

Spreading Out

WE have out-grown our present quarters. The Marshfield branch of the chain of Woolen Mill Stores has shown the greatest development of all and in order to accommodate our rapidly-growing business we must have more room.

We have arranged with A. W. Myers & Co. who now occupy the next room to us, to vacate their present quarters and as soon as this can be accomplished, we will tear down the wall between the two stores, remodel the front, and give Marshfield the best equipped store in southern Oregon.

While our plans are being perfected our CLEARANCE SALE will go on. We wish to go into our new quarters with an absolutely new stock of Men's and Boys' Wear.

In Marshfield about August 10 from a Spokane where he is at present. His arrival has been delayed by the illness of Mrs. Oslund.

School Apportionment.—Oregon State Treasurer Kay has just completed the annual apportionment of the state school funds. The total fund is now $5,491,560.13. This year Coos county receives $159,863.67. Curry county $30,988.42 and Douglas $117,193.67.

Shriners Meet.—The Coos Bay Shriners held a meeting at the office of W. J. Rust last night at which several matters of importance were discussed. No regular meeting date has been arranged as yet and the meeting was adjourned subject to call.

Plan Hunt.—Warren Ogren and wife and Fred and Edmund Larson expect to leave Sunday for Curry county on a hunt. "Skill" has an enviable reputation as a hunter and always brings back his share of the game. Last year he killed five bucks and several bears. Fred and Edmund Larson are also experienced hunters and have a good record. Mrs. Ogren will keep camp for the party.

Poison Oak Bother.—Albert Haines returned yesterday from Camas Valley where he has been working on the survey between Myrtle Point and Rogeburg. He said that some of the boys had very bad cases of poison oak and even had their eyes closed by the poison. All are improving now, however, and they expect to avoid any more trouble from that source in the future.

Runs Auto.—A. H. Powers has finally deligned to run an auto. Although his son, Fred, has had machines for several years, Mr. Powers has stuck to his horses when Fred wasn't around to drive the machine. However, he made his appearance last evening with the auto, Fred being away on a vacation trip. His careful driving excited the admiration of advocates of careful driving although he tooted the auto horn pretty frequently.

Change Librarians.—Miss Ida Adams has resigned as librarian of the Marshfield Public Library, effective August 15. She will return to her old home in Massachusetts. The library committee has elected Miss Elizabeth Topping of Portland to succeed her. Miss Topping is a trained librarian and was recommended to the committee by Miss Cornelia Marvin, secretary of the State Library committee. Miss Topping will be here about the middle of August to assume the position.

Waterfront Road.—It is stated that North Bend is waiting for the dredgings recently pumped in by the Oregon to dry out so that the work can be completed. It was recently reported that there was no funus with which to continue the work but this is not thought to be true. The roadway will probably be completed this summer. F. P. Norton stated today that the county would complete its portion of the waterfront roadway between Marshfield and North Bend this evening.

Killed by Auto.—Chas. Bosstrom, who was a barber and musician and worked at the trade here for several years, was killed during the Elks' carnival at Portland, being run over by an automobile, according to word just received by friends here. Bosstrom was fairly well known on the Bay and was very erratic in many ways. He left here a couple of months ago and it was his intention then to go to some springs or health resort, being in poor health at the time. Little is known about the accident and news of it did not reach here until a short time ago.
