

A MESSAGE TO THE PEOPLE

Today—at 7 A. M. the writer took his place as a merchant in Marshfield—in his own store—conducted under his own name—having completed negotiations for the purchase of the McArthur Pharmacy.

The greetings and good wishes of a host of friends are encouraging.

I hope to deserve success. Success will not come unless I deserve it. I shall strive very hard to please you.

The store is small, but at present the only available.

But then you know large oaks from little acorns grow.

One of the dominating features of this store will be courtesy.

Courtesy to my patrons.

Courtesy to the public.

Courtesy to everyone.

Much, yes, nearly everything else is of small consequence where there is courtesy—a smile, a respectful attitude to everyone.

This store will be conducted to serve all the people.

My guarantee to buy back anything at the price I sold it for, is only fair dealing—nothing more.

This principle will form the keystone of my future business.

And as to my capital, I may not have as much money as some of my friends, not nearly as much, but I have sufficient for my business—that is enough.

I am not exclusive agent for anything—this is not an exclusive store.

Phone all your wants to 74-J.

When you want prompt service in case of accident or emergency, call 74-J.

If you need medicine of any kind, call 74-J.

If you want a doctor quickly, phone 74-J.

In fact, if you want anything from my store, call 74-J, and it will be quickly delivered.

My object is to serve you promptly.

All 'phones lead to this store—74-J.

If what you want is not in stock I will be earnest in my endeavor to get it. If I have it, you may buy it safely—under my guarantee.

Now I have told my story briefly—A rather plain, matter of fact tale. This is probably the most I will have to say for many a day.

MY HAT IS IN THE RING—NOW FOR RESULTS.

I will sincerely appreciate the opportunity for meeting any service or other test to which you might subject me.

Many thanks for your attention.

FRANK D. COHAN.

P. S.—To all the friends of my predecessor, Mr. McArthur, I desire to say, I shall strive to merit a continuance of their patronage by earnest and conscientious endeavor to serve faithfully and well as he has. My appeal to prospective patrons is based on my business platform of principles printed above.

Courtesy and Prompt Attention to Your Every Want Always

BORN

ROBINSON—To Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Robinson at their home at West Central Avenue and Eleventh St., Saturday June 1, a daughter. This is their sixth child.

Rebuild Dike—Capt. W. C. Harris of Sumner who has leased the Simpson bucket dredge and is now operating it for himself is using it to rebuild the long dike on Isthmus Inlet near Millington.

Firm Dissolves—M. L. Curry and George Goodrum have dissolved partnership in the auto repair business at Goodrum's garage. Mr. Goodrum expects to have an expert sent here by the Cadillac people soon to take charge of the business.

Improves Place—Charles Lee is beautifying the lawn of his home near Tenth and Kruse in South Marshfield. He is also planning to improve the residence and will have one of the most attractive homes in that section of the city.

Band Concert—Director Fenton of the Marshfield Concert band announced today that the band would give a concert in the city park next Wednesday night if the weather will permit. If the weather is unfavorable, the concert will be given in the Masonic Opera House.

Mass Earlier—Rev. Father Munro announces that mass will be celebrated in North Bend next Sunday at 7:30 and in Marshfield at 8:45. He has received a letter from Archbishop Christie stating that he will visit the Bay in July but he does not give the exact date.

Insects Bother—Residents of Flagstaff report that myriads of caterpillars are threatening to devastate the gardens and fruit trees in that section. Older residents there claim that it has been seven years since the caterpillars were in evidence in unusual numbers before and believe that the little insects are something like the seven-year locusts.

Both Unmarried—Further advises from Gold Beach concerning the double drowning at Chetco river are that the victims were George Sharple and W. W. Hatfield. Both were unmarried. They tried to cross Chetco river near its mouth in a small gasco line boat and when about midway across, the engine failed and allowed them to be carried out into the breakers where they were drowned.

Wins Contest—John Herron received word that United States Land Commissioner at Washington has decided the contest of George Herron and Fred Johnson of North Bend in favor of George Herron. The contest involved about eighty acres of land near the headwaters of South Inlet. Mr. Johnson had filed on it as a homestead and Mr. Herron filed on it as a mineral claim. Mr. Herron claims the property is worth $20,000.

Seven-piece IMPORTED SALAD SETS—Latest thing out—75c and up at the COOS BAY CASH STORE.

"Pittsburgh Perfect" Poultry & Garden Fence

—the best investment the poultryman can make

"Pittsburgh Perfect" Fence is by far the most valuable "poultry insurance" money can buy—and it costs the least. The bars are placed so close together where needed that even the smallest chicks cannot squeeze through, wander away and be lost; nor can dogs, foxes or larger animals break through the heavy fabric and get at the birds. "Pittsburgh Perfect" will remain fully efficient years after any other fencing would have had to be replaced many times.

Open Hearth wire—with the strength, toughness and durability of old-time iron wire—is used exclusively in all "Pittsburgh Perfect" Fences. The wire is thickly coated with pure zinc galvanizing, and resists rust and corrosion for the longest time. At every point of contact the wires are which produces a solid fabric of wire without the useless, strength-destroying weight caused by the old wraps, clamps, twists, etc., used in all other makes of fencing.
