if too much heat is applied; but the burning has no effect whatever upon them. Less fuel is needed when cooking in "Wear-Ever" utensils, because they heat quicker and retain heat longer than other cooking utensils; and food cooked in them is less liable to scorch. Every "Wear-Ever" utensil is made without joints, seams or solder from thick, hard sheet aluminum, 99 per cent pure. Cannot form poisonous compounds with acid fruits or foods, cannot chip or scale, practically indestructible.

MIRENE SAILS NORTH TODAY

NEW GASOLINE SCHOONER OF THE F. C. BARNES PACKING VESSEL.

Just before sailing this morning from North Bend, Capt. J. J. Reynolds tendered a reception to a small party of friends aboard the Mirene, the fine new gasoline schooner of the Barnes Packing company. The Mirene sailed for the Columbia River from where she will go to Puget Sound to load cannery supplies for Alaska. From here she took 320 cases of salmon and 100 sacks of salt.

The crew on the maiden trip consisted of Capt. Edgar Simpson as master, George May, formerly of the ill-fated Oahkosh, as engineer, Floyd Huntley as assistant engineer and Wm. Nicholson.

The Mirene was built by Kruse & Banks for the F. C. Barnes Packing company of Portland and she will be used as tender for the company's Alaska canneries. She is 65 feet long, has 20-foot beam and 6-foot hold and registers forty-three tons gross and thirty-six tons net. Her carrying capacity is about ninety-five tons.

Many who have seen her consider the Mirene to be one of the staunchest, trimmest and most complete little vessels that ever graced Pacific coast waters. She has an 80 H. P. Standard engine and 5 H P hoisting engine. Her hull is of Port Orford Cedar and No. 1 fir planking was used on her. In fact, special care was given to the selection of all the material used in building her.

Capt. J. J. Reynolds of the F. C. Barnes Packing company who came here for the Mirene is highly delighted over their new vessel and declares that she is only the first of a number of the same type that will be built on Coos Bay in the near future.

The improvement Club will meet this evening at the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce to perfect plans for their civic improvement campaign.

Wed Tomorrow—The marriage of Miss Rose Wall and Harry Winkler will be solemnized tomorrow morning, the Rev. Father Munro officiating. Only immediate relatives will be in attendance. The young couple will leave at once via Bandon for California where they will spend their honeymoon.

Threaten Suit—Constable W. B. Cox has been verbally notified that W. B. Rohrer, owner of the Sanitary Market, will begin suit against him to recover $90 which Mr. Cox attached to cover a judgment for D. W. Small and also for $1000 damages which Rohrer claims his business reputation suffered as a result of Mr. Cox taking charge of the shop.

Will Sell Interest—J. W. Flanagan of the Coos Bay Oil & Supply Co. is negotiating for the sale of that enterprise and expects to retire from the oil business. He has some other propositions under consideration but has not definitely settled upon anything. His many friends will hope that his business prospects will permit his remaining a resident of Marshfield.

CLUB MAKES PLANS

Myrtle Point Organization Considers Many Projects.
The Myrtle Point Enterprise says: Last evening, being the first Wednesday evening in May, occurred the regular monthly business meeting of the Myrtle Club.

Secretary Roberts read a letter from the Oregon Immigration Commission, asking for the compilation of data for a write-up of our community for the "Oregon Almanac" the booklet which is to be published under appropriation of the last Legislature. To compile this data a committee consisting of C. Milton Schulz, J. L. Knight and K. H. Hansen was appointed.

Supt. A. T. Park informed the club that President Campbell of the State University will be in this county the first of June, and as the local schools will close May 17th, it was suggested that it might be well that the club take charge of the entertaining of the gentleman while in our city. In view of the fact that the Myrtle Club should make it a point to entertain all persons of prominence who may sojourn in our midst, a standing committee was appointed, with power to act on occasions of this character. The committee named was H. B. Steward, J. O. Stemmler, and C. E. Huling.

Along the line of the California "rainy day" it was suggested that a movement be started in Coos county for a "Gravenstein Apple Day." In as much as Myrtle Point has not pulled off any Fourth of July celebration and in view of the fact that a race meet is being arranged for the third and fourth of July, the board of managers were instructed to cooperate with the fair association and arrange for a program of public speaking and sports for the entertainment of the visitors in the forenoon of the Fourth.

CYCLONE CARRIES AWAY

SCHOOL AND PUPILS BROKEN BOW, Neb. May 7—Thousands of spectators flocked to this vicinity to gaze with wonder at a little school house which was picked up by a cyclone recently, carried half a mile and deposited right side up with a precious cargo of twelve children and the teacher, Miss Clara Mills. None of the children were seriously hurt, but Miss Mills was seriously injured by the fall which carried her against a desk. The storm came up just as the teacher was preparing to dismiss school. When the pupils, who had just left the building, saw the terrifying funnel shaped cloud approaching, they fled back to their desks in terror. An instant later, the building was picked up and carried over fields and fences and two creeks and set down in a wheat field.
