(By Associated Press to the Coos Bay Times.)

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 10.—The political overthrow in Maine's state election in which the Republicans won back the governorship and three congressmen and a sufficient majority of the Legislature to secure the election of a United States Senator, is more apparent with the additional returns. William T. Haines, the Republican candidate for Governor, won over Fred W. Plaisted, Democrat, by 3,557, with 28 towns mis-

BEVERLY, Sept. 10.—Taft is so greatly pleased today over the Republican victory in Maine that he forgets about the lame ankle and went out to play golf. He was especially cheerful when he learned that the Maine Legislature would be Republican on the joint ballot, assuring his party another vote in the United States Senate. According to friends the results in Maine will serve to keep in line many Republicans wavering toward the Progressives.

ELECTION IN COLORADO.

Expect Large Vote in State's First Primary Today.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 10.—Weather conditions are favorable for a large vote in Colorado's first state-wide primary today. Under the primary election law in this state, each voter is handed both a Democratic and Republican ballot, with instructions to vote straight one or the other, and then return unmarked. This caused some confusion early in the day.

BOULEVARD IS TALKED OVER

Different Phases of Road to Beach Discussed by Council—Other Proceedings.

Mayor Straw's boulevard-to-the-sea plan came up for discussion again at last evening's meeting of the city council, owing to the stipulations in the proposed contract with the Reynolds' Development Company for right of way through its property. A. Y. Meyers of the company and J. D. Goss discussed the matter. Mr. Goss said that he did not exactly favor the idea of eliminating the abutting property from being subject to assessment for at least part of the cost of improving streets along the boulevard in the future, and if it did, he thought provision should be made that when the company platted the adjoining land, a street twenty-five feet wide or so on each side of the boulevard should be dedicated.

Mr. Meyers said that the company could hardly agree to this. He said they were making a big donation to the city now in the gift of the strip two hundred feet wide. Anyway, he said that the only condition imposed on the city was that it plank a sixteen-foot roadway through the middle of the strip within three years. He said that it did not call for the building of a street along each side of the boulevard.

Mr. Goss said that when the adjoining property settled up, the residents would have to have street facilities and then the question of the cost of building the street would come up.

Mayor Straw and Ivy Condron said this was a matter entirely of the future and could be solved at the time it comes up. Mayor Straw said that he thought the thing to be considered now was to get the roadway through to the sea. He said that there was a demand for it and that the people were getting tired of going eleven miles around a dangerous road to get there when one five miles long could be built to serve their purpose. He said it was going to be done soon and that the only question was whether the city was going to start it and get it done, or whether it would have to be taken up through the county officials. He said that the Reynolds Company had offered its right of way free, the Simpson Company had verbally promised it, and that he thought the Southern Oregon Company would grant right of way through its property. He said if the county put the road through, Marshfield and North Bend would have to pay most of the expense, and the city would not have any park or boulevard.

Mr. Cople wanted to know if the city agreed to build two roadways, one on each side of the boulevard, inside of three years, if the Reynolds Company would pay half of the cost. Mr. Meyers said that the company stood on its original proposition and did not want to change. There was also some discussion as to whether the roadway should be planked or built of better material, and what rights the Reynolds Company would retain about the cross streets.

Nothing definite was arrived at, and Mr. Meyers finally said that he would reduce the contract to writing by the date of the next meeting, September 23, and the matter could be gone over then.

Mr. Straw said that the fact that 1500 people went up Coos River to attend the Blue Ridge Tigers picnic and 2000 went to Charleston to attend the Scottish picnic indicated the demand for the road and that

RAILWAY NEWS OF COOS BAY

CONTRACTS FOR SMITH-POWERS LINE TO BE AWARDED WEDNESDAY — OTHER NEWS AND GOSSIP.

It was stated today that the contracts for the Smith Powers Logging road beyond Myrtle Point would probably be let Wednesday. It was planned last week to let the contracts Monday but there was a little delay in getting the final figures and the award will not be made before Wednesday.

J. P. O'Brien, vice president of the Southern Pacific lines in Washington, did not reach here Saturday night or Sunday, as was rumored he might do. No one here, so far as can be ascertained, has had direct information that he was coming. W. F. Miller, who left for Portland Monday, said that he did not have any advises about Mr. O'Brien's coming.

A rumor of a new electric line project to the Bay was afloat here today. It is thought to have originated from a talk by J. C. Kendall and P. A. Sandberg of "what might be done," some one overhearing their conversation, and making it a "sure thing."

The Southern Pacific is advertising in San Francisco papers for 500 laborers, drillers, rockmen, etc., to work on the Eugene-Coos Bay line, offering $2.25 per day and free transportation.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—More disquieting reports of the situation on the Arizona border continued today to reach the War Department. The Mexican rebels were said to be gathering in the vicinity of Cananea and preparing for a long forced march. Forces and supplies were being concentrated. Although every effort is being made to learn the objective point of the most formidable expedition since Orozco's force was scattered, no satisfactory explanation has been found.

Scouts report a force of close to 400 well armed rebels opposite Quitman, New Mexico, while 1,500 more are reported encamped ten miles to the rear.
