Flicker, flicker, little star,
How I wonder who you are,
As you flit across the scene
On the moving picture screen.

Flicker, flicker, little play,
How I wonder what they say.
Wonder what their gestures mean,
On the moving picture screen.

Flicker, flicker, little star,
I'm for you, who'er you are,
For I like the way you walk
And you never, never talk.

POWERS-TALTY NUPTIALS.

Mr. Fred Powers and his bride are expected here soon from their honeymoon trip, having reached Seattle yesterday morning. The Mesaba Ore. published at Hibbing, Minn., gives the following details of the young couple's marriage:

On Wednesday morning at 6 o'clock Miss Eva Talty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Talty of the Mahoning location, and Frederick W. Powers of Marshfield, Oregon, were joined in the holy bonds of wedlock at the Roman Catholic Church of the Blessed Sacrament, Rev. Jas. Hogan reading the nuptial mass. Only a few relatives and other most intimate friends were present at the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Powers left on the early morning train Wednesday for Minneapolis, where they intended to spend several days at the state fair, after which they planned on visiting Mrs. Powers' sister, Miss Violet Talty, who is taking the nurse's training in a Milwaukee hospital. From there they will go west to their future home in Marshfield, Oregon, via the central transcontinental route.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Powers spent their boy and girlhood days here, and both were graduated from the local high school. As a consequence they possess an enviable circle of friends in the city who will wish them never ending happiness through life. Deviating a trifle from the strictly news feature of the event, the young man hereof might add that he has it from some of Mr. and Mrs. Powers' old schoolmates that they feel deeply grieved to think that an opportunity was not given them to give the newlyweds such a farewell as was fitting and becoming members of the "Old Guard" (all of which will probably mean more to the students of Mr. and Mrs. Powers' school days than it will to those who have come to know them since).

The young man hereof and the Ore join most heartily with Mr. and Mrs. Powers' many Hibbing friends in extending congratulations and the best wishes for a long and happy married life.

ENGAGEMENTS.

Friends of Miss Elizabeth Cox and Mr. Charles Lowrey have been apprised of their approaching nuptials. The exact date has not been announced. Miss Cox is an efficient employe of the Marshfield postoffice and Mr. Lowrey is assistant time-keeper at the C. A. Smith mill. Mr. Lowrey is now erecting a home on South Fourth street. Miss Cox is the daughter of James H. Cox of South Marshfield and has spent the most of her life on the Bay. Both the young people have a host of friends who will unite in extending felicitations.

ANNIVERSARY.

Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Stauff entertained at dinner in honor of the third wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Ostlund. Those present were: Honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Ostlund and little daughter, Marie; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Johnson and Elmer Johnson; Mrs. Harvey Griffith and daughter, Evelyn of San Francisco; Mr. Nels Nelson of Templeton; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stauff and little daughters, Margaret and Alice Marion.

IS STUDYING MUSIC.

Mrs. John Preuss of San Diego writes many interesting facts about that part of the country, which seems to be attracting much attention from artists, musicians and literary folks, as well as numerous Coos Bay people, on account of its beautiful scenery and delightful climate.

Friends of Mrs. Preuss will be interested to learn that she is studying at the San Diego Music Institute. She is taking piano and evolution of musical form from George Edwards, an artist and composer, who is attracting much attention on the Pacific Coast; she also is studying esthetics of Dr. Heath-Bowden, formerly professor of esthetics and philosophy at Vassar. The San Diego Union of last Sunday morning contained the following notice: "Dr. Bowden's class in esthetics, at the San Diego Music Institute, met as usual Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock to continue the subject of 'the Comic Consciousness,' and particularly 'The Relation of Comedy to Tragedy in the Drama.' Mrs. Rosa Preuss read an original article on 'The Nature of the Comic in Art,' which formed the basis of an interesting and valuable discussion by the class."

PROGRESS CLUB.

A special meeting of the members of the Progress club was held yesterday afternoon with Mrs. M. C. Maloney, at which time Mrs. J. M. Upton was appointed as delegate to read a paper before the Coquille Educational League. Arrangements were made to give the annual club party at the home of Mrs. J. W. Bennett on the evening of September 30, and the husbands of the ladies will be invited. The first regular meeting of the club will be with the president, Mrs. M. C. Maloney, on October 7, and the subject will be "Travel Day," in charge of Mrs. Sengstacken.

SUMNER SOCIAL A SUCCESS.

The bazaar and social given by the ladies of Sumner last Saturday evening was a success financially and socially, despite the inclement weather. Most of the people of Sumner Valley, accompanied by visiting friends, assembled early at the hall where they enjoyed a pleasant social time while mirth and jollity ruled the hours. Meanwhile the Misses Mabel Mills and Jennie Catching dispersed sweets from the candy booths, Miss Freda Holm attended to the wants of the thirsty at the punch and lemonade stand, while Mrs. Clarence Harris presided at the booths for the sale of fancy articles, ready-made clothing, etc.

Miss Mystic, in the dim recesses of her caverns consulted the planets and revealed the future to the curious, while the grab box in charge of Mrs. W. B. Farrin, was an attraction only rivaled by the guessing contest at the bean jar, where Miss May Selander recorded the various estimates and announced Delmas Dyer winner on a guess of 1194, against 1200 beans, the contents of the jar.

At 10:30 a nice supper was served in the dining hall, consisting of coffee, cake, sandwiches and other delicacies, from which the sum of ten dollars was realized, which amount added to the proceeds of the other features of the entertainment netted the sum of $25.00, which will be presented to the Rev. G. LeRoy Hall in aid of the Colporteur boat. The ladies who contributed food and articles for sale, and those assisting in the preparations for the event were Mrs. O. N. Nelson, Mrs. V. R. Farrin, Mrs. A. D. Boone, Mrs. M. M. Barker, Mrs. H. W. Sanford, Mrs. A. D. Wright, Mrs. Clara Noah, Mrs. Charles Selander, Mrs. J. W. Catching, Mrs. C. Mills, Mrs. Clarence Harris, Mrs. Fred Hansen, Mrs. L. G. Masters, Mrs. Carl Eganoff, Mrs. W. C. Harris, and Misses May Selander and Grace Sanford. Those contributing money were Mrs. M. A. Wilson of Sumner and Mrs. A. H. Stutsman of Marshfield.

PIONEERS PICNIC.

Last Wednesday occurred one of the most unique and enjoyable events that the people of Myrtle Point and surrounding towns have ever witnessed, when the old pioneers of Coos county held a reunion at that place. Marshfield was not so well represented as was expected, Mrs. O. Hanson being the only one attending from this place. In the afternoon, a large picnic dinner was spread in the Dixon grove and no party of young people ever enjoyed a dinner more than did these good old people of Coos. As the evening grew chilly, a roaring bonfire was made and around this the merry-makers gathered to renew acquaintances and to talk over the events, both sad and happy, which had taken place in the days gone by. The large platform was the scene of lively confusion, as, later on, the old gentlemen began to choose their partners for the grand march, which was led by Col. Rosa of Bandon and Mrs. Bender of Myrtle Point, sister of ex-Congressman Hornum. The square dances, old fashioned polka and others were danced during the evening and such dance music as the "Arkansas Traveler," played by one and sometimes two fiddles and one guitar, occasioned shouts of laughter and cheers from the crowds around the platform, both young and middle-aged, who had gathered to witness the "old time dance."

One of the women said, (and she blushed when she said it), that the dance did not break up until after midnight and it was the first time that some of them had danced for 40 years. Quite a few of the pioneer families in and around Myrtle Point were represented.

CRESCENDO CLUB.

The Misses Hage of North Bend were hostesses Wednesday evening to the members of the Crescendo Club, honoring Roy Marion Wheeler of Portland. A pleasant evening of music and games was enjoyed. At "Progressive Peanut" Professor C. A. Davidson captured the prize. A delicious three course luncheon was served by the hostess to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Swearingen, Mr. and Mrs. Hoelling, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Davidson, Miss Marjorie Swearingen, Miss Katherine Swearingen, Mrs. Jennings, Miss Otella Hoelling, Miss Elizabeth Jennings, Miss Amy Jones, Miss Clover Miller, Miss Gertrude Newkirk, Mrs. Newkirk, August Hoelling, Roy Carr, E. R. Fluckiger, and guest of honor, Roy Marion Wheeler.

CHURCH PICNIC.

Members of the Swedish Lutheran church enjoyed an outing on Catching Inlet at the Selander place last Thursday, the launch Alice H. being chartered for the occasion, at which about 75 or 80 were present. After a bounteous picnic dinner, some excellently rendered piano selections were enjoyed and a speech by Rev. Ostlund and songs in which everyone joined. Rev. Ostlund, wife and children returned home Friday morning, the others arriving in town about 7 o'clock Thursday evening.

YOUNG FOLKS' PARTY.

Last Tuesday evening Clifford Downs very pleasantly entertained a few of his friends at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Z. Downs of South Broadway. The evening was happily spent in music, Mr. Baynard contributing very much to the evening's enjoyment with his vocal and instrumental selections. At the close of the evening the
