LET US TALK IT OVER

For amendment authorizing bonds . . . 19
Against amendment authorizing bonds . . . 225
For amendment applying state election laws to city elections . . . 187
Against amendment applying state election laws to city elections . . . 57

THE RESULT of yesterday's special city election is exceedingly gratifying. It showed very plainly that the people of Marshfield still understand the value of their ballot. While the vote was perhaps not as large as it might have been, it was sufficient to show beyond any question the general feeling of the people. The results show that the people are willing to adopt anything that is sensible. The voters by big majority carried the proposition to adopt the state election law and make it apply to city elections. This seemed to them a thing reasonable to do in order to avoid confusion, but the voters did not adopt the first proposition presented on the ballot. By the overwhelming and unquestionable majority of 225 to 19, the voters of Marshfield exhibited in very plain terms the fact that they did not intend to disfranchise themselves. The men they have in the past elected to the offices of councilmen and other city official positions, and the men they elect to those same places in the future, they have confidence in or they would not vote for them. But these same voters do not intend to give up all their rights. In short the men who voted yesterday expressed the feeling that they did not intend as citizens of Marshfield to vest in the city council any undue rights. They evidently intend to retain for themselves yet some voice in public affairs as far as their rights as citizens go. While the voting upon a public proposition in some parts of the country may seem to be a joke it has certainly proved in Marshfield as being a means of the citizens asserting rights. Yesterday's special election was enough to indicate that the city of Marshfield is in no danger of having in the future any laws inflicted upon it which might lead to trouble or disaster. The people showed that the people do now, and will always, rule.

It was a splendid victory and one that adds emphasis to the fact that people are competent to rule themselves and run their own government.

The Times does not arrogate to itself any especial credit for the result, except that it was the medium which informed the people of the true facts involved in the election. The electorate acted on their own initiative once the facts were in their possession.

That is the great safeguard of the people's rights and liberties—a free and untrammelled press that will present the facts untainted and unbiased. Its editorial influence is at all times measured by its honesty in serving the people faithfully and giving them the facts uninfused by personal prejudice or partisan favor.

NOT BACKING THE RAILROAD

MacArthur, Perks & Co. Deny Connection With Medford-Port Orford Road.

A press telegram from New York which has been published in Coast newspapers states that MacArthur, Perks & Co. deny absolutely having anything to do with the proposed road to Bandon and Port Orford. The telegram, dated New York, is as follows:

"Vigorous and explicit denial is made by MacArthur, Perks & Co. of the published statement from Coquille, Oregon, that they are backing a proposed railroad to run from Port Orford to connect with the Pacific & Eastern near Medford. F. C. Hitchcock, general agent of the firm, declares: 'We are not backing any projects in Oregon and know nothing of the line that is mentioned in the Coquille article. I have no acquaintance with any of the parties mentioned and have no interest in it whatever. We do not know the engineer, Mr. Valjean, who is said to be making the survey, and have no idea who he is.'"

The road has been promoted for several months past and in some of the newspaper stories printed the newspapers states that MacArthur, connected with it, thus bringing out the denial.

The promoters of the road had presented the plan to Myrtle Point and Coquille business men and at Bandon it is understood that a number of business men have put money in the project.

EXPLOSION ON DESTROYER KILLS ONE AND INJURES EIGHT

DYNAMITING CASE STARTS

Fifty-One Defendants Appear to Face Charge in Indianapolis Court.

(By Associated Press to The Cooz Bay Times.) INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 1.—Stationed within the rail of the small courtroom where they occupied almost half the space, the defendants charged with complicity in the McNamara "dynamite plots" were placed on trial today before Federal Judge Anderson who ordered called the "Consolidated case No. 3 of the United States vs. Frank M. Ryan et al."

Three Dismissed.

On motion of the government, the cases against J. W. Ryan of Peoria, Ill., A. J. Kavanaugh of Springfield, Ill., and Pat H. Ryan of Cleveland, Ohio, were dismissed. The government announced that there was no evidence to warrant a trial. All the men had been identified with the ironworkers union.

At the outset Ortie E. McManigal pleaded guilty. Eugene C. Clancy and Olaf Tvitmo of San Francisco pleaded not guilty. All the other defendants at the arraignment last March had pleaded not guilty. Dan J. Murphy of Brooklyn, former executive board member of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers was unable to appear because of a broken leg. His absence left 50 men to be tried. A motion to set aside the order consolidating the cases was made on behalf of the defendants. This separated the various indictments, but left the defendants to be tried together. McManigal's plea qualified him as a witness for the government, for which purpose he had been imprisoned for 18 months, but it occasioned no surprise.

Opening of Trial.

(By Associated Press to The Cooz Bay Times.) INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 1.—Whoever participated with the McNamara brothers in the series of dynamite and nitro-glycerine explosions which preceded and followed the wrecking of the Los Angeles Times building, October 1, 1910, when 21 persons were killed, the government hopes to disclose in the trial which begins today before Judge A. B. Anderson of 51 men.

At the head of the list of defendants, who thus are brought into court exactly two years after the Los Angeles disaster, are:

Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers.

Ortie E. McManigal, once known as "J. W. McGraw," on the Pacific Coast, a confessed dynamiter and accomplice of the McNamara brothers, who has been kept in custody as a witness for the prosecution ever since his arrest in Detroit a year ago last April.

Herbert S. Hookin, successor of John J. McNamara as secretary-treasurer of the union, whom McManigal accuses of being the organizer of the "dynamiting crew," and one of the originators of the alarm clock scheme by which explosions were set off several hours after the mine was placed.

Most of the other defendants are present or former union officials whom the government charges were linked together in a conspiracy by an extensive correspondence from 1905 to 1911, during which time more than 100 explosions in states scattered from Massachusetts to California occurred in works under construction by employers of non-union labor.

Fifty-four men were indicted last February but John J. McCray of Wheeling, W. Va., never has been located and the McNamara brothers are in prison in California.

Court Room Ready.

The courtroom which probably for weeks will be the scene of the trial, has long been ready. Every precaution has been taken to secure quiet. The windows of the small room, located on an outside corner of the second floor of the federal building, have been heavily curtained to exclude the daylight. Recently Judge Anderson had the walls and ceilings thickly padded with felt to improve the sound conditions.

United States Senator John W. Kern has been retained as counsel for the defendants, while the government will be represented by District Attorney Charles W. Miller and his assistant.

Sixteen defendants were placed under $10,000 bonds each, to appear

Lieut. Donald P. Morrison of U. S. Navy Loses His Life in Accident.

OCCURS WHEN VESSEL WAS MAKING TRIAL

Unfortunate Boat Was the Walke, Carrying a Crew of Eighty Men.

(By Associated Press to The Cooz Bay Times.) NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 1.—Lieut. Donald P. Morrison was killed and eight men were injured today by the explosion of the steam chest on the torpedo boat destroyer Walke. She is a sister vessel of the destroyers Perkins and Sterret. Her displacement is 742 tons. She carried a complete crew of 80 men. The accident occurred off the Brenton Reef Lightship, while the vessel was preparing for her second quarterly trial. The eight men severely injured were:

Lieut. Robert L. Montgomery of the destroyer Fanning and E. B. Crawford, gunner's mate of the destroyer Patterson, the umpires who were named to watch the test of the members of the Walke's crew; J. W. Rumps, machinist's mate; H. L. Wilder, machinist's mate; D. S. Kelly, chief machinist's mate; J. D. Elaney, first-class fireman; W. E. Kraus, F. B. Conway and J. B. Conway, oilers.

The forward end of the port turbine, together with the steam chest, was blown off. The destroyers Perkins, Sterrett and Mayrant immediately went to the assistance of the Walke, but the starboard engine was in commission and she steamed back to harbor, running alongside the hospital ship Solace, when the wounded were transferred. The Walke went to the torpedo station for repairs.

RUNAWAY AT LEBANON FATAL

One Killed and Three Injured in Accident in an Oregon Town.

(By Associated Press to The Cooz Bay Times.) LEBANON, Oregon, Sept. 30.—A runaway accident near here last night resulted in Mrs. George McCormick being killed, Mrs. Charles McClintock being seriously injured, and a little daughter of Mrs. McClintock being painfully hurt and George McClintock being badly bruised.

for trial, and the others each under $5000 bonds, making an aggregate in bonds of $350,000.

Three Charges.

Each of the 32 indictments returned last February contains charges against all of the defendants and the charges are embraced in three groups. They are:

Transporting dynamite and nitro-glycerine in passenger trains from one state to another, as Ortie E. McManigal confessed was done when these explosives were carried in suit cases from hiding places at Muncie, Ind., Rochester, Pa., Tiffin, O., and Indianapolis, to cities where "jobs" were to be blown up.

Conspiring to violate interstate regulations relative to explosives.

Concealing knowledge of the conspiracy or abetting the illegal transportation of explosives.

Twenty of the explosions occurred in Ohio.

McManigal's confession was the basis upon which the government founded its case before the federal grand jury which returned the indictments. And it is expected to figure prominently in the present trial.

BADLY HURT BY FALLING HAY.

Jim Jenkins, who resides on a ranch near Riverton, was seriously injured last Friday while loading hay onto a scow from the Central warehouse at Bandon. A bale of hay, weighing over 200 pounds, broke loose from the hoisting hooks, fell about 20 feet and hit him a glancing blow on the neck and left shoulder. He was knocked unconscious, and for a while day it was doubtful whether he would live or die. He has been under the care of Dr. Mann and Dr. Leep, Jr., and is reported to be improving rapidly. He was able to sit up a while Wednesday. Mr. Jenkins is a brother-in-law of Roy Fox of this place.—Coquille Sentinel.
