SERMON ON PATRIOTISM.

THE fathers of the United States formulated a system of government that has never been improved on and cannot be essentially Incidental modifications bettered. necessitated by changing conditions that could not be anticipated have been wisely made. Others may be wisely made. The fathers also were animated by a consecrated patriotism that may well be emulated in these days. The spirit of modernism seems to seek to get as far away as possible from the spirit of '76. Something like a prayer of patriotism ought to be in the heart of every man who casts a ballot. The spirit 76 means the exalted ideal of the public good that it meant in the days of Washington. "Our flag means organized. institutional liberty-liberty through law and laws

WILSON-THAT'S ALL.

If Wilson is elected the rooters will be there.

All clad in Princeton colors, orangeblack-so debonair. They'll 'rah 'rah from the bleachers beneath the Cap'tol dome. And rough house all the village cons before, they start for home.

If Wilson picks a cabinet be'll take all college men, He'll change the nomenclature with a single stroke of pen. He'll have no secretary of depart-ment called the state, But he'll have a 'rah 'rah bureau quite inter-cot-leg-inte. The War Department after that will seem almighty odd.

he is a progressive. Another reason is that Mr. Bryan has forced the Democratic party to the band wagon.

All of which is a bit amusing. Not that Wilson will not get to the White House. He probably will.

But his ticket through the gate willnot be stamped progressiveness. It will be stamped "give us a chance." Since the Civil War with but two exceptions, the Republican party has been managing the affairs of this country and all in all they have done the business effectively and well. But it is a fundamental law of nature particularly human nature -to change, and the process is about due in these United States.

To the grandstand it will appear to be a change in principle, but to the bleachers to the real fans who know inside political game it will merely amount to the American people turning over on the left side because they are tired of sleeping on

New Flags Are Required to Have Six Rows of Stars -Eight Each.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 8 Two stars were added to the National flag July 4th, denoting the addition of Arizona and New Mexico to the sisterhood of states. It has been some time since the two territories became states, but under the law the change in the flag could not be made until the Fourth of July, which is the Independence day next following their admission to state

The law governing the subject is contained in the act of Congress ap-proved April 4, 1818. That act provides as follows:

"On the admission of a new starinto the Union, one star shall be added to the union of the flag and such addition shall take effect on the 4th day of July then next succeeding such admission."

This is the first time since 1890 that more than one star has been added at a time. In that year stars were added for the five new states of Idaho, Washington, Montana and North and South Dakota. Since July 4, 1896, the official rrangement of the stars in the blue field of the flag has been such as to permit the addition of more stars without destroying the symetry of the approved design. In none of the acts of Congress relating to the flag has the manner of arranging the stars been prescribed. Before the date named there was a lack of uniformity in the matter. After July 1896, when Utah was admitted to the Union, the 45 stars in the flag were arranged in six rows, the first, third and fifth rows eight stars each, and the second, fourth and sixth rows, seven stars each.
