FINE FLIGHT MADE TODAY BY AVIATOR CHRISTOFFERSON

Only Birdman Ever Seen Here Secured by Times Is a Great Success.

AFTER HEIGHT RECORD TOMORROW AFTERNOON Special Train Will Bring a Large Number of Spectators from Valley.

TWO FLIGHTS TOMORROW. The spectators did not understand that today there would be a second flight. Tomorrow there will be two flights and possibly three with an intermission between. The second flight will be better than the first. Weather conditions are now favorable for good flights tomorrow.

When Mr. Christofferson, the aviator, made a splendid flight this afternoon on the race track. It was the first of the kind ever seen in this part of the state and was a great success in every way. The aviator was brought to Marshfield through the Coos Bay Times and the public was greatly pleased with the result.

Tomorrow another flight will be made. Mr. Christofferson started the race for probably 100 feet on the ground and then the aeroplane was sent toward Bunker Hill. When the birdman turned toward Bunker slough and turned back toward the city. Returning toward the race track he circled several times and landed in the same place from which he started.

Weather Good. While the weather for some days was highly unfavorable for spectators to attend and for the aviator to go up fortunately it cleared sufficiently today to make conditions good.

A good attendance gathered at the race track this afternoon to see the event and it was the one important thing of the day. The aviator was called over the telephone all day by persons who wanted to know if the birdman was going to make his flight and this morning there were many inquiries from out of the city, to know the result.

After Record. Mr. Christofferson will tomorrow make an effort to beat the Pacific coast record for attaining height. He will also make spirals, which is dangerous and difficult feat, and endeavors are anyway favorable to reach the greatest height that he ever has attained.

The aviator's Curtis aeroplane is being perfected this afternoon. The crowd of spectators was greatly pleased with the exhibition. It was the first time that anything of the kind has ever been seen in this part of the state and for all that a comparative few it was the opportunity to see an aviator and it was greatly appreciated.

Those who witnessed the event felt that there was not a flaw, it was a perfect exhibition and tomorrow it will be still better, as the aviator will make a higher flight and will give some features in addition to the first trial today.

ROOSEVELT BETTER. Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times.

ROOSEVELT BETTER. Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times. OCTOBER 26.—For the first time since his return home Roosevelt went out doors today. It was a warm sunny day and the Colonel was impatient to be out. He walked down the hill saying he would be out. When he began to climb again, however, he found it was not as easy as he thought, for he was out of breath.

One lady asked this morning if there was any limit on the purchase of CROWN FLOUR on the next Wednesday. This lady bought three sacks during the sale and advises us that "IT IS THE BEST FLOUR SHE EVER USED." She evidently has an eye for the future and knows a good thing when she sees it.

"The devil tempted me and I have fallen," he exclaimed in his plea to the jury, while judge, jurors and spectators wept. The jury brought in a verdict without recommendation after four minutes deliberation.

Governor Wilson Expects to Retire at Nine O'Clock Election Night.

(By Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times.) PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 26.—Gov. Wilson would rather go to bed at 9 o'clock on election night and take a long sleep and find out the next morning whether or not he is elected president, than to sit up and watch the returns. The governor watched a workman install a telegraph line to his home through the courtesy of the telegraph company and wondered if the noise of the instrument would not disturb his slumbers.

Beveridge produced copies of letters written by donors to the campaign funds returning the money. The letters were written the day after election and were numerously signed by witnesses to the transaction.

GOES TO SING SING IN THE MEANTIME

May Be a Year Before Final Decision Is Handed Down.

FOUND GUILTY.

Police Lieutenant Becker, charged with the murder of Gambler Rosenthal, was yesterday found guilty of murder in the first degree.

(By Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times.) NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Charles Becker, automatically dropped from police rolls by conviction, will pay one visit to police headquarters before he goes to Sing Sing to await action on his appeal to the court of Appeals, from the verdict convicting him for the murder of Gambler Rosenthal. He will be taken from the Tombs to the Bureau of Identification to be fingerprinted for the rogues' gallery.

Work to get Becker's case before the court of appeals will begin after sentence is pronounced by Justice Goff next Wednesday. Notice of appeal will be filed forthwith. The case is not likely to be set for an argument for several months and the decision of the appeal is not expected for a year or more.

In the event of a reversal of verdict Becker would be remanded to the Tombs again without bail to wait a new trial. This follows a precedent set in the Molineux case in which Justice Goff was reversed by the court of appeals after a delay of two years. Molineux was acquitted on the second trial.

Although Becker will be sentenced Wednesday next, he will not go to Sing Sing until November 2, ten days being generally allowed for consultation with counsel.

Eleven points on which the appeal will be based were outlined today in a statement prepared by Becker's chief counsel. More than 4000 exceptions were taken during the trial to the rulings made by Justice Goff.

M'DONALD AND MACGENN TALK

Captain of Breakwater Assists Outside Speaker at Progressive Meeting.

Sanfield McDonald, a representative of the progressive party, delivered an address last night at the Odd Fellows hall in the interests of the candidates on the progressive ticket. Preceding Mr. McDonald's address Capt. Macgenn, master of the steamer Breakwater, made an interesting and rousing speech.

About eighty persons were in the hall when the meeting opened. Some left during the course of Mr. McDonald's address and others came in and took seats. Mr. McDonald spoke until about 12 o'clock. In his address he told the voters of the principles of the progressive party. He particularly urged that the men of Oregon vote for A. E. Clark for United States Senator. He said that this would break the ring of Chamberlain and Bourne. Mr. McDonald said that if people should vote for Clark but if they could not do that to be sure to vote for Lane but by no means to vote for Bourne. He said that Chamberlain did not want Lane elected because he thought that Wilson would be elected president and that if he had a republican colleague he would have a better chance to distribute the various political plums in the state.

Others Talked.

During the course of his talk, Mr. McDonald was interrupted by several who had remarks or answers to make to his statements. In fact the meeting was unusual from the fact that the persons in the audience frequently took part in the discussion. Mr. McDonald challenged anyone to tell where Wilson had ever done anything progressive in the way of legislation. Hugh McLain took up the challenge and here was someone of a discussion.

At the conclusion of the address, Mr. McDonald, while distributing circulars which he carried, had quite a little discussion on the senator question with Charles Powers, an admirer of Bourne.

Told of Liberty.
