W. J. WILSEY IN THE CITY; PROMINENT MAN WITH HIM

Stranger Registering As J. H. Turner of Scotland Looking Over Country.

REPORTED TO BE BIG PERSONAGE Party Come Up Coast In An Automobile, Arriving Last Night.

If you newspaper men will let me alone and not say too much for me while I may dig you up another "lead," said W. J. Wilsey this morning. Mr. Wilsey is from Portland and is the man who was connected with Mr. Sumner and was prominently identified with the Pacific Great Western Railroad when it was promoted by Mr. Sumner and afterward sold to the Southern Pacific. Mr. Wilsey was the man in charge of a large tract of property purchased at North Bend and in which he has been credited with being one of the men who helped to push through the railroad movement for Coos Bay.

Mr. Wilsey arrived in the city last night from Gold Beach in an automobile. He is accompanied by J. H. Turner, who registers from Scotland. It is whispered that Mr. Turner is a distinguished Britisher of prominence and great wealth who has extensive railroad and land interests in this country. Mr. Wilsey has nothing to say about the friends who are with him.

J. P. Eddy, who has been in the city, is the man who was right of way man for Mr. Sumner and who acted in that capacity some months ago. Mr. Eddy was last night at the hotel and met Mr. Wilsey, but what connection the two have Mr. Wilsey would not say. In fact he would not talk at all about his visit but stated that he might have something to say later on. He was asked if he was ever to meet Mr. Eddy, Mr. Wilsey said:

"Ask Eddy." "Where did you come from, Mr. Wilsey?" he was asked. "Got here last night." "How are the roads up the coast from Gold Beach?" "Ask the chauffeur." "Who is the gentleman traveling with you, Mr. Wilsey?" "Look on the register." "Is he a railroad man, too, Mr. Wilsey?" "Ask him."

When pressed a little farther Mr. Wilsey said: "I will buy you newspaper men anything you want to eat so long as you will stay right here and eat it. Why, I have slept with newspaper men in order to keep them away from their office so they could not write stories. You just wait 'till I get ready and perhaps we can give a story for you. Good-bye."

Mr. Wilsey with his companion, Mr. Turner, arrived here last night. They were coming up the coast, presumably from San Francisco in an auto. The machine broke down. Harry McKewen and W. R. Haines were in Curry county in an auto. When the Wilsey machine broke down the Marshfield men offered the use of their machine and the four started back to Marshfield. They got into Marshfield last night. They had some difficulty in the sand and all hands found it necessary to get out and push occasionally, but that they arrived here safely.

Mr. Turner, registering from Scotland, created some little stir as to his identity but those in the party could have nothing to say further than that he was Mr. Turner from Scotland. In fact none of the visitors being here. How long they expected to stay was also uncertain. Mr. Wilsey was asked and said: "I will be here until I get away." It was reported here a month ago that it was expected soon that a bill here would be made by Sir Arden Perks, the noted English engineer who is one of the firm of McKewen, Perks & Co., and the Duke of Portland who has interests in the county and who is one of the most wealthy of the English peers.

Mr. Wilsey was very busy this morning. He was up early and left for the Chandler hotel during the forenoon and has been engaged during the day.

WORK ON LAST DAY OF GRACE

Southern Pacific Does Scraping to Make Good On North Bend Franchise.

Saturday was the last day for the Southern Pacific to start work in North Bend in order to hold the franchise which was granted by the city council of that city. G. A. Perkins was employed to do some work and put in half a day in the neighborhood of the Porter mill doing some scraping. Perkins is a teamster of North Bend. Just what effect this work would have in regard to the franchise North Bend people today were unable to say. However it appears that the half day's work was done on the last day in which the railroad had to start construction work.

North Bend Position. Dr. Bartle, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said today there was current a rumor that the North Bend people intended to vote for only three members—L. J. Simpson, Peter Loggie and J. A. Ward. Dr. Bartle said that as president of the Chamber of Commerce he had intervened quite a number of the leading business men and was in a position to assure that there was no such intention and that the North Bend people would vote for five candidates. The only expression ever publicly made in North Bend was that the people there vote for two in North Bend, two in Marshfield and one outside candidate.

WILL APPEAL TO HAGUE COURT

Panama Bill, According to English Newspapers, Is Not Satisfactory.

(By Associated Press to the Coos Bay Times)

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The Panama Canal bill was characterized today as practically a dishonest repudiation and a direct bargain by newspapers representing the views of all British political parties. Meanwhile no definite procedure by the British government in regard to the bill can be framed for nearly all cabinet ministers and prominent politicians are scattered throughout the European continental watering places or resorts of Great Britain. It is certain that the government will propose a reference of question to the Hague court of arbitration.

Senator Chamberlain Insists State Claims Owed Oregon Be Provided for. AGREEMENT IS AT LAST REACHED

And Both Houses Concur in Adjournment—Oregon Senator Explains Position.

CONGRESS ADJOURNS (By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 26.—Congress adjourned at Taft at 4:10 p. m. signed the general deficiency. (By Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 26.—After repeated conferences of the Senate leaders it was announced that an understanding was reached by which the Senate was to recede from its demand for an immediate payment of contested "State claims" in the general deficiency bill, but providing that the claims will be included in the next general deficiency bill.

All Night Session. Neither the House nor Senate assembled on time and neither mustered a quorum. It was said that only 46 Senators are in the city, lacking two of a quorum. One of these, Heyburn, is reported ill. The first tilt in the Senate was over the reading of journal of Saturday's all night session. La Follette insisted it be read in full. Senator Chamberlain insisted he would not consent to the passage of the general deficiency bill this winter without the inclusion of "State claims." The Senate leaders began a conference just before noon to find a way to bring the session to a speedy end. The general deficiency bill carried about $6,000,000. The government's other creditors, including merchants in many cities who have advanced supplies to the army and navy, would have to wait until December for their pay if the measure held over.

Chamberlain Fight. Senator Chamberlain, of Oregon, abandoned today his filibuster against the adjournment of Congress on the provision that the general deficiency bill carrying "State claims" in which Oregon has an interest shall go over until December. The House, it is believed, will be agreeable to that arrangement. La Follette's filibuster to force a vote on the Penrose resolution was then the only apparent obstacle to adjournment today.

Penrose Resolution. La Follette finally got the Penrose resolution before the Senate and followed its presentation with several amendments. Senator Bailey spoke against it on the grounds of its being unconstitutional. He had advised this Saturday. This brought La Follette's fight for a record vote on an investigation of the Archbold-Penrose-Roosevelt controversy directly before the Senate. The Penrose resolution to extend the inquiry of the Clapp committee investigating campaign funds into correspondence or financial transactions between John D. Archbold, George W. Perkins, Roosevelt and members of Congress, passed the Senate without roll call.

On motion of Senator Warren, the Senate receded from its amendments to the general deficiency bill, thus meeting the demands of the House and removing the last apparent obstacle to adjournment. This action struck from the bill claims of Oregon, Virginia, Maryland, Texas and the provision for one month extra pay for employees at the capitol. Agree on Time. At 3:25 the Senate adjourned and adopted a concurrent resolution to adjourn congress at 4:30 o'clock. It was sent to the House where there was little doubt that it would be speedily agreed upon. Immediately upon passing the resolution the Senate went into executive session. The House lost no time in adopting the resolution adjournment sine die at 4:30 o'clock. Both Houses then marked time for engrossing of the deficiency bill and Taft waited in his room in the capitol to sign it.

Chamberlain Explains. Chamberlain in explaining his assent to the programme said he had been prevailed upon to withdraw his opposition because numerous other more just claims in the bill would remain unpaid if he persisted.

Below Estimate. Chairman Warren of the appropriation committee announced that the appropriations for 1913 amounted to $1,019,143.66 or $7,046,788 less than for 1912 and $21,000,000 below the estimates.
