HONESTY IN PUBLIC HEALTH WORK

THE attitude of the public toward epidemics in past years has been either one of mystery or panic. Pestilence has been regarded as something to placate by magic or to flee from its terror. But in the last half century, disease has been largely robbed of both its mystery and its fearfulness. We know it now as a product of natural causes, to be met and overcome by common sense and expert knowledge. The importance of social conditions in the production of disease has been recognized, as well as the public responsibility for its existence. The public and the physicians are now recognized as co-workers in the suppression of disease. If partners in this work, it is only fair that both parties should know the facts, and that, in times of epidemic disease, the public should be told the whole truth. This important obligation of the modern health officer is recognized by Dr. Juan Gutierrez, Health Officer of Havana. In a recent issue of The Journal of the American Medical Association, in an article on Bubonic Plague in Havana, Dr. Gutierrez condemns the old policy of suppression of facts and says: "I have contended for the following fundamental rule in sanitary practice: Work must be done in the broad daylight; the people should know what they are doing, and what to expect. If we never deceive them, they will believe what we say; we obtain their cooperation, we minimize panic, and we can begin active operations at once. All this is the general acceptance of this golden rule has been slow and difficult. Only last year the presence of cholera was concealed in several communities. Such deception was dangerous to the infected region, and, to the uninfected neighbors, it was cruel and inhuman."

MIKADO HONORS MISS BOARDMAN

Head of American Red Cross Receives High Recognition from Jap Emperor.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Miss Mabel Boardman, secretary of the American Red Cross, received today from the White House, the insignia of fifth order of the crown, conferred upon her by the Japanese emperor for distinguished services. So far as officials here know it is the first time an American woman has been so honored by Japan.

PASTOR GIVEN PURSE OF GOLD

Episcopal Congregation Remembers Rev. Browning Thanksgiving Day.

The congregation of the Marshfield Episcopal Church, Thursday, presented a purse of $112 to their pastor, Rev. R. E. Browning, as a special Thanksgiving contribution. It was merely a little token of appreciation of the efficient services of the worthy pastor.

The services in Emmanuel Episcopal Church on Thanksgiving morning were well attended. The church was made very beautiful by the decorations of fruits and vegetables of all kinds placed in and about the chancel. The committee in charge of the decorating of the church was Mrs. George Murch and Mrs. Robert K. Booth. Special music was sung by the choir under the direction of Mrs. Wm. Horsfall. Those singing in the choir were: Mrs. J. S. Coke, Mrs. J. T. Hall, Mrs. Charles Stauff, Miss Evelyn Anderson, Miss Preston, Miss Clara Myren, Miss Esther Johnson and Messrs. L. K. Ballinger and Chas. Stauff.

Masonic Meeting.—There will be meeting tonight of Arago Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, at which the Royal Arch degree will be conferred. Sojourning companions are cordially invited to attend. Clam chowder refreshments will be served, also oysters on the half shell.

NO INVASION BY MEXICANS

Report of Rebels Entering New Mexico Discredited by Gen. Steever.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)
EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 29.—No news of the reported invasion of New Mexico in Sierra county by the Mexican rebels has been received at Fort Bliss from the border patrol and Gen. E. Z. Steever discredits the report. If true, it is believed, that the mounted and armed men compose some expeditions organized in the United States with the intention of entering Mexico to participate in the rebel operations about Juarez.

SEAMAN'S BILL UP

Senate Will Consider Involuntary Service Measure.
(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Subcommittee of the senate committee on commerce has determined to take up next Monday the consideration of a bill, which passed the House last session which would prevent the involuntary holding of American seaman in servitude in foreign ports. Senator Burton, chairman of the subcommittee, will endeavor to secure action on the bill in the short session.

THE HOLIDAY PARTY.

A Few Suggestions For Enlivening Yuletide Evenings.
In cities balloons are almost always obtainable, so get bright red ones and try this novel scheme for a children's party. Surround the cake with tiny candlesticks or candelabra holding red tapers and sprinkle the cloth with holy sprays and diamond dust (Christmas snow).
From the back of each chair tie a red ribbon on the end, floating gayly in the air a red balloon. Here is the way to give the favors (red snapping motto caps): Tie one to the end of the string of a red balloon and let it go away up to the ceiling.
If the snapper is not heavy enough weight it with a chocolate cigarette or one of the many hard, all chocolate shapes that children love. Then let each little guest catch a balloon and bring it down to earth. To make more fun each balloon may have a card attached bearing the name of a child, and each must find his own.

BIG INDIAN IS HANGED TODAY

Half Breed, Six Feet Seven Inches Tall, Executed at San Quentin.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)
SAN QUENTIN, Cal., Nov. 29.—The sentence of death was executed today upon Edward Williams, a half breed Indian, the tallest man ever hanged in the penitentiary here. He stood six feet 7 inches. He met death with traditional Indian stolidity.
On the night of October 26, 1911, Williams shot his consort, Inez Brooks, in a fit of jealousy. He also wounded Mrs. E. J. Mullings and her son.

Their Christmas Presents.

I.
Little Penelope Soerates.
A Boston maid of four.
Wide opened her eyes on Christmas morn
And looked the landscape o'er.
"What let's inflates my tas de bleu?"
She asked, with dignity.
"Tis Ihsen in the original.
Oh, joy beyond degree!"

II.
Miss May Cadwallader Rittenhouse
Of Philadelphia town
Awoke as much as they ever do there
And watched the snow come down.
"Well, I'm glad that Christmas has come again."

III.
It was Christmas in giddy Gotham,
And Miss Irene de Jones
Awoke at noon and yawned and yawned
And stretched her languid bones.
"Well, I'm sorry that it's Christmas.
Papa at home will stay.
For 'change is closed, and he won't make
A single cent all day."

IV.
Oh, windily dawned the Christmas
In the city by the lake!
And Miss Arabel Wabash Breezy
Was instantly awake.
"Ah, what's that in my stockings?
Well, in two offs I'll know!"
And she drew forth a grand piano
From away down in the toe.
—Boston Courier.

Last Minute Giving.
The only Christmas spirit evolved by last minute preparation is a cynical disgust for a holiday that should be attractive. It is like a worker who says she can work only under pressure (before long she and the work suffer

CONFESSES HE KILLED BOYS

Buffalo Man Admits Murder of Two Lads in Different Cities.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)
BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 29.—J. Frank Hickey made a full confession today of the murder, October 12, 1911, of Joseph Joseph, a 7-year-old Lackawanna boy, and of Michael Krunk, a New York newspaper boy, Dec. 12, 1910.
Both boys were strangled and the body of the Joseph boy was dismembered. Hickey attributed the crimes to the excessive use of liquor. When drunk, he said he possessed an irresistible mania for killing boys. He denied that he had committed other crimes.
The confession was made to District Attorney Dudley. It was begun on a train that rushed Hickey from New York City to Buffalo on Wednesday and was completed today. The whole story was reduced to a formal statement signed by Hickey.

CHRISTMASY TRIFLES.

Make Somebody Happy by Giving Her a Reticule.
Every Christmas needleworker this year is making a reticule for somebody. There is a craze at present for these graceful bags, and styles range from simple affairs of linen for use with next summer's frocks to the most elaborate bags of satin and gold lace, to be carried with opera and theater costumes. Such a bag, if it is to be successful must be fashioned with the very best of materials, and a really handsome bag of this sort may easily cost $4 or $5 for the materials alone, though the finished models in the shops, especially the imported models, are tremendously expensive. The handsomest reticules are made of heavy, soft satin, velled with gold lace or metallic net and ornamented with the tiny ribbon flowers which may be bought all ready to apply. Simpler bags of satin, embroidered with silk or chenille and braided with gold or silver cord, are very effective also, and most dainty theater bags may be made of Dresden ribbon, lined with soft, heavy satin in a delicate pastel tint. The large reticule is always perfectly flat in shape and is usually in envelope style, with one side buttoning over the other at the top. A thin strip of whalebone should be inserted inside the lining across the top of such a reticule.

LIFE PROLONGED BY PULMOTOR

New Resuscitating Device Successfully Used on Mrs. LaChapelle.

Mrs. J. H. LaChapelle of South Broadway, who has been hovering between life and death for the last three days as a result of a severe attack of uremia, has been resuscitated two or three times when the vital spark appeared to be passing, by means of the pulmomotor of the Oregon Power Company.
Wednesday night, when she sank very low and respiration was scarcely apparent, Dr. Houseworth called Dr. C. Green of the company and asked that the pulmomotor be resorted to. Mrs. Green took it at once and the application was a success. Last night, and again today the pulmomotor resuscitated Mrs. LaChapelle when the end appeared to be near.
She is very low and whether the pulmomotor may be instrumental in saving her is still uncertain.
