To Hold Meeting.—The Port Commission will hold their regular monthly meeting at the Chamber of Commerce Monday.

Out for Ducks.—Jay Tower and R. C. Cordes are at the Sand Hill lakes over Sunday and expect to get a big bag of ducks.

Business Change.—The Cook & Fox second hand store on Front street has been sold to Ed Doyle and H. G. Harrington.

Make Auto Trip.—Geo. Topping and family of Bandon who came over yesterday to attend the good roads meeting left this morning by auto for their home.

Mr. Bennett Delayed.—The Chamber of Commerce is in receipt of a letter from Edgar B. Piper, managing editor of the Oregonian, stating that their special writer, Mr. Addison Bennett, who was to arrive on Coos Bay today had been delayed but would start Monday, arriving in Marshfield later in the week.

At Roundup.—Among the Coos County people Teddy Baxter saw at the Pendleton Round-up were W. J. Gage and wife, Levi Smith and wife, C. Ireland, Paul Skeels, Joe Pattison, Jess Hite, Ray Ollivant, Charley Harlocker and Joe Laird.—Coquille Sentinel.

Never Saw a Ball Game.—In these days of intense interest and excitement in the world's championship series games it is interesting to note that there is one prominent Coos county citizen who has never seen any kind of a ball game. Judge E. D. Sperry of Coquille enjoys the distinction. It is not for lack of opportunity, either. The judge lived for years in Cleveland, Ohio, and daily drove past the grounds where league games were being played, but he never witnessed one. The judge says he has no objection to the great national game, but did not have any early interest and later it became a matter of distinction and sort of original pride for him to say that he had never seen a game, while all his friends were discussing games, players, averages, and all that, and that is so dear to the heart of the fans.

Saved Three Days' Interest.—A good story is being told today about a prominent citizen and large property holder, who yesterday gave an exhibition of thrift and financial shrewdness that wins wealth. A large payment on some extensive street improvements around his property was due yesterday. Although a wealthy man he did not have the ready cash to meet the obligation and it would require a loan to make the payment. It suddenly occurred to him that Saturday was a bank holiday followed by Sunday and if he could delay the matter until the banks closed and then give a check he could negotiate a loan and thus save three days' interest. Accordingly when Marshal Carter appeared as collector for the recorder, the property holder delayed the matter under one pretext or another until five minutes past bank closing time and then gave the check. It will be cared for Monday and the thrifty man has saved three days' interest on a good-sized sum.

Many Farewells.—The friends of Capt. B. W. Olson and Dr. J. T. McCormac are enjoying the rather unusual manner of their daily departure on extended trips these days. Both gentlemen are well known and one is going on a long voyage that will extend around Cape Horn before his return and the other for a winter's stay in California. Their farewells are more than formal. They are also becoming as lingering as those of fond lovers with whom "parting is such sweet sorrow that they could say good-bye, good-bye until tomorrow." Capt. Olson started on the M. S. Dollar and Dr. McCormac on the Redondo Thursday afternoon. The vessels were unable to cross out, and both gentlemen surprised their friends by returning to the city Thursday evening, while all the passengers and crew remained aboard. Friday morning they said "good-bye" again and started once more on their voyage. Last evening they returned and received renewed greetings and this morning there were more fond farewells for the third time.
