Go To Bandon.—Sec. W. N. Ekblad of the Marshfield Gun Club announced today that the Marshfield club will go to Bandon Decoration Day for a big shoot there with the Bandon and Coquille clubs. The trip will be made by auto.

Organize Moose.—C. I. Reigard will leave today for Bandon where Monday night he will institute a Moose lodge. He has been given authority to do this by the grand lodge of the order to straighten out a mix-up that Organizer Moore got them into. It seems that Moore collected the initiation fees but never installed the lodge. Mr. Reigard will be assisted by I. S. Smith and O. O. Lund in instituting the new lodge.

Builds Boat House.—Capt. Edgar Simpson has agreed to build a boat-house for the two boats which were recently sent here for the local divisions of the Naval Militia. The house will be large enough to accommodate both and a section will be provided for other equipment. It will be built at North Bend and brought here. Lieut. Blomberg left today for home, having got things in fairly good shape. All who wish to go on the

Here Years Ago.—S. B. Cathcart of Baker Post, G. A. R., is today arranging to have the graves of the veterans in the local cemetery decorated for Memorial Day. Mr. Cathcart recalled that President Campbell of Oregon University who is to deliver the Memorial Day address here this year delivered the Fourth of July address at a celebration in Empire thirty-three years ago.

Quiet on Suislaw.—Eugene Crosthwait returned yesterday from a business trip to the Suislaw. He says that it now looks as though the Coos Bay line would not touch Florence and Glenada, turning down the coast at Acme, two and a half miles up the river. Most of the mills on the lower Suislaw are running just enough to supply the local trade. There was a big crowd in Florence for the Rhododendron festival.

WANT CURTIS AVE. OPENED

Closing of Mill Slough Hinges on Opening Street to the Waterfront.

At a meeting at the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce last evening, it was decided that it would be impossible to secure the closing of Mill Slough unless arrangements could be made for the opening of Curtis avenue through to the water front. This decision was reached after a rather lengthy discussion of the matter.

President McCormac was requested to take the matter up with C. A. Smith and see if Mr. Smith would consent to donate the right of way for opening Curtis avenue in view of the fact that the closing of Mill Slough would add considerably to the property of the Smith company abutting on Mill Slough. This will be done by wire because it is desired to have the matter finally settled before Anderson Avenue is improved as the closing of Mill Slough, according to present plans, would mean the construction of a big concrete sewer down Anderson avenue.

Mr. Smith is averse to opening Curtis avenue through to the water front because it will reduce the length of the long dock or wharf along the company's waterfront property. He maintains that the improving of the harbor will mean the coming of large vessels here which are too long to dock at any of the present wharves. He is also figuring on vacating the present retail yards of the company as soon as shipping warrants it and converting it into a great dock and warehouse, electric cranes being put in to handle the freight.

Mr. Smith, however, has been anxious to have Bennett avenue opened up as a through east and west thoroughfare and has offered to donate the right of way if the others would do likewise.

Participating in last evening's discussion of the matter were Dr. McCormac, Hugh McLain, J. Albert Matson, C. F. McKnight, A. T. Haines, John D. Goss, Dr. Leslie and others. Dr. Leslie stated that they had secured about eighty signatures of property owners in the vicinity of Mill Slough asking the War Department's consent to closing the waterway.

Relative to the cost of the concrete sewer, Hugh McLain said that recently bids had been secured in another town on one a mile long and the estimate was $71,000. Some thought it would be necessary to put a piling foundation in for the sewer. Mr. McLain thought that if Bennett avenue was opened, it would be better to have the sewer built along it.

C. A. Smith's View

C. A. Smith's position relative to the closing of Mill Slough was outlined in a letter to Dr. Leslie which is as follows:

"Referring to the conversation with your committee a couple of days ago, regarding the closing of Mill Slough, and the changes in streets and alleys, etc., wish to state.

"I am certainly very much pleased that the Chamber of Commerce has taken up the eradication of this menace to health, an eye-sore to the public, and as assured you, I shall be pleased to assist in this undertaking in accordance with your suggestions to the following extent:

"I shall be willing to permit the vacation of Sixth street, between Anderson and Central avenues, the widening of Second streets, between Curtis and Anderson avenue, to the same width as Second street has south of Curtis avenue; also to the widening of Fourth street, between Curtis and Anderson avenue, to the width of this street at Curtis avenue, providing Third street South and Second court South are narrowed to 20 feet, 10 feet to be added to the blocks on each side. The widening of Second street South to be made by taking 10 feet from the block on each side, and the widening of Fourth street to be taken entirely from block eight.

Cinderella will be shown at North Bend tomorrow at the STAR Theater.

"Should it be found desirable, as you suggested over the telephone, to extend the sewer in Anderson avenue through to the Bay, I shall be pleased to permit such an extension through our property, between Broadway and to the Bay, providing this can be done without any cost or serious inconvenience to us. This is, of course, with the understanding that not only the Mill Slough will be closed to the harbor line, but bulk-headed and filled, the whole distance from the Bay to at least Seventh street if practical, and I would favor that it was so filled clear through to Ninth street. This Mill Slough has appeared an eye-sore to me ever since I have been coming in here as I know it has to a great many other people, and I feel that the time has come when this work should be done. It can never be done any cheaper, and the quicker it is done, the better for the city.

"I am satisfied it will mean an increased valuation of the property for blocks on either side; in fact, outside of the deepening of the harbor, I think this is the most important public work today."

AMONG THE SICK

Mrs. Ellen Siglin who has been quite ill is reported somewhat improved today.

F. A. Sacchi who has been ill at his home in South Marshfield for the last few days is reported in a rather critical condition today.

Willis Varney who has charge of the pile-driving work for the Smith Powers company is able to be around again after being confined at Mercy hospital for a few days as a result of an injury to his foot.

Capt. James Carroll who was master of the steamer Pelican on the Coos Bay-San Francisco run about thirty five years ago and who is well known to the older residents of the Bay, died a few days ago in Seattle, aged 78.

ALONG THE WATERFRONT.

The Rustler arrived in today and will sail Monday for Rogue River and Port Orford.

The Omega arrived last evening from San Pedro and is at the Porter mill taking on a cargo.

The Grace Dollar sailed last evening with a cargo of lumber from the Smith mill for San Francisco.

The Tillamook and Anvil from Portland and the Field from San Francisco were reported in at Bandon today.

The tug Gleaner which came in from Gardiner yesterday returned today, taking out a cargo of general merchandise.

GARDINER TO CELEBRATE

Mass Meeting Decides to Have An Old Fashioned Fourth There. (Special to The Times.)

GARDINER, Ore., May 25.—At a mass meeting of citizens this week it was decided to hold a celebration in Gardiner on the Fourth of July. In view of the fact that the present athletic field is somewhat inadequate, owing to a rough surface, it was deemed advisable to expend considerable money in making the necessary improvements. As the field sports and baseball demand a firm and level field, the improvements to be made will give the contestants a chance to show their ability without hindrance.

The following were appointed as a committee on general arrangements: A. F. Smith, Albert Janelle, C. A. Perkins, Lester Myrick, and George Stewart. Fred Assenheimer was appointed to supervise the improvements to be made on the athletic field.

Judging from the interest and enthusiasm already evinced the "Noisy Day" is bound to be a great success, with attractions never before introduced.

WILL USE AUTOS.

To make the old Coos Bay wagon road from Marshfield to Roseburg over which the mail is carried suitable for automobile travel, is the purpose of the Coos county commissioners. The Coos county judge has been making a tour of the roads to inspect and ascertain what is needed. On different sections of the Roseburg roads many improvements have been made, and this summer the county will plank the gaps connecting the improved sections. C. P. Barnard, who carries the mail and operates the stage, will put on autos between Roseburg and Marshfield this summer. Last year the machines could only be used part of the way, but this summer they can cover the entire route, and it is expected that many auto tourists will visit Coos Bay via Roseburg during the summer months.—Roseburg Reylew.
