, a white and lavender color scheme blended with pink being effectively carried out. Lilies predominated in the floral decorations. The softened glow of a myriad of shaded candles produced a most entrancing effect. Despite the showery weather, many beautiful new costumes were in evidence. In receiving, Mrs. Tove was assisted by Mrs. W. S. Turpen, Mrs. H. S. Tower and Mrs. Tozer of Minneapolis, in entertaining by Mrs. W. T. Merchant, Mrs. E. K. Jones and Mrs. F. M. Parsons and in serving by Mrs. J. Albert Matson, Mrs. J. M. Upton, Mrs. R. K. Booth, Miss Charlotte Murch, Miss Rose Stein and Miss Frances Williams. A six-piece orchestra furnished music for the afternoon. The hours were from 2 to 5.

The meeting of the North Bend parents and interested citizens in general was called to order Tuesday evening by Prof. Raab of the North Bend high school. The name of the organization decided upon is the North Bend School Hygiene Society and its object is to study and teach social and moral hygiene in the schools and in the community. The following officers were chosen to forward the movement: Edgar McDaniels, president; Dr. I. B. Bartie, first vice-president; Mrs. Geo. Shelley, second vice-president; Mrs. Herbert Armstrong, third vice-president; Rev. D. A. MacLeod, secretary-treasurer. The work is to be carried on by these officers as an executive committee assisted by an advisory committee composed of ten fathers and ten mothers of children in school. The society will meet monthly to consider social and moral questions of vital interest to the young people in schools and town. One of the prominent members is quoted as saying that "the element of moral smut to be found in our public schools from the primary grades through to the High School will be made a matter of serious consideration by this new organization."

Mrs. C. H. Marsh and daughters, Misses Uma and Isis, are entertaining at sewing this afternoon with Mrs. C. J. Millis and Miss Edna Lewis as guests of honor.

Mrs. F. S. Dow is hostess to a picnic party on South Coos River today.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Lefe were mid-week guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Friedberg at their summer home on South Coos River.

Yesterday was spent in an enjoyable way by the Libby school children. It being election day, the school building was required for election children and several of the ladies of Libby made an excursion to Banderdorf Beach where a most enjoyable time was spent during the better part of the day. In the afternoon Mussel Reef Point and the Light House were visited by groups of the picnicers, while playing and splashing in the water of the beach naturally occupied most of the time. The slight showers that fell in the afternoon did little or nothing to dampen the cheer and good feeling that existed amongst the picnicers, and the long ride to and from the beach was anything but a sorrowful affair in spite of the distance and the rather heavy roads. Among others, Mrs. E. Holland, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Oland were in the party.
