EUROPEAN COUNTRIES ARE UNITED TO AVERT WAR

Poincaré of France Urges Nations Work in Unison.

WELLERS ALWAYS EXCHANGING VIEWS

Struggle Over the Situation Believed Be Impossible.

Paris, Dec. 6.—France's position in the present Balkan situation, summed up by Premier Poincaré in a few words, is, first, continuing the program of foreign policies and the practicality and stability of our alliances.

Second, sincere and continued negotiations for peace in Europe.

Third, and above all, the firm resolution to secure respect for our rights and maintain our national dignity from all possible quarters.

Fourth, the address had been given previously to a special session of the cabinet and it was followed by a speech similar to that of British Premier Lloyd George and the German Emperor Kaiser.

Fifth, Poincaré said that he considered England and Russia before acting and in agreement with them, and added that evidence goes to show that a general settlement of the difficulties will be effected sooner or later.

Sixth, "Up to now the negotiations have been in accord in that military operations constitute an accomplished fact that no power has made any initiative. This result is the best guarantee of peace, especially the fact that the Chancellor, and Europe have been in communication for the past year."

The court of impeachment resumed the trial of Judge Archibald.

Johnston of Alabama obtained an agreement for printing as a public document Taft's speech at the Daughters of the Confederacy convention.

House Business.

The House resumed the consideration of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill.

The naval affairs committee began framing a naval appropriation bill which Chairman Padgett estimates will carry $120,000,000 to $130,000,000.

The Progressive Party's campaign fund statement was filed, showing contributions of $676,672.

The banking and currency committee began arranging the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill, which Chairman Sulzer estimates will carry three to four million dollars.

The president's message on general affairs was read.

Western delegates advocated appropriations for rivers and harbor improvements before the rivers and harbor committee.

The military affairs committee began hearings on the military appropriations bill.

Yesterday in Congress

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—The senate resumed its consideration of the omnibus claims bill yesterday.

The joint commission to investigate the purchases of American tobacco by foreign governments, elected Senator Martin chairman and organized for an investigation which may take a year.

The House passed the Adamson bill. The Indian affairs sub-committee completed the Indian appropriation bill, aggregating $8,000,000, which will be reported Saturday.

Chairman Henry of the rules committee tentatively set next Tuesday for the hearings of the alleged New Haven-Grand Trunk traffic deal. The banking and currency sub-committee decided to invite the testimony of persons interested in currency legislation at a hearing to begin January 6.

Director Stratton of the Bureau of Standards opposed before the agriculture committee the bill for regulating the tax on oleomargarine.

Water delegates urged liberal appropriation for the Mississippi levees before the rivers and harbors committee.

The Senate court of impeachment resumed the trial of Archibald in the afternoon.

Chairman Alexander of the merchant marine committee called a meeting for Friday to resume the snipping trust investigation.

HANGINGS AT SAN QUENTIN

San Quentin, Calif., Dec. 6.—Willie Luis, a condemned Chinese, was hanged today for the murder of his father and his second wife, at San Luis Obispo.

M. P. Christensen, vice-president of the anti-capital punishment league, pressed forward from a place among the invited guests and shouted feverishly, "I protest against this hanging in the name of Christ, who said, 'Thou shalt not kill'." He was seized by the guards and hustled from the room.

Gov. Blease Tells His Associates and the People "to Go To."

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 6.—A sweeping resolution repudiating the remarks of Governor Blease of South Carolina in support of lynch law, was adopted by the governors conference today. The vote was 14 to 4. Blease in defending himself pointed his fingers at the faces of other governors and declared that he cared not one whit for what the conference did or left undone.

"Four times this morning my life has been threatened for my utterances," declared Blease. "I was quoted yesterday as saying 'to hell with the constitution.' I say now to all the governors of all the states and to all the people of the United States what I said then."

The conference hall was thrown into an uproar.

Governors of Alabama, Missouri, New York, Maryland and Wisconsin denounced the South Carolinian in strong terms for his utterances. Governors of North Carolina, Arkansas, Connecticut and Idaho voted against the resolution.

The Governors' Conference appointed a committee of five to draft uniform state legislation under which old style farm mortgages could be replaced with short or long term farm bonds. A chain of new state banks throughout the country to be authorized by various legislatures under a uniform law and the listing of bonds on stock exchanges are contemplated.

The four who voted against the resolution declared emphatically that they opposed mob violence but believed the resolution exceeded the rights of the conference. After the vote was taken, Blease said, "I would not vote, gentlemen, because it makes no difference to me one way or the other what this conference thinks or does."

DISASTERS FOLLOWED HIS VISITS QUICKLY

Former Official of Iron Workers Alleged to Have Arranged Explosions.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 6.—Violent methods of fighting non-union work in which Hockin acted as "advance agent" of the McNamaras "dynamiting squad" were charged by the government today in the cross-examination of Murray L. Pennell of Springfield, Ill., a defendant at the trial of the accused bomb plotters. The government's alleged inability of the local union officials to unionize a job was followed by an appeal for aid and that a visit of Hockin to a particular location was followed by an explosion. Pennell testified that after he failed to unionize jobs in Springfield, he wrote to Secretary McNamara to "send Hockin as soon as possible," but he asserted he wanted Hockin as a national organizer and not for dynamiting purposes. He said Hockin failed to appear and on February 15, 1911, he again appealed by letters for Hockin.

McNamara replied "hope and wait," cautioning Pennell to "be more careful what you write to headquarters for the Lord only knows who reads the mail that comes into this office."

The witness said later Hockin arrived in Springfield and on March 8 an explosion there caused $45,000 damages.

Pennell said Hockin's visit had nothing to do with the explosion and that he knew nothing of the explosion.

Charles N. Beaum of Minneapolis, a former member of the Ironworkers' executive board, charged with appropriating $1000 a month to be used by the McNamaras for dynamiting, said that he knew nothing of the fund.

"The first I heard of the McNamaras using $1000 monthly was after their arrest. Nor did I ever know the union's funds were used to buy explosives. I never saw Ortie E. McManigal until I came here for the trial."

He admitted that he helped to raise a $200,000 defense fund for the McNamaras, "but I did not know he was guilty," he added.

WALL STREET DEALS PROBED

MONEY TRUST PROBE ASSUMES NEW PHASE IN NEW YORK—HOLDING COMPANIES INVESTIGATED.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Representatives of the House committee are at work in this city preparing for a resumption of their investigation of the "money trust" in Washington next Monday. The latest phase of the commissioners' activity is the operation of the New York Stock Exchange companies acting as transfer agents for large corporations whose shares are heavily dealt in on the exchange. They have been visited the last few days by a committee of statisticians to inquire into figures showing the number of shares of such corporations actually transferred within the given periods.

It is well known that the amount of stock of some of the market leads and the trading in it within a year is much larger than the local capitalization, so that on the face of the returns the ownership of all the shares changes hands several times during that period.
