DARROW IS FOUND NOT GUILTY; JURORS EMBRACE NOTED LAWYER

Demonstration by People in Court Room After Verdict Is Announced.

THREE BALLOTS TAKEN BY THE JURORS

But They Were All of the Same Mind When They Retired To Consider.

(By Associated Press to the Coos Bay Times.)

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17.—Clarence Darrow, the noted Chicago lawyer was found not guilty today of a charge of bribery of a jury in the McNamara case.

Judge Hutton began his charge at 8:20 this morning. The instructions were regarded very favorable to the defendant.

On one of the first instructions disposed of in the charge of bribing the juror, the court holding was that there was no evidence to justify the verdict of guilty on that count.

The jury was warned against uncorroborated testimony against accomplices and that of witnesses testifying under the promise of immunity.

The court also instructed that the defendant was not on trial for any of alleged several crimes charged against him except that directly charged in the indictment.

That the evidence of the other alleged crimes could only be considered if the jury believed such crimes formed a part of the general plan or system.

Referring to the testimony of accomplices, Judge Hutton said "if you find no evidence independent of the testimony of accomplices, you must find defendant not guilty."

The admission alleged to have been made to accomplices by the defendant should not be regarded as corroborative.

The testimony of the feigned accomplice however does not require corroboration. This instruction applied especially to Juror Lockwood.

Judge Hutton's instructions to the jury required exactly one hour to read after which the case was submitted to the jury.

Darrow, while the jury deliberated, was placed in custody of his lawyer, Earl Rogers.

Most of the crowd, which had filled the court room to hear the instructions read, remained during the period the jury was out.

Three ballots were taken. Although warned against any demonstration there was a spontaneous outburst of applause when the foreman, M. R. Williams, in response to the court's inquiry stated the jury had found a verdict of not guilty.

There was a rush to the side of the defendant which was stopped by the bailiffs but it was renewed a few minutes later after Judge Hutton had thanked and discharged the jury.

Then ensued a remarkable scene. Darrow approached the jurors still in the box to thank them and two of them, Golding and Dunbar, threw their arms about him and patted his back.

Other jurors reached forward and clasped hands with the attorney. The scene gradually resolved itself into a reception for Darrow and the jurors. Friends of the erstwhile defendant crowded up to congratulate him and shake hands with the jurors while the flash lights of newspaper photographers boomed from every angle of the court room.

Although three ballots were taken the jurors said they were of one mind from the start but voted three times as one of them said "that no undue haste" should be shown.

North Bend Commercial Club Members Attend and Joint Action Taken.

FORT CAMPAIGN IS INAUGURATED Favor Good Roads and Bridging of Bay by Southern Pacific.

Good roads, the Southern Pacific bridge across Coos Bay, and the furthering of a campaign for the joint commission election were the three subjects discussed at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last night.

The meeting was really a joint one of the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce and North Bend Commercial club as there was an officially appointed committee from the North Bend body in attendance as well as a number of others from that city. The resolutions passed were all put on record as the sense of the joint bodies.

The commercial bodies favored Dr. Straw's plan of a road to Charleston Bay, favored the bridging of the Bay by the Southern Pacific if the war department was willing and made arrangements for a campaign in the interests of the port election.

The Port Matter. Dr. J. T. McCormick, president of the Chamber of Commerce set forth the conditions regarding the port election. He explained that Archie Phillips, who had been engaged to go out and post notices had found much opposition to the port in rural districts and he thought that something should be done to educate the people so that they would vote in favor of the port. The posting of election notices, Dr. McCormick said, had been thoroughly done so there would be no trouble about the matter this time. Attorney C. R. Puck suggested that a letter could be written to each voter urging him to vote for the port.

Dr. McCormick explained the sending out of the letters, the paving of Mr. Phillips for his work and other matters would cost some money and that the Chamber of Commerce was not able to bear this expense. He said there should be some means provided for raising the money necessary to carry on the port campaign. He thought about $500 would be needed. John D. Gos said he did not think it would be necessary to send out any speakers out that the voters should simply be educated to come to the polls and vote for the port bill. A. H. Powers said that there certainly should be some work done as the port bill ought to be carried by an overwhelming majority and not simply by a small margin.

When the matter of raising money was taken up Mr. Powers said that he would go on the list for $500. It was finally decided that the committee in each city start out with subscription papers at once and raise $250 in each city or more if it could be secured.

D. C. Green was appointed as chairman for the committee in Marshfield. It was suggested that George Rotner and A. J. Mendel would be good men on the committee if their services could be secured. The matter of choosing a committee to help him was left to Mr. Green.

Dr. Bartle was made chairman for the North Bend committee and he named to assist him Edgar McDaniel and C. H. Brouillard. Subscription papers were prepared for each committee and it was expected that the money could be raised today.

Later in the meeting after other matters had been discussed the port question was brought up again. J. W. Bennett said that he believed that any opposition to the movement which might now exist could be removed if the people were assured that the port commissioner would not vote for any bond issue or expenditure for more than $300,000, the amount for which the people had previously voted without putting the matter to a vote of the people. Mr. Bennett said he was certain these restrictions would remove all objections to the port which now existed.

Peter Loggie of North Bend, who is a candidate for commissioner, made a motion that it be the sense of the two commercial bodies that the men elected on the port commission not vote for an expenditure of more than $300,000 without first submitting the matter to a vote of the people of the district. This motion was carried.

The S. P. Bridge Dr. McCormick explained about the protests which has been filed against the Southern Pacific bridge and said that he thought something should be done to show the feeling of the Chamber of Commerce in the matter. It was stated that the Chamber of Commerce had already gone on record as desiring that the bridge matter be left entirely in the hands of the people.
