GOOD EVENING.

He that is choice of his time will also be choice of his company and choice of his actions. —Jeremy Taylor.

AN IDEA FACTORY.

THEY ARE more than mere manufacturers of lumber, lath and shingles at that big mill and plant of the C. A. Smith company across the bay. The output of ideas is large. In fact one of the plant's greatest assets is ideas. Anyone can manufacture lumber, but to manufacture and market it in a manner that makes the producer an economic factor in the commerce of the world requires genius.

The Times is a bit proud of the fact that in its announcement of the scientific and systematic operation of the C. A. Smith mill it stated that it would make Coos Bay the Mecca of the lumber men of America. This has already proven true. Scarcely a week passes without one or more men prominent in the lumber industry of the country making a journey to this modern marvel in lumber production to secure ideas in either manufacture or mill building. And none go away empty headed. There are ideas sufficient to supply the world at the Smith plant.

During the present week the mill is being visited by Mr. Wilkinson of Minneapolis, one of America's greatest builders of sawmills. His firm in Minneapolis has probably built more sawmills than any other in America. He is here at present in the interest of the St. Paul & Tacoma Lumber company, who are about to build a large new mill in Tacoma, and will probably incorporate some of the innovations found here.

C. A. Smith is chief of the idea department. He is one of those rare combinations in the accomplishment of the world's work—a dreamer and a doer. He has the vision of a poet and the power of achievement of a practical man of affairs. Whether it be a new lumber schooner like the Nann Smith that revolutionizes the ocean carrying lumber trade of the world or the utilization of waste power or products that will add to the world's wealth, C. A. Smith has ideas that create new conditions in industrial affairs. He is ably assisted in this great work by one of the most capable and competent of lieutenants, Arno Mercon stands beside the chief of the idea factory not only with ideas of his own but with a positive genius for detail and perfecting and applying practically the ideas of the chief. On every side at the C. A. Smith mill are the evidences of these two men, really great in achievement of new conditions in lumber manufacture. From the band saw to the sorting shed, from the smallest machine to the unit system of handling the finished product, from mill work to boat building new ideas are dominant and controlling factors in the Smith mill.

Living in such an environment it is to be expected all the principal heads of departments are idea possessors. Next to the two chiefs probably the most important contributor to the idea output is A. E. Gagnon, master mechanic. In addition to working out to mechanical perfection the ideas of his chiefs, Mr. Gagnon has patented a number of lumber working machines of his own and deserves the tribute of mention in passing.

The greatest output of the C. A. Smith mill is ideas.

BIG SHIPMENT OF TOBACCO

MECKS & GRAEF RECEIVE TON AND A HALF DIRECT FROM EASTERN GROWERS FOR THE MARSHFIELD CIGAR FACTORY

The Meeks & Graef Cigar Factory yesterday received a shipment of a ton and a half of tobacco, probably the largest consignment of tobacco ever received in a town the size of Marshfield. The tobacco was brought direct from the growers and was shipped here from Dayton, Ohio.

It is all select filler, Meeks & Graef having given orders of the high grade and quality they desired. In buying in large quantities they are able to secure more uniform tobacco, making their brands of cigars run the same.

Since they engaged in the manufacture of cigars here, their business has grown rapidly, a decided preference being shown by Coos county smokers to the home product, especially when they can "get the goods" at the same or lower prices than are charged for cigars made elsewhere.

M'KNIGHT WILL NOT SERVE

Says He Must Decline Presidency of Local Chamber of Commerce.

There is considerable discussion over the election of a new president of the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. J. T. McCormac which becomes effective October 1. The election will probably be held the coming week.

C. F. McKnight, vice-president of the organization for the past year, has been urged by many to accept the presidency but he announced today that he could not. In discussing the matter, he said:

"I appreciate the honor greatly but it's absolutely impossible for me to serve. In the first place, I haven't the time to devote to the Chamber of Commerce that I feel should be given to it."

"In the second place, I am attorney for the Southern Pacific railroad here and I do not feel that I could conscientiously serve both as attorney for the railroad company and as head of the Chamber of Commerce. I do not believe that anyone connected with the big corporations that are from time to time asking favors or concessions of a community should be the head of the commercial body of that community. Very often it is necessary for the commercial body like the Chamber of Commerce to take action on these requests from the public service corporations and it would be difficult for a man representing the corporation, no matter how conscientious or careful he might be, to act unbiased."

"However I want to see the Chamber of Commerce continue the excellent work it has been accomplishing and will continue as I have in the past to aid with my subscription and in every way that my services can."

Besides Mr. McKnight a number are being talked of for the place. A. T. Haines, I. S. Smith, D. C. Greene, George Rotnor, A. J. Mendel and others who have been active in the work have been suggested for the place.

COQUILLE ENTERTAINMENT.

Professor J. N. Beggs returned this morning from Coquille, with his graduating class and reports a most delightful visit to that city. Last evening the class gave an exhibition to a very enthusiastic and appreciative audience. They were given a royal welcome and were charmingly entertained at the different homes over night. Those going are as follows: Mrs. H. Sengstacken and daughter Doris, Mrs. H. McLain and daughter Jane, Mrs. Macgenn and daughter Isabel, Mrs. McMullen and daughter Charlotte, the Misses Evelyn, Florence, Helen, Bess and Alice Flanagan, Mrs. Metlin and daughter Mary, Miss Dorothy Byler, Miss Edna Hawkman, Mrs. R. Stump and daughter Katherine, Mrs. Oulmeite and daughter Irene, Pasquin Bradford, and Professor J. N. Beggs.

Miss Wanda Stephens, the well known needleworker, desires to announce to the ladies of Marshfield that she will resume sewing October 1. There will be a slight advance to $3.00 per day for her services. A telephone will be installed for the convenience of her patrons, announcement of which will be made later.

FUNERAL O. S. SIGLIN.

Held at Baptist Church and is Largely Attended.

The funeral of Mrs. Ellen Siglin was held Friday afternoon from the Baptist church in this city. There was a large attendance of friends, among which were many of the old residents of the city. The services were conducted by Rev. G. LeRoy Hall who made a brief address. In the course of his remarks he referred to the fact that Mrs. Siglin always made it a point to decorate with flowers the altar of the Baptist church and that when the altar was not decorated for the Sunday services the church members were sure that Mrs. Siglin was ill, so regular and faithful was she to the church in this respect. The music was by the choir of the Baptist church. The selections at the church were "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Abide with Me." At the grave the choir sang "Rock of Ages."

The burial was at the Odd Fellows cemetery.

The active pall-bearers were attorneys who had been associated with General Siglin in the practice years ago. They were C. F. McKnight, C. A. Schilbrede, Tom Hall, Judge Hall, J. M. Upton, and J. W. Bennett. The honorary pall bearers were J. L. Lightner, Capt. A. Matson and A. D. Wolcott.

$1.00 in a Safety Box Is Not Worth a Cent
$1.00 in Real Estate Is Worth $3.00

This statement is made editorially in the San Francisco Examiner. It continues: "The only thing the man who is hoarding his dollar in a safety box needs to consider is whether San Francisco will double in TEN OR FIFTEEN YEARS." Marshfield will double her population in ten years. Even the most conservative will tell you that. She will do more. Real estate will at least quadruple in value. Consider what the property here given will then be worth. We have it for sale:

- Business lot on Second Ave., now $10,000; will be worth.....$40,000
 - 75 feet on Broadway, now $8,500; will be worth.....$34,000
 - 100x100 Sixth and Bennett, now $2,500; will be worth.....$10,000
 - 70x100 corner 14th and Commercial, now $1,800; will be worth.....$7,200
 - Lot corner 13th and Commercial, now $675; will be worth.....$2,700
