FLORENCE HAS LIGHTS.

ew Electric System Adds to the Attraction of Place.

FLORENCE, Ore., Sept. 28—With a railroad construction work to its place and the consequent stir that has come over the Salslaw country, Florence is making any steps toward building a city. A few days ago for the first time the people of Florence had the satisfaction of seeing the electric lights burning in nearly every part of the city. There are now 18 electric lights in different parts of the town, lighting at practically every street crossing. The electric plant is a great advantage to Florence and gives it quite a civilized appearance.

The additional teacher will make 17 teachers on the teaching staff, which makes quite a showing for our public schools.—Bandon Recorder.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

For several reasons, the Sperry Flour Co., U. S. A., has seen fit and deemed it to their best interests and the best interests of their patrons in the district of Marshfield, embracing Bandon, Coquille, Myrtle Point and towns tributary to the above mentioned places, to discontinue the company's agency with Mr. F. S. Dow and establish a branch office for this district in Marshfield, handling their own account and doing business direct with the dealers.

The company has established its main office for the district at No. 178 South Broadway, Marshfield, and a storeroom and warehouse in the Alliance and Redondo warehouse building, where will be kept a complete line of bakers' and family flour, grain, mill feed, poultry foods and bulk and package cereals, from which place we are prepared to give you prompt deliveries at all times.

The watchword of the Sperry Flour Co. is "Quality Products at the Right Price," and our aim is to satisfy the dealer and consumer alike, and every article manufactured by this company and put on the market is sold under an absolute "money back" guarantee with very seldom a package or sack returned by a consumer.

The Sperry Flour Co. is known all over the Pacific Coast to handle nothing but goods of the highest quality and their prices are always consistent with the class of their goods.

Every mill in the Sperry system is superintended by a graduate in modern scientific milling and each product manufactured is the result of years of study and experience.

We are now ready to handle our accounts, not through any wholesale commission house, but direct from the mills.

The Sperry Flour Co. owns and operates eleven of the best and most modern equipped mills in the United States and have been in the milling business on the Pacific Coast for sixty years.

We will be glad at any time to have any one who is interested in high quality products, visit our office and store rooms and will take pleasure in explaining the many processes and methods of manufacture of our different products and show you why and how they are the best. Our telephone number is 99-J, call us up.
