

Looking Backward

How many times have you thought of the days when you had the opportunity to buy Marshfield real estate at a few dollars per lot.

How many times have you regretted your foolishness in not placing yourself in the class of your foresighted neighbor whose property at that time bought for little is now worth thousands and growing still more valuable.

Get in his class. Invest every dollar you can spare in Marshfield real estate; it's all good and will make you money.

Place your savings where they will bring the greatest returns. Invest in that section of the city where the improvements are being made, where the many new homes are being built, where you can get the most value for the least amount of money.

Call at our office for a plat of First Addition to Marshfield. See the property, compare it with any other section of the city and your judgment will show you that for home site or investment it is unequalled.

First Addition is located right. On the "South Side," where 90 per cent of the new homes are situated. Just a short way south of the High School along the boulevard extension of South Fifth street.

The property is high and slightly; the lots level and attractive. Streets are being graded, new homes under construction and sites being cleared for others.

These attractive homesites, each 50x120, are selling rapidly at but $300 each. We will make the terms to suit you.

High School Notes

THE RETURN.

I gotta go to school again
An' learn a lot of stuff,
I think it's kinder tough;
An' yet—in school there's lot of fun
An' after playin like I been
An' mischief, too, I guess.
It ain't so bad that school's begun
'Cause we kin play—recess.

I'm playin' better pullaway
Than I could used to do,
An' if the fellers catch me—say,
They got to hustle, too!
An' when it comes wrastlin', well,
I throws Jim Blake each try;
An' Jim he wrastles somethin' swell,
Fer he's a husky guy.

Then there's a girl acrost the aisle
That I like pretty fine
(Don't tell the kids—they'd laugh an' smile)

Her name is Caroline.
An' maybe I will jump a grade
Gee, I'll be happy then;
School ain't the worst place ever made—
I'm glad I'm back again!
—Berton Braley.

GENERAL HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Wilda Harris of Sumner is a newly registered pupil in the freshman class.
Leo McLain, Joan Fitzgerald and Mae Blake entered High School this week.

The teachers of the two schools are spending the day at the beach.

History.

The Senior class in American history is now studying the colonizing period, in which particular attention is being paid to conditions which necessitated colonization, conditions existing in the newly formed colonies and the classes of persons and laws which were formulated for their government.

The Junior class had been doing some outside work, the reading of a work on the period being conducted during the class period. The class work will begin in earnest the coming week.

The class in medieval history has been working on the rise of the papal power, following the fall of the Roman empire and at present are studying the reign of Charlemagne.

The class in ancient history is getting into the mysteries of Egypt and will no doubt soon be reading or attempting to read the hieroglyphics of the ancient Egyptians.

Athletics.

Football prospects are growing brighter from day to day, and new men are appearing each practice. The greatest drawback is the scarcity of suits for the men. Stuisman, Leocq and Walters are expected next week and then the team will begin to take some permanent form.

Commercial and Public Speaking.

The Commercial department has reached the limit in its accommodations for students in stenography. In fact, they can't find room for the customary "one more." The courses seem to be very popular and those taking them appear to mean business, as their interest in the work is indicative of fine results before the year is over.

The public speaking department will entertain the High School literary society with a program next Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the High School building. It will be the first meeting of the year of the society. To arouse interest and enthusiasm a debate will be indulged in on the subject: "Resolved, that a round roost is more conducive to the comfort and happiness of a chicken than a square roost." Mr. Walter Jensen and Miss Flanagan will uphold the affirmative, while Messrs. Reigard and Ches. Isaacson will endeavor to prove that a chicken would be "delighted" to sit on a square roost. Should anyone miss a few hens from their coops next Thursday night they should realize that a few were needed to demonstrate the proper idea.

There will be several musical numbers and a declamation by members of the class. After the program the officers for the ensuing year will be elected. It will be remembered that each student must answer roll call with a quotation from Longfellow.

Science Department.

At the beginning of this week the work in the Science Department was taken up with great interest and enthusiasm by the several classes. With the present equipment and the additional apparatus and materials which are being ordered, the laboratory will offer the same opportunities found in the average secondary school for performing the experiments in High School Physics and Chemistry courses. In this way the students will gain an impetus in their science work which would enable them to enter into college scientific work intelligently. Note books will be kept which the students may present for entrance requirements to different universities.

English Department.

The Seniors are studying Colonial literature giving special attention to the autobiography of Benjamin Franklin and to the political writers, Jefferson, Madison, Patrick Henry, Thomas Paine, George Washington and Alexander Hamilton.

The Juniors are studying translations from Anglo Saxon poetry and prose and writings of the 11th, 12th and 13th centuries, studying particularly the history of the Norman Conquest and the life of Alfred the Great.

The Sophomores are studying rhetorical principles and have written themes to illustrate different points of view.

The Freshmen are studying methods of starting a story. Next week they take up the study of Irving's Sketch Book.

FIRST GRADE.

Two new pupils, George and Floyd Scott entered school this week.

Louise Conner and Edith Anderson were absent Friday afternoon. Thursday afternoon the grade went for an excursion into the woods to gather flowers.

SECOND GRADE.

Tharald Conner was absent on Monday.

The pupils this week painted the apple and other fall fruits.

Some of Robert Louis Stevenson's poems were studied this week and "The Swing Song" was committed to memory.

Fifth Grade.

Evelyn Marasoul entered the Fifth grade Monday.

Handwork was begun this week in this grade.

Sixth and Seventh.

The boys of the Sixth and Seventh grades are using the south
