ARE STRICT

An inspector has been looking into the equipment of the gasoline boats in the Coast ports with a view of seeing that they carry the lights. whistles and other appliances that are required by law. Most of the Coos boats comply with what is required, but there are some of the private boats which do not have all of the equipment that is necessary. The laws are comparatively new and all of the boat owners do not seem to be familiar with what the law ments.

Many people have the impression that a boat not engaged in carrying passengers for hire is not required to carry lights, whistle, etc., but that is a mistake. No matter if the owner uses the boat only in his own business in the county. the requirements of the law are the same. It must be provided with whistle, fire extinguisher, lights and

APPROVE OF ALL YEAR HIGHWAY

President of Organization Gives Some Good Ideas on the Subject.

The North Bend Commercial Club held a business meeting last night. It was expected to take up the permanent road question but as a number of the members who are interested could not be present, the matter was deferred until Monday night when another meeting will be held and some action taken regarding Mayor Morrison's plan for the permanent highway.

The members of the club all seem to favor the road plan. The president, Dr. Bartle, is enthusiastic over the matter. He favors selecting a road which will serve all the cities of the county. His idea is that there should be one trunk road to connect with Bandon and the sea at Coos Bay and believes that the Myrtle Point road is the best to improve, for the reason that it has the best grade in the county.

As well as favoring a permanent road good for all times of the year the members of the North Bend club also favor the plan of a ferry from North Bend to Kentuck Inlet and the connecting of that road with Allegany and Ten Mile.
