TAFT AND TEDDY AND CLARK ET. AL.

Taft and Teddy and Speaker Clark, Wilson, Harmon and Underwood, They are out on their usual lark Agitating the neighborhood. Each would like, if he only could, Votes to win with some bright remark.

Keeping still would be just as good Taft and Teddy and Speaker Clark.

Champ and Wilson and badger Bob, Harmon, Teddy and the rest, How they long for the White House job

Now by corpulent Bill possessed. If the nation they'd serve best, Let them silence the shout and sob— Give the nation a little rest, Champ and Wilson and badger Bob.

Taft and Teddy and Ted and Taft, Through the nation they rant and roar, Northward, southward and fore and aft

Telling things we have heard before. First it's Teddy who has the floor, Then it's William who drives us daft; Gobs of silence would please us more,

Taft and Teddy and Ted and Taft.

Bob and Teddy and Harmon, too, Wilson, Underwood, Clark and Bill They are only a meagre few

With an eloquent speech to spill, Taft and Teddy, we've had our fill, Put the muffer upon the crew; We will love you if you but will, Taft and Teddy and Harmon, too,

Taft and Teddy and Underwood, Clark and Wilson and Pompadour, Each we'd give it, if but we could, If 'twould silence the awful roar.

How we wish that the thing were o'er, How we wish it were understood!— PEACE is what we are longing for, Taft and Teddy and Underwood.

Taft and Teddy and Speaker Clark, Let us settle the jamboree; Each is only a tiny spark, Each but a candidate is he.

And the nation shall still be free, Safely sailing the stately bark, After all, if the winner be Taft or Teddy or Speaker Clark.

HER POLLY-TICS
 Polly's always talking politics; That's her latest caper. All her views are sweetly culled From the evening paper.

What a lot of things she'd fix If she were in politics.

Polly is a "Roosevelt Man," Loves to talk "Sound Money," "Referendum" and "Recall"— Mercy! It is funny!

"Trusts and things!" SHE'D foil their tricks If she were in politics.

Polly's bought a suffrage hat. Just to match her gloves. Polly wears a Roosevelt belt "That she fairly 'loves."

Polly makes her wardrobe mix Cutely with her politics.

Polly thinks that I'm depraved— Really almost wicked; That the country would be SAVED Should I vote HER ticket.

She can give me fearful licks When she's talking politics.

But I know a little way Neatly to escape her. To the BARGAIN sheet I point— Polly grabs the paper— Then from tea-time until six, Farewell Polly's Polly-tics.

Just a Few Figures About Tobacco

AN editorial on the cigar business the Daily Oklahoma, Oklahoma City, has this to say:

"The more or less foolish habit of smoking has co-operated to build a business which has assumed enormous proportions. There are so many cigars smoked each 24 hours that no one has ever had the courage to compute the exact number or the value."

To any one whose livelihood consists of writing about tobacco and the tobacco business this comment rings out like a challenge, so much so, in fact, that upon reading it our statistical wheel started a-buzzing, and in consequence we have collected a few figures, some of which, though well founded, actually surprise ourselves, and we believe they will prove interesting, if not almost startling, to the readers of The Tobacco Leaf.

The internal revenue from tobacco for one year would build 14 battleships of the first-class; or it would pay the salary of the President of the United States for nearly a thousand years. It would pay the interest on the public debt for three years, and there would be enough left over to add a dollar to the account of every savings bank depositor in the United States.

The money spent by smokers for cigars only, not counting cigarettes, smoking and chewing tobacco and snuff, would more than pay for the building of the Panama Canal, besides taking care of the $50,000,000 paid to the new French Canal Co., and the Republic of Panama for property and franchises. And in addition to this it would cover the cost of fortifying the Canal.

Or it would build a fleet of 35 trans-Atlantic liners, each exactly like the lost Titanic, coal them, provision them and keep them running between New York and Liverpool with a full complement of passengers and crew, almost indefinitely.

There are 21,718,448 cigars burned up in the United States every 24 hours; and 504,935 every hour; and 16,082 every minute; and every second.

The annual per capita consumption of cigars in the United States is 86 cigars.

If all the cigars smoked in the United States in one year were piled together, end to end, they would circle the earth, at its largest circumference, 22 times.

As to the cigarettes, there were 736,190 of them consumed in the United States every day; and every hour; and 16,482 every minute; and 275 smoked-up cigarettes dropped into the ash tray.

Cigarette smokers in the States, not counting those who smoke their own, spend $60,645,966.36 for the paper-covered rolls.

If all the cigarettes smoked in the United States in one year were end to end and stood up they would make a slender string 512,766 miles into the bargain.

If strung on a wire they would make a cable that would reach the earth to the moon and again, with enough left over to one and a half times around the globe.

There are 533,357,206 pounds of tobacco chewed and snuffed in this every year, not counting the manufacturers.

If this quantity of tobacco were placed on one side of a balancing scale it would take the combined weight of four vast armies consisting of 1,000,000 men, to pull down the other scale.

The weight of the tobacco consumed in the United States is equal to the weight of the combined population of Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Tennessee and Alabama.

Women Must Beware of Love of Luxury

Labor Saving Devices Have Caused Destructive Tendency

By Princess HENRIETTE of Belgium, Sister of King Albert

THE GREATEST DANGER TO THE AVERAGE WOMAN OF TODAY LIES IN HER GROWING LOVE OF LUXURY. THIS MAY BE A RESULT OF THE CONDITION OF THE FOLLOWING LABOR SAVING AND OTHER INVENTIONS AND VARIOUS DEVICES WHICH MAKE LIFE EASIER, INSTEAD OF HARDER THAN WAS FORMERLY THE CASE. THIS CONDITION BEING CONSTANTLY INCREASING.

Until a comparatively few years ago hard work by women, in civilized countries, was a NECESSITY. It was FORCED upon whether they liked it or not. They could not escape it had they so, which FORTUNATELY they did not in those times.

In France, for instance, the women are famed for their industry and application, but as the world progresses conditions in this respect, as in many others, have changed, and women who at one time were hard, perforce, can now accomplish as much, if not more, with effort, with the result that more time is afforded for other affairs—a constantly increasing LOVE OF LUXURY and ease have succeeded.

Do not let my meaning be misunderstood. I do not wish to convey the impression that I believe France will follow in the footsteps of the early Roman empire to the extent that decay of the people will result from this growth of a love of luxury and ease.

Such an assumption would be unreasonable and absurd; nevertheless, TO BE FOREWARNED IS TO BE FOREARMED. All nations should guard against even a LEANING in that direction.
