SENATE HEARS THE EVIDENCE

 to tell how much was spent in the Pennsylvania campaign. Oliver reported that he was glad to take the stand. Senator Paynter pointed out to the committee it had before it charges that from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 dollars was used by the Roosevelt managers before the convention.
About Sugar Trust.
 Paynter asked if Herman Frack, who gave $10,000 to the New York headquarters, was connected with the sugar interests. Dixon said he did not know, but that the sugar trust was opposed to Roosevelt.
 Dixon said that when he "got desperately hard up" he went back to Perkins, and that "all the rest of the plutocrats were for Taft." He said he believed the committee would find "that a gentleman named Penfield from Philadelphia gave $48,000 to Wilson's pre-convention campaign, and $10,000 since the nomination. Also that Joseph E. Davis expended $38,000 in Wilson's pre-convention campaign."
Big Contribution.
 George R. Sheldon, former treasurer of the Republican national committee, testified that in 1904 the Standard Oil Co. contributed $100,000; J. P. Morgan, $100,000; H. C. Frick, $100,000, and George J. Gould, $100,000. Sheldon said he had no personal knowledge of these contributions, but that the late Cornelius Bliss had shown him his report.
 "When I took the treasurership in 1908 Bliss handed me a list of large contributors to the 1904 campaign."
 "What percentage was contributed by corporations?" he was asked.
 "To be frank, 73 1-2 per cent."
 Sheldon said the Standard Oil Co. contribution was not on the list as coming from the company, but from John D. Archbold.
Nearly Have Fight.
 Exchanges between Dixon and Pomerene grew so heated that Pomerene invited Dixon "outside," but the affair was passed off without a conflict. Dixon closed his testimony without giving the names of his informants regarding large sums spent for Taft.

Letter from Roosevelt.
 Yesterday afternoon Bliss showed a letter written from the White House to Mr. Bliss in New York in which a specific denial was made that Roosevelt had ever been influenced for or against any person or interests as the result of contributions to the 1904 campaign. He said that the "money was spent legitimately and that it was contributed freely by men who did not ask and who never have received a particle of consideration in the shape of legislation or an administrative act as a reward. No man has in any way been discriminated against for not having contributed."
 The letter commended Bliss and hoped Bliss had "not been bothered by these outrageous assaults upon you in connection with the campaign contributions." The president said: "I have felt the keenest indignation as I have read them."

MUSTER ORDERED ON BOSTON.

Officers Attend Navigation School Under Regulars.
 Naval militiamen are on the quiver following an announcement that general inspection and muster will be held aboard the cruiser Boston Tuesday night, and that in all probability Governor West will attend, says the Oregonian. The event will also mark the opening of the fall and winter work, for since the maneuvers in June aboard the cruiser Maryland, the men have not been given strenuous drills and the meeting nights were limited to one a week, instead of two or three.
 Officers of the organization will gather aboard ship tonight for another of a series of talks and illustrations by Lieutenant W. H. Toaz, U. S. N., who is assisting them in working out the rudiments of navigation. The school follows many pointers gleaned on the Maryland, and while practical experience will be necessary, the wardrobe contingent is making headway on the theoretical features.
 We have heard a good deal about "woman's gentle touch," but along about the first of the month we believe the gentleness of it is greatly overestimated.

HAY FEVER.

"Oh, I would amputate my head, if I possessed a cleaver or tomahawk or a hand saw," said the victim of hay fever. His nose was colored so the boys mistook it for a beacon; profanely he kept up a noise that scared the village deacon. "I am so weak," he sadly sighed, "that I can scarcely tolerate my face is though it had been fried, my eyes are running water. And every place I go I hear the politicians storming; they're pointing out the evils here, and things that need reforming. I've heard of many public woes but I have heard no duffer suggest a remedy for those who from hay fever suffer. The remedy's as plain as day, and might be used tomorrow; for congress should abolish hay, and thus relieve our sorrow. If government were managed right, we'd all be hale and hearty. Hay fever victims! Let's unite and start the Big Sneeze party!" Alas, our poor old government! It always needs a kicking! There'll always be much discontent, protesting, roaring, kicking. Until the last soreheaded man, his native sod is under, let government do what it can, it's bound to catch like thunder.

OREGON BOOK A BIG THING

Half Million Copies of Publication Regarding State to Be Printed.
 A valuable statistical description of the state of Oregon, its resources and its industries will be provided in a booklet, now being prepared under the direction of the Oregon State Immigration Commission and its chief officer, C. C. Chapman, State Immigration Agent. The first edition will be out about November 1, and will be 500,000 copies.
 This book will be the first reliable record or condensed statistical compendium of the resources and industries of the state that has ever been prepared. Every figure and statement will be based upon data which has been obtained from every available source of national, state and local records, and will have been rechecked several times and revised to present date, so far as possible.
 The only illustrations will be 13 maps, showing complete statistical directions upon public themes.
 There will also be brief descriptive articles upon the soil, climatic and geographical qualities of Oregon, written by eminent authorities upon those special lines.
 The pamphlet was designed primarily to benefit and inform the prospective Oregon immigrant, but will be for free distribution within the state, and will serve as a valuable reference book for everyone. It will be bound in paper and be fit for use as a text book in the public schools. Many applications have already been received by the Commission from persons who knew that the book was in the process of production. Their names will be placed upon the waiting lists preparatory to the first distribution of the edition.
 The state will pay the cost of distributing 200,000 copies. The Southern Pacific Railroad has ordered a purchase of 100,000 for its own distribution and the Hill officials are contemplating a similar order.

North Bend News

The Mothers and Teachers' Club will meet at the Central school Thursday afternoon, October 3, at 3 p. m., to consider plans for the coming year. Every mother who has a child in school is earnestly requested to attend. It is easier for one or two mothers to attend than for one or two teachers to see from twenty to thirty mothers.
 M. G. Coleman has moved his jewelry store from the Everett building to the store just vacated by the Michaels Co.
 Miss Florence Jennings of Portland is the guest of Miss Olive Richards at Sumner.
 Henry I. Biers, who suffered injuries in an auto accident, which necessitated his spending several weeks in Mercy hospital, is rapidly recovering, and was removed to his home today.
 Mrs. L. F. Falkenstein returned to her home in North Bend today after an enjoyable visit for a few days with Mrs. Walker in Ten Mile.
OPPOSE OPENING RIVER.
 There will be some opposition to the opening of Rogue river for commercial fishing according to advises from Wedderburn, in Curry county. M. Doyle of that place writes as follows:
 "Regarding the chances of opening up the Rogue river once more to commercial fishing. While most every one here wishes to see it open, yet none are in favor of its being open again to seine fishing, as such a method would be the same old monopoly as of yore. There will be a large petition forwarded to the next legislature protesting against seine fishing on the river for all future time, but asking for gill net fishing only.
 "All the inhabitants of Gold Beach are opposed to seine fishing. At present all the people are taking great quantities of salmon for domestic purposes. Heretofore, no one was allowed to catch or take salmon as the Hume interests claimed all salmon as an exclusive right."
 If the garden of Eden was located in Africa, then Adam and Eve must have been Ethiopians, and it naturally follows that the forbidden fruit was a watermelon.

FAVOR GOOD ROAD PLAN

Marshfield Chamber of Commerce Endorses Movement of Coquille Mayor.
 The plan for a permanent highway from Coos Bay to Roseburg, which was presented by Mayor A. T. Morrison of Coquille, was immediately acted upon favorably by the executive committee of the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce. The committee held a meeting yesterday evening and took up Mayor Morrison's proposition. The following resolution was adopted by the committee and a copy forwarded to Mr. Morrison:
 "That Mayor Morrison's plan for a public highway be highly endorsed by this committee and we will assure him of our hearty co-operation."
 President Green of the Chamber of Commerce suggested that each of the commercial bodies appoint a committee to take the matter up and then hold a mass meeting, with a view of making a good roads organization, according to Mr. Morrison's plan.
 The executive committee referred the good roads matter to the good roads committee. The members are Judge John S. Coko, F. P. Norton, Herbert Lockhart, Claude Nabors and J. A. Matson. Hugh McLain also was made a member of the committee.
Discuss Literature.
 The matter of literature for the Chamber of Commerce was discussed. It was decided to have some new literature and the matter was referred to the advertising committee composed of Henry Sengstacken, Albert Sellig, C. C. Going, E. W. Kammerer and E. D. McArthur.
 Every fellow in the world flatters himself that he is a born lover and that his method of lovelinking is irresistible. This is because every woman in the world from a 14-year-old to grandmother, tries to see how many kinds of a fool a man will make of himself in a given time if allowed free rein.
