

TEAL'S PLANS OF DEVELOPMENT

Portland Man Talks Here—Plan to Keep Dredge Oregon.

J. N. Teal, of Portland, last night addressed the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce and spoke on three topics, the organization of "The Chamber of Commerce of the United States of America," "The Panama Canal," and "The Rivers and Harbors Congress." He said that the United States has not united its commercial interests in regard to foreign trade as its foreign rivals have, and for that reason cannot compete with foreign nations in trade with South American and other countries. Mr. Teal acted as the representative of several organizations, including the Portland Chamber of Commerce, in the meeting in Washington at which the organization of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States of America was perfected. It is the object of that body to study foreign methods, to develop foreign trade and to work with the Department of Commerce and Labor. Mr. Teal believes that in course of time our trade with other countries will be a very valuable one and thinks that Marshfield should be represented in the National Chamber of Commerce. A. H. Powers moved that a delegate be sent to Washington each year to represent Marshfield in that body and the motion was carried.

On the Panama toll question, Mr. Teal was not in favor of charging a toll on American ships passing from American ports and asked the people of this section to use their influence in preventing a bill providing for such a toll, from passing through Congress. He said that the Panama Canal was of vital importance to the Pacific Coast as it would give us a market for our produce and a toll on freight shipped through it would work great injury as it would cut profits.

Praises Hugh McLain.
He praised Hugh McLain for the able manner in which he represented the Chamber of Commerce at the Rivers and Harbors Congress held in Washington and urged that a delegate be sent from here again next year. He spoke in favor of a jetty on the Coos Bay bar and believed that it could be obtained at the next session of Congress if the Coos Bay people kept working for it.

Keep Dredge Here.
A. H. Powers brought up the question of keeping the dredge Oregon here and said that if $50,000 could be raised by the people he felt sure Congress would make an appropriation at the next session. It was finally decided that the chair should appoint a committee of three to secure contracts for fills to be made by the dredge and that money be raised in this manner to keep the Oregon here. Dr. McCormac named Dr. E. Mings chairman of this committee and postponed the selection of the other two members.

It was also decided that John D. Goss, J. W. Bennett and C. R. Peck constitute a committee to bring about the new election for the Port of Coos Bay as soon as possible, the matter to be taken up at Coquille on July 7. J. W. Bennett made a short talk in which he praised Mr. Teal for the work he had done on behalf of Coos Bay and moved that Mr. Teal be extended a vote of thanks by the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce, a motion which was unanimously carried.

TO LET DECIDE CASE

After a couple of hours' discussion and argument by attorneys last evening, the Marshfield city council decided to grant the liquor license for the Brewery saloon on North Front street to the Coos Bay Liquor company on condition that should Andrew Hekla through the courts be awarded possession of the property, the Coos Bay Liquor company shall transfer the license to Hekla.

Harry Hoy represented Mr. Hekla and J. M. Upton represented the Coos Bay Liquor company. Mr. Hoy contended that Mr. Hekla held the present license and should be granted the renewal, claiming that the liquor ordinance provided for it.

The ordinance limits the number of saloons in Marshfield to 15. C. F. McKnight appeared for the local liquor dealers' association and urged that the council not increase the number.

In the first place, the council took up the 14 other applications and granted them. Mr. Hoy objected to Hekla's application being held up and pitted against the Coos Bay Liquor company's application but the council would not hearken to him.

Mr. Hekla's application for a license was signed by about 300 people.

Mr. Hoy objected to a liquor license being issued to a corporation instead of to an individual.

J. M. Upton said that Mr. Hekla's application for a liquor permit specified a building which was already occupied by another business. He said the Brewery saloon had been in operation for over 30 years, first under Lars Clemmenson, then under Robert Marsden and then under the Coos Bay Liquor company and later under Andrew Hekla as trustee for the Coos Bay Liquor company.

Mr. Hoy intimated that if the council did not grant Mr. Hekla a renewal of his license, they might sue for it. He said that if the renewal was granted, they expected that Mr. Hekla would soon resume control of the Brewery saloon.

Finally Councilmen Copple and Ferguson said that they thought the thing to do was to issue a license to the persons now in control of the Brewery saloon and if the courts should later change this, they would change the license. This was done.

Later in the evening, R. M. Rau, of the Rothchild Liquor company, filed an attachment on the $400 which Mr. Hekla was supposed to have deposited with his application for license. The company claimed that Hekla had been owing them $250 for five years. Whether they will get the money or not remains to be determined.

Albert Sellig, of the Coos Bay Liquor company who was present, said that this action by Rau clearly showed that Hekla had never been in charge of the Coos Bay Liquor company or the company would have long since collected this claim.

BRYAN'S DEFENSE TO TAMMANY

ories and floor overwhelming the volley of protests and hisses that were heard here and there amid the confused uproar. Bryan made his way back to the Nebraska delegation, having thus added another sensation to the convention's proceedings.

Stone Drowned Out.

Senator Stone, of Missouri, took the platform to reply to Bryan, not in complaint or protest, he said, as every man had the right to speak his voice and take the responsibility. The demand for a roll call could not be drowned out by the Senator's voice and the roll call proceeded.

Other Trouble on.

Bryan was soon involved in another heated controversy as the question was raised as to each Nebraska delegate choosing his candidate. Bryan was faintly heard declaring that if New York and Virginia maintained their sovereign rights concerning such delegates as suit them (referring to Belmont and Ryan) Nebraska maintained her right to select her delegates and alternates in her own way.

When Oklahoma was reached 14 delegates of that state demanded the same right to speak that was accorded Bryan to explain. This precipitated another controversy. Bryan appealed for fair play and the Oklahoma delegates were given an opportunity to speak.

Oklahoma finally gave Clark 10 and Wilson 10, making no change in the total.

thought probable. Marshfield will have a chance to boost its percentage up to .500 and still has a chance to land the pennant.

The Eastside boys will have a strong line-up in both games and expect to win in at least one of them. Marshfield also expects to be at the big end of the score and will settle down now and play good ball for the rest of the season. The Marshfield boys have been handicapped by wet grounds and have not been able to practice as much as the other teams in the league.

Games on the Fourth.

For the Fourth a big game has been arranged between Bandon and the Marshfield team for a side bet of $100. In the first game of the season Marshfield beat Bandon out in the ninth and the Bandon boys are out for revenge, believing they can make a clean-up on the local team.

In addition to the side bet of $100 a purse of $100 is hung up for the game.

The North Bend-Eastside game will be called tomorrow at 1:30 and the Marshfield-Eastside game will follow.

AMONG THE SICK

Mrs. B. R. Keller is out again after being confined to her home for about a week on account of illness.

The little daughter of Capt. and Mrs. B. W. Olson is reported quite ill at their home in South Marshfield.

ALONG THE WATERFRONT

The Anvil arrived in at Bandon at 9 a. m. today and sails from there at 3 p. m.

The steamer Hardy sailed from here today with a cargo of lumber from the Smith mill.

L'ENVOI.

Good pictures need no gaudy frame
The pure contents give them their fame.
A picture that we like to see
Is a neat and clean ice creamery;
Where order reigns—a love of grace—
And everything is in its place.
A mart where naught repulsive dwells,
And folks enjoy their wedding bells.

A cultured clerk of civil mien
Marks an attractive, pleasing scene.
The close attention to each call
Will please the buyers—one and all.

To such a place we love to roam,
When buying sweetmeat for our home.

PLAY SUNDAY IN NORTH BEND

Eastside Will Meet Marshfield and North Bend at North Bend.

- ***** GAMES SUNDAY: *****
- North Bend vs. Eastside at North Bend.
- Marshfield vs. Eastside at North Bend.
- Sumner vs. Cooston at Sumner.
- Coquille vs. Myrtle Point at Myrtle Point.
- Bandon vs. Myrtle Point at Myrtle Point.
- *****

The baseball season is about one-fourth over with Coquille and North Bend sharing the honors for first place, having won four out of five games each. Myrtle Point is third, having won from Coquille and Eastside and losing to North Bend and Bandon. Marshfield and Bandon are tied for fourth place and Eastside in the cellar, not having captured a game so far this year. Tomorrow's games can hardly make much change in the team standing for this week, unless Myrtle Point and Eastside both win double-headers, and this is no;

The Great Reason

why I like to buy at this store," remarked one of our customers a few days ago,— "is that I know I am safe here. You have never yet sold me anything that wasn't right, and I guess you'd make good, if the goods didn't."

An expression like that makes us feel as if life was worth living. We'd rather hear one customer say that, than sell a hundred dollars worth of merchandise. And we believe that it is the general feeling among our customers.

We find it pays to handle only "the goods that make good." Wouldn't it pay you to buy only at the store that makes good? We think so; just bear us in mind when you need anything in our line.
