

BUILDING BOOM IN MARSHFIELD

MANY FINE RESIDENCES NOW UNDERWAY AND OTHERS CONTEMPLATED—SOME OF THE BUILDING ACTIVITIES.

Marshfield is now enjoying one of the most marked building booms it has known in many months. Despite the new residences that have been built, the demand for houses is greater than it has been in several years. While the prospects for railroad activity still seem good, the present building boom cannot be attributed to this. The dredge Oregon has been doing some excellent work on the bay and the harbor is probably in the best condition it has ever been in. The Coos Bay saw mills keep on producing wealth day by day, giving employment to over a thousand men.

The new pulp mill which is being erected by C. A. Smith will put about two hundred more men on the payroll of that concern. The farmers and ranchers keep branching out and enlarging every year. The creameries are producing more butter and cheese than they ever did. There are more fishermen employed and the catches total more than ever before in the history of Coos Bay.

The growth and development is shown partly by the large amount of building in the past few weeks. At present houses are scarce and the number of incoming passengers is almost double of those outward bound.

A list of the buildings just completed or under construction at the present time follows.

H. J. Kimball has completed an addition to his house on the corner of Fourth and Commercial and also made extensive improvements.

Geo. Winchester has practically completed a fine seven room modern bungalow on South Tenth street.

Mrs. Minnie Tower has almost finished her five room bungalow on Curtis avenue.

Hugo Quist's five room bungalow in South Marshfield is under construction.

D. A. Jones and Geo. Cook have almost completed their elegant eight room residences in Ferndale. W. A. Wilson is the contractor for the Jones residence, while C. O. Gosney is doing the contract work for Mr. Cook.

Mrs. F. M. Burroughs has erected a bungalow in the Reynolds' Addition to Marshfield.

M. Stromberg has also completed a small bungalow in the Reynolds' Addition.

Claude Nasburg has under way a fine house on Knob Hill. John Johnson is supervising the construction. The house will have a rustic finish when completed.

The Njerdum Brothers have started construction on their large and modern residences on South Fifth street. Thomas Engolhart received the contract for the concrete work and Wm. Ladd will superintend the construction. The residences will be among the finest on the Bay and will cost between five and seven thousand dollars each.

Ben Ostlund will supervise the construction of Capt. B. W. Olson's $8000 residence on South Fifth street.

Mrs. S. E. Painter is arranging to have a new five-room bungalow built just south of the Wilson Kaufman home. She will occupy it as a home, moving there from her present residence on South Broadway.

City Recorder John W. Butler is having Architect Turpen prepare plans for extensive improvements in his home on Commercial near Eleventh. The residence will be raised and enlarged, a heating plant will be put in and in all the improvements will cost about $1,500.

Fred Haines has completed a beautiful modern nine room house on South Fifth street. P. M. Tulley had the contract for the work.

Geo. Ayres has under construction a modern five room bungalow on South Elrod avenue and will commence work shortly on another which is to be built near-by.

Dennis McCarthy is erecting a ten room modern residence on South Fifth street.

JAY LAWYER ON PROSPECTS

Prominent Spokane Man Says Marshfield's Future Is Assured Certainty Now.

Mr. Jay Lawyer of the Reynolds Development company left this morning on the Breakwater for his home in Spokane. In speaking to The Times representative he was very confident as to the early realization of railroad development here. He said:

"Whoever loses faith in Coos Bay at this stage of its history is going to have occasion very soon to recognize the error of his judgment and to regret his faint heartedness. There is absolutely no reason to doubt that the Southern Pacific railroad will complete its line from Eugene to Marshfield with all practical despatch, and all theories to the contrary are as leaky as an old sieve. A railroad from Eugene to Marshfield is now generally accepted outside practically as an accomplished fact except that time is necessary for its completion. The contract for the entire line has been let and work is under way at various points along the right-of-way, and rail transportation between Marshfield and the rest of the state is certain to be realized in a comparatively short time.

"I have spent a week on Coos Bay in the interest of the Reynolds Development company. As a development of our faith in the greater Marshfield, we have a force of men engaged in clearing and grading streets in First Addition to Marshfield, and this work will be continued as long as the season will permit.

"The work now in progress is part of a comprehensive plan for the development of our property in the southwestern district of Marshfield. We regard the part of the city south and west of the High School building as the coming residence neighborhood of this city, and evidences of a building boom in this section are already visible."

more modern bungalows in North Marshfield.

Bradshaw & Kimball completed their machine shop on North Front street a short time ago and have it open for business.

Lyman Noble has remodeled and modernized his two houses on South Broadway.

D. L. Rood completed a building on South Broadway which he erected for the Coos Bay Mattress and Bedding company.

W. C. Kraig of South Marshfield is remodeling his home there.

H. Harkensee has completed a store and bungalow in South Marshfield.

The concrete foundation for the new school house on Eastside has been completed and the frame work is now under way. Arthur Horton is superintending the work.

Percy Pete is building a five room room bungalow on Eastside.

Elmer Vineyard and M. Steckle are also erecting bungalows on Eastside.

W. S. Chandler is figuring on ten nice bungalows which he contemplates building on Eastside. W. C. Chandler will be the architect.

E. M. Smith of Millington has remodeled his cottage into a fine modern residence.

Leslie McGriff is erecting a bungalow on Eastside.

J. Parker is building a residence at Bay Park.

George E. Cook is erecting a fine home in Ferndale, just above the Lemieux place, which he will occupy as a home.

Capt. B. W. Olson Outlines Plans for Sister Ship of Nann Smith.

Capt. B. W. Olson, of the Nann Smith, who returned yesterday with Mrs. Olson from the first vacation trip he has taken in over four years. He will devote a few days to planning for his new home which is now under way on South Fifth street, after which he will resume command of the Nann Smith for a couple of months when he will leave for Newport News to bring the big new sister ship of the Nann around Cape Horn to Coos Bay.

While in Portland, Capt. Olson was interviewed by the Journal which prints the following story:

"With capacity for handling 2,500,000 feet of lumber, a steamer nearing completion at Newport News, Va., for the C. A. Smith Lumber Co. will be placed in regular service between Coos Bay and San Francisco. She will be the largest vessel ever run out of Coos on a regular schedule. She will operate in conjunction with the Nann Smith and Redondo, the latter having been recently purchased by the Smith Lumber company.

"Capt. B. W. Olson, master of the Nann Smith, who has been spending a two weeks' vacation at Portland, says the new steamer will be ready to start around for this coast in November and she is expected to arrive the latter part of January. Despite the large cargoes she will carry, Captain Olson says she will not draw more than 20 feet of water when loaded.

"It is expected that steamers of a much greater draft will have no difficulty in getting in and out of Coos soon after the new dredge Colonel P. S. Machie has begun to improve the channel over the bar at that point. It was practically for this reason, explains Captain Olson, that the company decided to build a larger steamer for placing in the lumber trade out of Marshfield and North Bend. The Machie is being built by the Seattle Drydock & Construction company under direction of Major Morrow.

Captain Olson leaves for Marshfield today to resume command of the steamer Nann Smith, which takes from five to six cargoes of lumber to San Francisco every month. Every trip she handles on an average of 1,600,000 feet of the product. In 1911 she transported 50,000,000 feet of lumber to San Francisco, a record that never has been duplicated by any other vessel. It is about as large a quantity of fir as the entire fleet of offshore carriers took from Portland during the year.

"Formerly Captain Olson was master of the steamer Alliance when she was operated between Portland and Coos Bay by the California & Oregon Steamship company, and he enjoys an extensive acquaintance here. This is the first time since then that he has come to Portland for anything like an extended stay."

PORTERS GET FRANCHISE.

Florence Grants Railroad Builders Use of Streets
FLORENCE, July 26.—At a special election held yesterday to determine whether or not the city shall close two streets to allow Porter Bros. owners of the sawmill here, to use them, the proposition carried by a vote of 43 to 25. Porter Bros. a short time ago bought the Oregon & California mill and announced that if the city grants them the use of these streets they will greatly enlarge the plant to a capacity of 200,000 to 250,000 feet of lumber each day.

SUNDAY GAME ENDS SCHEDULE

Marshfield and Bandon Contest Sunday Last of First Half of the Season.

Marshfield crosses bats with the Bandonians Sunday in the last league game to be played in the seaside city this year. At present the teams are tied for fourth place but in case Myrtle Point loses to North Bend, which it probably will, the winner of the Bandon game will be tied with the Myrtle boys for third place. North Bend has first place clinched and Coquille couldn't very well lose out for second honors. Eastside will take over a team to Coquille if present arrangements pan out as intended.

The Marshfield team will line up very much the same as in the last game with Coyne on the mound and Thomas on the receiving end. Langworthy is still at first as Landers will not return until next week. The team has been working hard through the week and Capt. McCutcheon believes he has a winning aggregation. If there is any Bandon money in sight, Marshfield backers will probably gobble it up as the team seems to have struck its stride at last.

Pierce, who beat Marshfield on the Fourth in a 12-inning game, will twirl for Bandon. He is a lefty with good control and some nice breaks but if the home boys hit as they did last Sunday, they will have no trouble in finding him.

Eastside hopes to get its team together for one last stand against Coquille.

The North Bend team will have a chance to get revenge on the Myrtle Point bunch for the last two trimmings it received at their hands. A large amount of perfectly good North Bend money was lost on those games and North Bend figures that there will be a chance to win some of it back.

Fishing Better. — Parties from South Coos River report fishing has been better the last few days than it has been in many weeks. They are now catching some good trout with the troll and with the fly.

Gets Old Penny.—Robert Sartin today got hold of an 1859 penny. It is thicker than the later coins and does not seem to be of the same metal, having a much lighter tinge. The markings are also different. A 10-cent boy brought it in and tried to pass it off for a nickel so that he might buy an ice cream cone. It was most passed for a five cent piece on account of its color. The lad got the cone and Mr. Sartin got the penny which possibly has a greater value than one cent.

Is Injured.—Thos. Sturdivant sustained severe injuries in Camp 2 of the Smith-Powers company on Indian Inlet yesterday by being struck by a trip block. He was brought to Mercy hospital. No bones were broken but he was badly lacerated and bruised about the hips. He is a brother of Mrs. Dan Keating of Marshfield.
