JULY FOURTH PLANS GIVEN

Good Progress on Arrangements for Big Celebration in Marshfield.

At the Fourth of July meeting at the Chamber of Commerce last evening, further preparations were made for the three days' celebration to be held in Marshfield July 2, 3 and 4. Messrs. Mendel and Rotnor, the finance committee, reported that $1650 had been subscribed but as a number had not been seen, it was decided to continue the canvass further and possibly increase the amount to $2,000. This will enable the offering of many new attractions and of larger purses insuring a larger and better celebration than has ever been held in southwestern Oregon.

There was considerable discussion concerning the different attractions and the apportionment of the funds for the various features. Nothing definite was agreed upon about it.

It was decided that R. O. Graves should be engaged to take charge of the general sports. Mr. Graves has had much experience in all lines of athletics and today he promised to take hold of the sports program and make it the best ever.

Warner V. Ogren and Colby K. Perry were selected to take charge of the decorating in place of E. K. Jones who was unable to serve as he is to leave soon for California to remain some time.

Another meeting will be held Tuesday evening when a program committee will probably be named.

Dr. J. T. McCormac was selected to secure the orator for the occasion. It was suggested that Gov. West be secured.

STREET WORK IS HELD BACK

Southern Pacific Wants Different Grade on Sheridan Avenue, North Bend.

After two hours of desultory discussion over the proposed street improvements, the North Bend council last evening adjourned until the next regular meeting, June 11 without taking any definite action. One reason for the failure to take definite action was a telegram from L. J. Simpson stating that Chief Engineer Hood of the Southern Pacific wanted the grade on Sheridan avenue established the same as it is now at the intersection of Stanton.

Engineer Brigham had favored a raise of four feet in the grade of Sheridan avenue between Stanton and Florida. Mr. Brigham wanted his grade retained because of the better grade it would mean between Sheridan and Sherman avenues.

The council was also of the impression that the making of the change suggested by Chief Engineer Hood to Mr. Simpson meant a change in the proposed location of the depots which was to be on Sheridan near Montana or Florida as understood in North Bend. However, nothing definite was done about it, the council agreeing that it would be better to wait until L. J. Simpson returns next Wednesday.

There is also considerable discussion about the proposed grade of Montana, street, some claiming that the steady grade proposed would mean bad intersections with the cross streets.

There is little complaint about the Sherman avenue project and it is likely this will be adopted so as to improve the street through to the Park.

The chief of police promises an investigation as to why the pool rooms were operating, but police lieutenants in charge of the metropolitan squads said the hundreds of arrests made for gambling resulted in not a single conviction.

The Alliance arrived in late last evening from Eureka after a rather rough trip up the coast. She encountered one of the stiffest north-west gales that have prevailed along the coast in several weeks and was able to make but little headway against it for a while.

DRUG STORE SOLD TODAY

Frank D. Cohan Purchases the Well Known McArthur Pharmacy.

Negotiations were concluded today by which Frank D. Cohan, recently connected with the Lockhart & Parsons Drug Co., purchased the McArthur Pharmacy from E. D. McArthur and assumed immediate charge.

Mr. Cohan is well known as the general drug clerk at "The Busy Corner" where he made many friends who will extend congratulations and wish him every success as a Marshfield pharmacist with nine years' practical experience. For two years he served in the prescription department of Woodard-Clarke, the leading druggists of Portland and for one year was prescription clerk in the Perkins hotel pharmacy in the Rose City. To further equip himself for his chosen profession last year he took a course in pharmacy at the University of Washington. Mr. Cohan's people are prominent in business in Portland and those who know him best expect him to duplicate their commercial success in this, the coming city of Oregon.

The many friends of Mr. E. D. McArthur will be pleased to know that his retirement from the commercial circles of Coos Bay does not mean his removal from this city. He has faith in the future of this section and will continue to make his home here. It is not known what his plans are but it is not unlikely that he may re-enter real estate circles, a business in which he won a notable success on his first arrival and for which he has displayed great natural aptitude.
