He started back for Portland, "empty" but whether he picked up the second party and was shot by them or robbed, or whether he was halted on the return trip from the first ride and his car boarded by robbers is a mystery. He was shot back of the left ear, his blood and brains spattering the front seats, and the steering gear, and his body thrown out the side of the road. Barr was a member of a well known and wealthy pioneer family.

AMERICAN TROOPS MUST KEEP AWAY

Federal General Says Their Coming Will Only Make Revolution Worse.

(By Associated Press to the Coos Bay Times.)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The rebels who were driven out of Ojinaga when the federals retook the place Sunday have evacuated San Francisco, a suburb, which they still held, and are fleeing up the Rio Grande, according to reports from General Steever to the War Department. The federal cavalry is pursuing the rebels.

Will Be Shot.

(By Associated Press to the Coos Bay Times.)
DOUGLAS, Arizona, Sept. 17.—The Mexican federal officer responsible for holding back reinforcements for El Tigre, while the rebels were attacking the town, will be shot for cowardice, says General Sanjines, commander of the federal forces in Sonora. Federal reinforcements arrived within 10 miles of town nine hours before the town was captured and were held there. The intended reinforcement arrived while the fighting was in progress, swung off in a different direction and went into the camp within the sound of the firing.

Must Stay Out.

(By Associated Press to the Coos Bay Times.)
DOUGLAS, Sept. 17.—If the Mexican government permits American troops across the international line to protect Americans in Mexico, the revolution will be more serious than it is at present, as a result. This opinion is expressed by General Sanjines, commanding the federalists in Sonora, who spent several hours in Douglas today. Such an act would be bitterly resented by the great masses of the Mexican people, and he said there would be no safety in Mexico for either those permitting such an extreme move or for Americans.

"We have the Sonora situation well in hand," said the general, "and hope within a very short time to be able to guarantee perfect safety to all Americans desiring to return. Until that time we do not want to return. I don't believe Americans remaining in the places that have federal troops are in any danger as there are few if any remaining exposed places." Sanjines said that while the capture of General Orozco was important, it might have no effect on the revolution, because most of the rebels are not fighting for a cause, except the socialist element. "The others," said General Sanjines, "are fighting without a flag and are merely bandits. Salazar is a socialist leader, but Rojas is just a brigand and I do not think that they will join forces."
