TURKEY MAKES HAUGHTY RETORT TO BALKANS DESPITE HER DEFEATS

Says She Has 500,000 More Soldiers to Draw While Opponents Have None.

PEACE ENVOYS START WITH NEW PROPOSALS

Allied Opponents Say They Have 150,000 Men to Throw Against Forts.

TURKS WIN BY A NEW MOVE TODAY.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Turkish troops landed last night at the port of Silivri on the Sea of Marmora, under the fire of Turkish war vessels, according to a news agency dispatch from Constantinople.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Nothing has developed within the last 12 hours to show whether the Turks will accept the proposed modifications and the terms offered by the allied Balkan nations sufficient to induce them to agree to an armistice preparatory to a definite peace.

The Ottoman government points out that it still has a half million soldiers to draw from, while the Bulgarians have none. The allied Balkan nations, however, retort that they are now in a position to march 150,000 troops who have heretofore been engaged elsewhere, to swell the besieging force in front of the Turkish lines at Tchatalja.

Should the war continue, it is assumed in military circles that an attack will soon be opened on the forts along the Dardanelles, whose fall would permit the Greek fleet to bombard the Turkish capital.

EUROPE FEARS GENERAL WAR

Streams of Rumors Cause Great Apprehension—Not Affirmed Nor Denied.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Europe's nerves are racked today by war clouds that have lowered over the continent. The stream of rumors owing to the apparent fact that both the Russian and Austrian governments have ordered a strict censorship could not be denied, although confirmation was also unobtainable.

Prague sent word that Germany had ordered 130,000 army reservists, to be ready in case the empire is drawn into the great war that diplomats fear may grow out of the struggle in the Balkan peninsula. Official statements fail to dissipate the general anxiety as to the situation.

CHOLERA DEATH LIST REDUCED

Turkish Government Takes Steps to Check Epidemic Among Soldiers.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 23.—The Turkish government reports a greatly decreased number of deaths from cholera during the last few days, but this is not widely credited among the foreign residents. Some attempt is now being made to house soldiers suffering from the disease. Wooden huts are being erected at San Stefano, the cholera camp on the open plain, which a few days ago was strewn with dead and dying.

FRENCH BIRTH RATE REDUCED

Nation Alarmed by Strange Depopulation—Fear Wane of Country.

PARIS, Nov. 23.—The birth rate of France was lower by more than 100,000 in 1911 than in 1910. Louis Klotz minister of finance in announcing the fact to the commission on depopulation today said "Military inferiority, economic inferiority and the diminutive of power of France in the world will sooner or later be an inevitable consequence of the sterility of our nation." The lower birth rate while a perplexing phenomenon among all civilized peoples was the minister said, a greater problem in France than elsewhere.

LET US TALK IT OVER

"When the devil was sick the devil A monk would be; When the devil was well, the devil A monk was he."

CANDIDATES Savage and Coke now say they are favorable to municipal ownership. Their friends say they believe in it, but something more than theoretical belief in municipal ownership and political promises are necessary at this time.

If Savage and Coke believe in municipal ownership and are opposed to an extension of the present franchise and an increase in rates let them prove their honesty by signing a pledge to the people to this effect. Let them put their promises on paper and sign them as Winkler and Albrecht have done.

The Times challenges them to do this. The fact is that both Savage and Coke are favorable to giving the water company a franchise and favor municipal ownership only because they think it popular and hope to get votes by it.

Mr. A. J. Savage thinks the city should be "liberal" with the water company, and Tom Coke feels that he should do what is "fair," because the remaining seventeen years of the present franchise would be insufficient to warrant the company in making the extensive improvements needed. If this is a sound reason why another thirty-year franchise should be granted, then there would never come a time when the city would be justified in terminating the franchise, because when all but seventeen years of the new franchise shall have expired the same reason (if it be any reason) would then exist for Mr. Bennett, or his assigns, asking a new thirty year donation of franchise in order that he might then be justified in installing the extensions and making the improvements at that time. The city has already been amply generous with the water company. It has already granted them 30 years of donated franchises.

FIVE GET MEDALS OF HONOR TODAY

President Taft Confers Highest Honor United States Can Accord Its Soldiers.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Five young enlisted men and officers of Uncle Sam's military force came together at the White House today to receive the highest award that can be given an American soldier, a medal of honor. The soldier decorated for deeds of gallantry were: First Lieutenant, Archie Miller. Second Lieutenants Arthur H. Wilson and John T. Kennedy, all of the sixth cavalry.

Quartermaster's Sergeant, Joseph Henderson of Troop B, Sixth cavalry. Captain Julian Maujot of the First Cavalry.

President Taft had invited a large number of distinguished army officers and honor medal holders to witness the ceremonies.

The Sixth Cavalry men, who were honored today, all won their spurs in the Philippines.

Capt. Maujot was the hero of Mexican disturbance last year, when he rode through the fire of Mexicans and induced them to lay down their arms because their bullets endangered Americans.

I believe in progress in public improvements without extravagance, and in economy without penuriousness. I believe in exercising the same care in public expenditures that we do in private business. My aim will always be to work for a cleaner, greater and more prosperous Marshfield. HARRY WINKLER.

CIRCUIT COURT JURORS CHOSEN

Sheriff Gage Summons Jurymen for December Term of Court.

Sheriff Gage today is subpoenaing jurors for the next term of circuit court, which convene at Coquille, December 9, with Judge Coke on the bench.

The old grand jury will meet a few days previous to close up its work and a new grand jury will be empanelled. The case of "Gun-embatt" Smith, the former Marshfield boat" Smith, the former Marshfield negro prize fighter, who is charged with attacking Mrs. Hickerson and another negro with a dangerous weapon, is about the only criminal case now on.

Sheriff Gage has a number of bottles of beer that were taken during the raid on the Marshfield resorts, but whether Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Liljeqvist intends to prosecute them for liquor law violations, Sheriff Gage does not know.

The jurors from the Coos Bay side who are being summoned are: Z. T. Slight, E. W. Bernitt, J. D. McNeil, Wm. Buck, Chas. H. Codding, L. H. Helsen, J. Bastendorf and W. J. Cosmer.

GEDDES GUILTY BUT NOT FINED

Justice Court Jury Convicts Rancher of Trespass; Recommend Clemency.

The jury in Justice Pennock's court yesterday afternoon found Herbert Geddes of Coos River guilty of trespass, as charged by W. F. Hodson. However, they recommended that sentence be suspended during good behavior.

The case, which involves the right to use a road or trail across the Hodson ranch, was hard fought. Geddes and other homesteaders back from the river contended it was the only way for them to reach the river and the markets.

Geddes will have to pay the costs, amounting to $26.70. It is likely that Geddes and the other homesteaders will appeal to the county court to open a road across the Hodson ranch for them. At present they are practically shut in, it is claimed.

LYNCH DRAWN INTO OUTRAGE

President of Typographical Union Involved in Dynamite Conspiracy.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 23.—Lindsey L. Jewel, now an engineer on the Panama canal, testified this afternoon that Hockin, after the Los Angeles Times explosion, made a confession to him under the bonds of secrecy. Hockin told him that before the Los Angeles explosion, he overheard a conversation between J. J. McNamara and President James M. Lynch of the Typographical Union in which they talked about an explosion on the Pacific Coast, in which McNamara said to Lynch, "I can get the man who has the nerve, if you get the money." Hockin also told him that McNamara caused the Los Angeles Times explosion for the money there was in it.

ARAGO IS SOLD. Coos Bay Harbor to Share in Funds from Government Boat.

The Portland Journal says: "Authority has been granted by the War Department for the transfer of the United States engineer tug Arago, from the First Oregon district to the Second, the consideration to be $10,900, which will revert to the appropriations of some of the southern Oregon coast ports, the division being in proportion to the amount of the appropriation of each.

"The $10,900, which will revert to the First district as a result of the transfer of the tug will go to the Coquille, Coos Bay, the Siuslaw and Tillamook projects. Coos Bay will get the largest share—56 per cent—as it has the largest appropriation. The Arago was originally built for the work, but was found not fitted for the bars.

"As the work goes on the Oregon coast, says Captain Robert, it became necessary to have a tug fitted for the work. However, one is not being asked for at present."

Crimson Runs Up the Biggest Score Against the Blue in Ten Years.

"OLD ELI'S" BACK FIELD PLAYED POORLY

Eight Bad Muffs Resulted in Overwhelming Victory for Harvard.

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 23.—Alertness of Harvard in taking advantage of Yale's errors and the field kicking by Brickley gave the Crimson victory over the Blue today by a score of 20 to 0. Two touchdowns, one by Storer, the left tackle, and the other by Brickley, right half back, were scored in the first and third periods, principally due to muffed punts in the Yale back field. Brickley kicked one goal from the field from the 35-yard line and another from the 19-yard line.

Yale was never dangerous until the final period, when the Blue's offense carried the ball 60 yards down the field to Harvard's 80-yard line and there it was lost on downs. A few minutes later Pampelly, left half back, was about to try for a field goal when the game was called.

Harvard made comparatively few consistent marches into Yale's territory by the rushing game and kicking was adopted as the best means of offense against an uncertain Blue back field. Eight bad muffs showed the wisdom of this line of attack. Harvard had no call to uncover any intricate plays and relied almost entirely on line plunges by Wendel, fullback, and Brickley. The Yale offense did not show strong until the last few minutes of play when Harvard's first string of players were supplemented by substitutes.

The score made by the Crimson today was the largest made in a Harvard-Yale game in ten years, and the touchdowns were the first either the Crimson or Blue has scored against each other in five years. As Harvard has vanquished all comers, the Crimson players were hailed as the 1912 champions when they left the field.

TELLS ABOUT MANY CRIMES

Ortie McManigal and Other Witnesses Describe the Dynamite Outrages.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 23.—Ortie E. McManigal's recital of his confession as a dynamiter was interrupted today to allow other witnesses to testify.

Cornelius L. Crowley of Amonica, Pa., told of the finding of nitro-glycerine in an old cooper shop at Rochester, Pa., in August, 1910. It was this store of explosive which McManigal charged was pointed out to the authorities two months before the Los Angeles explosion by H. S. Hockin in secretly given information to undoubtedly double-cross the union. Crowley was the witness, who said he had been approached since coming to Indianapolis and told not to testify.

George W. Harvey described an explosion caused by McManigal on March 27, 1909, in a new opera house at Boston. Watchmen corroborated McManigal's statements that bombs had been placed in the southwest side of the structure.

Nov. 23.—The indictments were brought in by a special grand jury against fifty past and present Denver city and county officials and property owners, September last, charging them with allowing various institutions or vice to exist were dismissed by Judge Teller in the criminal branch of the district court today.
