A PIONEER IS HONORED

Summer People Pay a Splendid Tribute to Capt. A. D. Boone.

The people of Sumner having decided that they could spend our natal day to no better purpose than in honor of our oldest living resident, accordingly arranged a picnic at which Capt. A. D. Boone was the honored guest. At 10 a. m. of this perfect summer day his friends and neighbors gathered at his hospitable home near Sumner, which stands embowered in fruitful orchard trees on land which he has redeemed from the wilderness. Here he and his estimable wife have dwelt for many years. Here they have reared their family, and here they will pass their declining years, happy in the esteem and regard of the entire community of which even the latest arrivals regard them as personal friends. At noon the visitors, accompanied by the Captain and his family, repaired to the site of his first farm house, and there under the shade of two mammoth cherry trees which he planted with his own hands in the year 1879, there was spread a bountiful repast consisting of everything good, including lemonade, ice cream and fruit. After dinner and a pleasant visit with their hosts, the visitors departed for their homes each and every one delighted with their visit and wishing the Captain, Mrs. Boone and Harry, many more happy years in their pleasant home on the old farm.

Among those present were: Capt. and Mrs. A. D. Boone, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Barker, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Stock, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Catehng, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Black, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Sanford, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Clinkenbeard, Mr. and Mrs. Judd Mills, Mr. and Mrs. Ren Belleu, Mr. and Mrs. L. Hazelton, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Farrin, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Barker, Jr., Mrs. E. M. Lawhorn, Mrs. E. J. Sherwood, Mrs. Alice Stemmerman, Capt. Harris, R. W. Wilhelm, H. C. Boone, J. D. Dyer, R. V. Wilhelm, J. D. Dyer, Rollin Stock, Elwood Farrin, Don Mills, Oran Hazelton, Jimmy Catching, Isabel Mills, Lorna Harris, Evelyn Catching, Thelma Black, Lois Black, Helen Farrin, Frances Farrin, Evelyn Barker, Le'ah Barker, Lavelle Clinkenbeard, Glade Sanford, Orla Sanford, and Blanche Farrin.

will not return for two or three weeks.

COOS RIVER FLITINGS
W. S. Chandler and wife are entertaining their daughter, Mrs. Helen Chandler-Tremaine of Vancouver, B. C., at their summer home on South Coos River. They expect their other children Irving and Will, and the latter's wife, here from San Francisco shortly. Ben Chandler, their other son, is taking the summer school course at the University of Eugene and will not be able to join them here until late in August.

Mr. and Mrs. Colby K. Perry spent the Fourth at the summer home of Dr. and Mrs. J. T. McCormac on South Coos River. Mrs. McCormac and son, Fred, returned there Friday to remain during the summer season. Dr. McCormac also expects to spend most of his time there during the summer.

J. A. Blatt and wife and daughter and daughter-in-law and children left today for the Blatt ranch on South Coos River where they will spend the next few months. Mr. Blatt expects his son here from eastern Canada in a few weeks to make an extended stay, the latter's wife and children having preceded him here to spend the summer.

J. Albert Matson and family are arranging to move to their summer home, "The Nook," on South Coos River to spend a month or two. S. D. Magnus, Mr. Matson's partner, is expected here soon from San Francisco and his presence here will permit Mr. Matson to remain a few weeks on Coos River and during the balance of the summer he will have to divide his time between town and "The Nook."

Misses Kathleen and Hanna Fitzgald of Marshfield have been spending the week as guests of their aunt, Mrs. Herbert Rogers, on Coos River.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Quist left Friday to enjoy a short outing at the Geo. F. Murch summer home on South Coos River. As soon as George Murch, Jr., is able to leave Mercy hospital, which will be in a few days, he and Mr. and Mrs. Murch will join Mr. and Mrs. Quist there for a short stay.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. McCullom will entertain quite a little house party at their summer home "Rock Lodge" on South Coos River over Sunday. Among their guests will be R. A. Wernich and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Gelsendorfer, Miss Katrina Gelsendorfer, Miss Susie Schropfer, Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Jack Drendal and Mr. Weber.

Miss Evelyn Vineyard of North Bend Heights spent the Fourth with friends on Coos River.

Miss Grace Kruse was hostess to a jolly party of young people at "The Nook" Friday, Mrs. P. M. Wilbur being chaperone. Among those in the party were Misses Grace Kruse, Frances Williams, Eugenia Schilling, Madge Barry and Uma Marsh and strict line of endeavor and not swerve from that line.

But one day she met another man. He was unlike the first. In fact she had never seen one like him.

He thought the same of her. They learned each other quietly, slowly, surely, without the mad rush that had marked the first venture in lovers' land. Cupid was again "on the job" and the arrows flew once more.

This time they stayed—stayed in the heart so long that they grew there. He did not hesitate or wonder if she was the one. He knew her. Again she felt the same thrill at his approach. And the whole love game was just as joyous as the first.

"Ah," thought she, "How wonderful it all is! And I had believed I could never be so happy again! It is a great big world."

(And they lived happy ever after.)

WEDDINGS AND ANNOUNCEMENTS

One of the pretty weddings of the season was solemnized Wednesday morning, July 3, at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Fetter, near Myrtle Point, when their granddaughter, Miss Bronte Sophia Jennings, was united in marriage to Mr. Robert L. Cravat.

The bride entered the living room on the arm of her grand-father, preceded by her sister, Miss Florence Jennings, maid of honor.

Rev. Irwin, of Myrtle Point, read the impressive ring ceremony beneath a shower of flowers.

The bride was effectively gowned in white crepe meteor en-train, with a bertha and skirt drape of shadow lace which were caught with pearl ornaments, the veil being held in place with real orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and brides roses. The only jewelry worn was a rope of pearls, a gift from the groom. Her gown was brought direct from London by her mother.

The maid of honor wore a creation of tan embroidered crepe and carried white carnations.

The groom wore the conventional black. He was attended by Clarence Jennings, a brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony a luncheon was served. The bride's parents were wed in the same house just 22 years ago.

After a short honeymoon in the mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Cravat will return to their home in Portland. Mrs. Cravat is a former resident of Coos county and has many friends on Coos Bay who will unite in wishing the happy couple a long, prosperous and joyous voyage over the matrimonial sea.

Confirmation of the reported marriage of Mr. Roy Bleeker and Miss Edna Stanley, two well known Marshfield young people, was given this week by Mr. Bleeker on the eve of his departure for San Francisco where he and his bride will make their home. The marriage took place at Miss Stanley's home in Portland and it was the young couple's plan to keep it secret for the time being but the news leaked out. They are among the most prominent of the younger set on the Bay and although they deprived their Coos Bay friends of the social pleasures that would have attended an advance announcement of the nuptials, the latter unite in extending best wishes. In this connection, friends who were in attendance with Mr. Bleeker and his bride at the reception for Hugo Quist and his bride are under the impression that Mr. Bleeker received the ring in the cake, the mysterious disappearance of which puzzled many of the guests. He is said to have quietly slipped it in his pocket lest the receiving of it would excite gossip that might lead to the unfolding of the secret plans of himself and the then Miss Stanley.

Hugh Long, a well known Marshfield young man, will leave shortly for a vacation trip to California. Rumor has it that he will bring back a former Marshfield school teacher as his bride although he has not admitted the truth of the report to friends.

CLUBS AND SOCIETIES

The Social Sewing Club will meet with Mrs. Jack Swanson next Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Wm. Perkins of West Marshfield will entertain the Minnie-Wis Club at an all-day session next Thursday.

The regular meeting of the Jolly Dozen club was postponed this week but will meet again Wednesday night July 17 at the home of Mrs. L. Christensen when new officers for the club will be elected.

The B. Y. P. U. will meet next Friday evening, July 12, at the home of Mrs. Daisy Anderson at Bunker Hill. After a business meeting, the young people will enjoy the pleasures of a bon-fire party.

The Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian church was postponed this week on account of the July celebration. It will meet on July 17th at the home of Mrs. M. C. Horton.

The C. W. B. M. was delightfully entertained by Mrs. Isaacs at the home of Mrs. Schibrede last Tuesday afternoon, July 2. The topic for the afternoon was "Mexico". After this was discussed, the guests and members were entertained by a splendid program which was as follows:

Two readings by Miss Getchell of Prineville.
Vocal solo — Miss Williams of North Bend.
Instrumental Solo—Mrs. Glazier.
Vocal Duet—Mrs. Custer and Mrs. Gladmon.

Among those present were Mrs. R. A. Cople, Mrs. C. A. Schibrede, Mrs. Isaacs, Rev. and Mrs. Z. O. Doward, Mrs. J. C. Jones, Mrs. W. A. Reid, Mrs. H. W. Painter, Mrs. Ed Busby, Mrs. Geo. Coleman, Mrs. Mattie Blain, Mrs. C. Gladmon, Mrs. S. D. Harper, Mrs. McClees, Mrs. Woodhall, Mrs. Glazier, Mrs. Tope, Mrs. Whereat, Mrs. F. Gettins, Mrs. Custer and Misses Williams, Getchell, Tope and Isaacs.

DANCES

The success of the social gathering held by the Ko-Keel-Klub in their club rooms last Saturday night was due largely to the efforts of the committee in charge, Leo J. Carey, Fay Jones and Warren Laird.

About eighty-five people were present. The rooms were attractively decorated with a profusion of wild marguerites in large brass jardinières.

Dancing was the principal pleasure of the evening, though the regulation games of the club were freely indulged in. The dancing was held in the Modern Woodmen hall, the music being furnished by Leach's four-piece orchestra.

By no means the least enjoyable feature of the occasion was the supper served shortly after midnight. The supper was prepared by Mrs. Geo. E. Peoples and Mrs. Allan Collier, assisted by Mrs. Walter Cullin and Mrs. D. D. Pierce. Many were the compliments showered upon them in appreciation of the delectable palatable ticklers which made up the feast.—Coquille Sentinel.

U. M. O. DANCE

The U. M. O. Club of North Bend will soon issue invitations for one of the most elaborate dancing parties of the summer season. It will be given at the North Bend Park Pavilion on the evening of July 12. Each member of the club is entitled to invite two guests. The hall will be beautifully decorated, all of the members of the club being expected to assist under the direction of John Olson. The program and arrangement committee consists of Misses Gertrude Mandigo and Laura Kruse, and Mrs. R. A. Wernich. On the reception committee are the young ladies of the club, Misses Elizabeth Heelling, Bernice Hickey, Laura and Thea Kruse, Gertrude Mandigo and Edith Horn. The floor committees consists of Messrs. Denny Hull, Chas. Gauntlett, Dan Kinney, J. G. Mullen and John Olson. The patronesses are Mrs. L. J. Simpson, Mrs. C. M. Byler, Mrs. C. F. McCullom, Mrs. George Gelsendorfer, Mrs. J. G. Horn and Mrs. W. E. Best.

AUTO TRIPS

Dr. and Mrs. Ira B. Bartle of North Bend leave today for a two weeks' vacation trip to Portland, Puget Sound and other northwestern points. Mrs. Bartle will make the trip overland to Portland while Dr. Bartle will take their auto on the Breakwater. During their absence, Dr. Harry Simpson will look after Dr. Bartle's practice.

Henry Kern and family of North Bend have had to postpone their auto trip to Portland and vicinity on account of the unfavorable weather, and roads. They hope to leave next week via Allegany and Scottsburg.

Geo. D. Mandigo today brought home his auto which he and his family were compelled to abandon at Scottsburg a week ago on their return from the Rose Carnival at Portland. He reports the roads are still in bad shape for auto travel.

Dr. and Mrs. E. Mingus, Mr. and Mrs. Ward M. Blake, Miss Edith M. Dunning and Arno Meezen and Miss Meezen constituted a party of autoists who drove to the vicinity of Bridge the Fourth for a picnic. The roads proved very bad and the hard ride detracted considerably from the pleasure of the event.

F. E. Horne and wife who are visiting Mr. Hague's niece, Miss May Tully, of Orpheum Circuit fame, and her mother at Portland, write friends that they will leave there the latter part of next week to auto to Vancouver, B. C., and other northwestern points of interests. They

THE WIRELESS

Kin of the flaming thunderbolt,
Child of the storm-swept sky,
I leap and race through the roads of space

Voice of the Sea am I,
No winding channels guide my flight,
No threads my sinews chain,
For I take my flight on the wings of light,
The Mercury of the main.

Over the crests of the writhing sea,
Under the clouds, low hung,
I flash my way through the spume and spray,
Giving the lightning tongue,
I laugh the while the tempest yields me way.

I scatter the the driving rain,
And the luggard wind lags far behind
The Mercury of the main.

Where the masts of the churning ships point up
To the stars through the silent dark,
I take my quest, North, East, or West
Sped by the spitting spark.
And I scour the waves and I search the land

Till the destined goal I gain,
And hearts that sigh are gladdened by
The Mercury of the main.

When Neptune scourages his sullen waves
With the lash of the tempest's breath,
And the brave ships shake and the Captains quake
And the engines race with death,
'Tis to me they turn in their tortured fear,
And seldom they turn in vain;
For succor flies, to the trumpet cries
The Mercury of the main.

Kin of the flaming thunderbolt,
Child of the storm-swept sky,
I leap and race through the roads of space,

Voice of the sea am I,
For the newer gods of the newer years,
Gods with the Titan's brain,
Have made of fire and their high desire
The Mercury of the main.
—STANLEY QUINN.

ONCE upon a time there was a girl. She was very much like any other girl. That is to say, very early, she had the same girlish dreams of love and marriage that does or does not come to pass in the great human game.

In the tender school days she had the same little flutterings of heart that have come to every daughter of Mother Eve, says an exchange. And his carrying her books home from school was the event of the day. Life held no greater joy.

As she grew a bit older, the "call" love faded in the realms of memory and the flirting days in the latter teens were no unusual circumstances in her life.

Up to this time Cupid had played at shooting, but now he picked out a really sharp missile and hurled it with force. For, being of the average, she was an impressionist.

"Ah," thought she, "I am hard hit. This is my destiny."

Here was the hero of all the old dreams embodied in the flesh-and-blood variety; And he? He, too, felt Cupid's thrust; and there had been other arrow-wounds, though long healed. The love game proceeded in the same natural every day way. Every day she thought how wonderful he was. While he would say to his reflection in the mirror:

"I wonder if she is really the last one?"

Now, to make a long story short, she wasn't the last, nor the only—only. The next had come and he again accepted Cupid's dart.

Oh, yes, it was she who gave him up, which is always the usual way, although the usual way does not report how he made things impossible for her so that, she, in order to retain her self-respect, had to do the dismissing.

Then the young woman wondered what she ought to do. Life seemed a blank. The sun seemed to stop shining. Life held nothing and she thought the spirit of her was dead forever.

She did not smile. Her friends marveled at her disinterest. It seemed tragic to her. In a word, she had put her trust in one man and found he wasn't the one. She wondered how she would live through the years, alone, sad, unloved.

She even caught herself wondering how it would seem to live in a hunnery or to bind one's self to one
