Will Graduate.—Clemmer W. Pratt, formerly bookkeeper for the A. W. Myers store and a brother of Mrs. R. T. Street, is a member of the graduating class of the Law Department of the University of Oregon this year. The commencement exercises were held this week.

Get Wild Cat—Chas. Hickox and Chas. Hunter Sunday killed two wild cats on Coos River near Frank Roger's ranch. The varmints were treed by their hounds. Late Sunday afternoon, the dogs got on the trail of other varmints and got away from the hunters who had to return without them. They will probably go back today to get the hounds.

Russell Wins Case.—The case of Bluford Davis vs. J. W. Russell for damages for alleged injury to the Davis ranch on Coos River while Mr. Russell was a tenant on it, was decided in favor of Mr. Russell in circuit court at Coquille. Mr. Russell came back from California, where he recently located, to defend the case. He is the father of Postmaster Russell of North Bend.

Rumor Untrue.—A report was in circulation today that the body of George Condie, the aged Bandon man who mysteriously disappeared here a few weeks ago, had been found near the pumping station or reservoir this morning. The report was not true and no one appears to know just where it originated. Marshal Carter or none of the officials had been notified of it.

Books for School.—Mrs. Ella Walker has presented the Marshfield Public School Library a complete set of Charles Dudley Warner's "Library of the World's Best Literature" and a number of other books. The gift will be a valuable addition to the school library. Mrs. Walker, who with her brother, John W. Butler, recently sold the corner occupied by Stauff's Grocery and Norton & Hansen Stationery company, will leave in a couple of weeks for San Francisco to make her home there.

No Contract Let.—The Eastside school board has decided to erect the new school building there by day labor. This decision was reached as a result of the contractors' bidding on the work not coming even close to the estimate, the nearest being $3,000 above and then not including considerable of the finishing work on the structure. Arthur Horton has been engaged by the board to supervise the construction and is now assembling the material. It is expected by the board that by eliminating the contractor's profit, they will be able to complete the building according to plans within the estimate. The old building is now being moved to the city hall site and work on the school house will start soon. It is to cost about $9,000. Mr. Horton has been a resident of Eastside about a year and has been employed in the Cavanaugh boat shops.

HINDU FAILS TO GET PAPERS

Judge Coke in circuit court at Coquille yesterday rejected the application for naturalization papers by the first Hindu who has sought to become a citizen of the United States. His rejection of the application was in response to an argument by Everett A. Johnson of Portland, Assistant United States Attorney for the district of Oregon. The rejection was based on the defect in the Hindu's final application and was without prejudice so that the application may be renewed at any time.

The applicant was Das Trakanath of Bandon. He is connected with the clay works there and is about 25 years old. He holds a couple of degrees, one from the University of California and one from the University of Washington. His application for citizenship was originally made at Seattle.

Attorney Johnson says that the United States looks with disfavor on granting the right of citizenship to Hindus. He is not familiar with the case, having come here on brief telegraphic instructions from immigration officials.

White Slave Case.
Mr. Johnson will probably remain on the Bay the balance of the week looking into the Butz white slave case. This case came up recently in federal court at Portland, Marshal Carter having been summoned there as a witness in it. The jury in the case disagreed.

More evidence is being sought on Coos Bay and also at Eureka in connection with R. Butz and his alleged victim were on Coos Bay a year ago last April and were at a rooming house on Broadway, according to evidence gathered by Marshal Carter.
