

MUST FISH IN DEEP WATERS

Bishop Scadding in Sermon on Sunday Tells How People Are Superficial.

Last night in Emmanuel Episcopal church, before a large congregation, Bishop Scadding preached a very striking and inspiring sermon on the subject of superficiality in life. He drew his lesson from the fourth verse of St. Luke's gospel, the fifth chapter: "Launch out into the deep and let down your nets for a draught." He gave a graphic description of the scene on the shore of Lake Gennesaret when Jesus met the fishermen as they were mending their nets, having toiled all the night and caught nothing. Then He gave to them that definite command which they obeyed so implicitly. "Launch out into the deep." He would have them make a bold venture out into the deep waters where the fish were likely to be using what nets they had. There was no use padding along the shores wasting all their time and efforts in the shallow waters, more careful of their nets than of the supreme opportunity which they were letting pass by of catching fish in the deep waters. "Just so is our life," said the Bishop. "We go along through life, paddling along the shore, touching things here and there on the surface, doing nothing deep and definite, merely playing with the great possibilities and opportunities of life which are opened up to us, but we leave to launch out into the deep to get them. How superficial we are, and how we consume our time in bothering with the nets and all the fish are going by and we are catching nothing. The true fisherman's object in life is not to have a beautiful and perfect net, but such a net as he needs to catch fish. It is for us to make a bold and definite venture with what net God has given us. We have seen men and women who seemed always to be preparing for something, but they never seemed to get down to the real things, never accomplishing anything because they spent all their time paddling along the shore in the shallow waters more concerned with the nets of preparation than with the accomplishment of their tasks which called them to launch out into the deep waters."

The Bishop went on to describe some of the ways in which this superficiality of life is shown, for example in our reading of the Bible we are content with one or two verses of these great and eternal lessons and truths which God has shown us, but do we ever go out into the depths and make a searching examination of these great messages which have come to us from the heart of a loving Father? If a messenger were to come into this church tonight with an epistle from one of the great ideas of the New Testament, what would you think of me if I scanned over two or three lines of it, and threw the others aside as unimportant? And yet that is what we do with all these beautiful and eternal truths through which God is speaking to our souls."

In Church Work.
The Bishop showed how this superficiality is manifested in the work of the church, in the narrow, confined and selfish views that we have of God's great work here for men, which can only be done through and by men. "Shall we keep on thinking," he said, "of just how little we can give of our means and of ourselves towards this great work, not only here in our parish and in the diocese of Oregon, but all over the world? Shall we not rather launch out in the deep and venture great things for God, taking a larger view of our Church life and leave the results in God's hands? Much of the policy of the church of God has to be changed. Instead of looking chiefly after the few who have become churchmen, our chief efforts will be to launch out into the deep. We must do something more than distribute alms. We must strive to lay bare the causes of distress and uproot the sources of pauperism. Our object must be not merely to relieve suffering, but to produce mainly, prosperous and self-dependant men and good women. The church must cease superficial charity and launch out into the deep. She must begin to ask questions and make inquiries as to what are the causes of all this misery be removed? She must turn towards the solution of the social problems of the day. It is time to leave off mending the nets and go boldly out into the deep waters where humanity's true and troubles are waiting to be relieved."

Much Done in Oregon.
The Bishop spoke of how the Diocese of Oregon had within the past few years launched out into the deep and made ventures of faith, and how the larger vision had been

The United States Civil Service Commission announces that women will be admitted to the Postoffice examination to be held at Marshfield, Oregon, October 12. rewarded with richer and deeper results everywhere, especially in the missionary work of the Diocese and in the splendid work accomplished at the Good Samaritan Hospital and St. Helen's Hall, the Diocesan School for Girls. The Bishop closed with a strong appeal to every one to give earnest, loyal and sympathetic support to the rector and vestrymen of Emmanuel Parish in furtherance of the ideals for a true parish life, where all are working together loyally and lovingly for the building up of God's kingdom of righteousness. He pictured a new and beautiful church of some permanent material, with its reverent services, its devout worship, a church that would not only be an inspiration to every churchman, but also an honor and credit to every citizen of the town.

Bishop Scadding will leave in a day or two to visit the Episcopal church at Gardiner, and from there will go on to Portland.

Funeral Sunday—The funeral of Frank Harmon, the Kootenai Inlet lad who was drowned Friday was held Sunday at the home, the Rev. A. S. Hisey of North Bend officiating. There was a large attendance and interment was on the home place.

NIGHT SCHOOL.
The night school for commercial students will open October 7th when the local High School Commercial Department will open a four months' course in Shorthand, Typewriting, Commercial law or Bookkeeping. Classes will meet three times a week from 7:15 to 9:15 or at the convenience of the students. These courses will be very intensive and thorough. The latest methods and text books will be used. The department is well equipped with latest model L. C. Smith typewriters—a recent exchange of all old machines having been made. While the course is in no sense a substitute for the day school, it ought to prove a valuable one for the young business people of the city who find it impossible to attend the day sessions. The work will not be undertaken for fewer than ten pupils. A tuition fee of $20 will be charged to defray expenses, payable upon registration. Mr. W. E. Morris, regular commercial teacher in the High School, will conduct the course. Application blanks will be sent upon request. Persons interested may consult Mr. Morris or Mr. Tiedgen.

CARD OF THANKS.
To the many friends who by kindly and sympathetic words and especially to the Masonic lodge for their good offices lightened the burden of our bereavement in the death of our father and brother, J. W. Bonebrake, we extend our heartfelt thanks.
MR. and MRS. G. A. BONEBRAKE

MARSHFIELD WINS GAME

Defeats the Biltmore Forestry School Students in Football Sunday Afternoon.

The football game Sunday at Marshfield between the Biltmore forestry school team and a team made up of Marshfield players resulted in a victory for the home boys. The score was 6 to 0. There was quite a large attendance.
In the first quarter Marshfield kicked to Biltmore. Marshfield was on the off side and was penalized five yards. Marshfield kicked off again and downed the ball on the thirty yard line. Then there was a series of plays through the Biltmore's left tackle for considerable gains. The play was mostly in Marshfield's territory and at the end of the quarter the ball was on Marshfield's thirty yard line.
In the second quarter Marshfield held for downs and confined the ball in their territory by end runs. Breen of Biltmore tried for a place kick but failed. In this quarter Stutsman was put out and was replaced by Flanagan but was able to get back in the game in the fourth quarter.
The third quarter opened with Biltmore kicking to Marshfield, Lander receiving the kick and carrying the ball to the center field. Breen during this quarter made a punt from center that crossed the goal line. Biltmore claimed a touchdown but Breen fell behind the line and it was called a touchback and the ball was given to Marshfield on the twenty-five yard line. The quarter ended with the ball on Biltmore's twenty-yard line.
In the fourth quarter Biltmore had the ball and tried end runs but failed to make the yardage so kicked out of danger. Marshfield recovered the ball and kept Biltmore's goal in danger. Biltmore attempted to punt but failed to kick over twenty yards as required by last year's rules. Marshfield held Biltmore to the rules and called a down. Another attempt to kick by Biltmore was blocked by Kruger. Elrod fell on the ball on the off side giving Marshfield the ball on the fifteen yard line. Flanagan made a run around right end for a touchdown and Rasmussen kicked goal. This was but twenty seconds before the close of the quarter, making the score 6 to 0 in favor of Marshfield at the end of the game.
Marshfield played straight foot ball and did not use any of the trick plays. The Biltmore boys made a good showing and the team has some excellent players.

GRANDMOTHERS USED SAGE TEA
To Darken the Hair and Restore Grey and Faded Hair to Its Natural Color.
It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made a "sage tea," and their dark, glossy long hair after middle life was due to this fact. Our mothers have grey hairs before they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair and are fast following suit.
The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready-to-use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. As a scalp tonic and color restorer this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers.
The growth and beauty of the hair depends on a healthy condition of the scalp. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy quickly kills the dandruff germs which rob the hair of its life, color and lustre, makes the scalp clean and healthy, gives the hair strength, color and beauty and makes it grow.
