SCHOOL NOTES

HIGH SCHOOL.

The first meeting of the Marshfield High school literary society in several weeks was held last Thursday evening at the High school building. A Riley program was given by members of the Freshman class and the numbers were much enjoyed by the students and guests. After the program everybody gathered around the piano and joined in singing songs. The program was as follows: Little Alec's Bear Story, Florence Powers. The Raggedy Man, Ruth Dungan. Life of Riley, Sarah Escott. Our Hired Girl, Nellie Warwick. When the World Busts Through, Olga Schetter.

SOUTH MARSHFIELD.

Eighth Grade.
Captain Nelson of the Breakwater addressed the pupils of this grade Friday afternoon on the Panama Canal. The address was very interesting and instructive.

F. S. Dow visited the grade Friday afternoon.

Velma Ross, George Pratt and Eugene Stadden were among those absent this week.

Sixth and Seventh Grades.
Those handling in good reproductions of Thor Goes a Fishing were Mary McArthur, Harry Rice, Augusta Micken, Vateria Vasey, Wilma Hoagland, Ernest Drews, Henry Walter, Violet Robertson, Frances Lang, Arthur Whereat, Glenda Farrell, Henry Walter, Ruth McLaughlin, George Hansen, Margaret Minnie and Ruth Anderson.

The themes on the Panama Canal have been handed in and on Friday the grades enjoyed a rare treat when Captain Nelson talked to them on that subject.

Fifth Grade.
Mrs. Haskins visited the Fifth grade Monday.

Nearly all of the raffle work has been handed in. Some did excellent work. Samuel Franson and Henrietta Lecocq handed in large braided hats. Others who did good work were Maude Wilson, Edith Ayre and Evelyn Mirassoul.

Friday afternoon the Fifth grade were invited into Mrs. Thompson's sixth and seventh grade room to listen to a talk on the Panama Canal, given by Captain Nelson of the Breakwater. The talk was interesting and instructive, and we appreciated it very much.

Charles Davis has been absent for two days. He has been ill.

The class has just finished writing a composition entitled "The Autobiography of a Hatchery Trout." As this was a local topic, the class did good work and some of the stories were very interesting.

Eben Conner and Leona Post had perfect spelling papers in the last test. This makes the third time these two pupils have won highest honors in this room.

CUT THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

W. H. Chapman of Winnebago, Neb., tells how he did it. "My two children had a very bad cough and the doctor's medicines did them no good. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and before it was all used the children were free and cured of their cough. I saved a doctor's bill for one 25c bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound." No opiates. Sold by Lockhart & Parsons, the Busy Corner.

Third and Fourth Grades.
Marjory Marcy and Geneva Gosney have been out on account of illness.

Lorena Hoffman, Ruth Sandquist, Gladys Burros, Rena Pattison, Wayne Harris and Maybelle McLaughlin were excellent in deportment.

Those especially good in arithmetic were Milton Haquist, Cecil LaChapelle, Elmer Hildenbrand, Violet Pattison, Wayne Harris, Nea Patterson and Alta Layton.

Alta Layton, Gladys Burros, Renben Sandquist, Lorena Hoffman and Maybelle McLaughlin have been perfect every day in spelling.

Second Grade.
Frederick Hoagland, Robert Burroughs, Lawrence Koontz, Ralph Hanson, Byron Knox, Steen Magnus, John Nordstrom, Adraine Gardner, Erma Hodson, Donald Gidley, Tharald Conner, Emerson Neff, Thelma Black, Alice Franson, Duncan Dashney, Holt Bonebrake, Myrtle Conklyn, Walter Sneadon and Cecil Doll had perfect spelling lessons for the week.

The pupils made spelling booklets to take home the work of the week.

The pupils are studying the customs of the Eskimos—their homes, mode of travel, food and general habits. They are also learning an Eskimo song and poem.

Mrs. J. Dashney and son, William, and Mrs. Neff visited the room during the week.

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS

Semester examinations will be given in Marshfield schools January 29, 30 and 31, beginning on the afternoon of the first day mentioned.

Classes for beginners will be organized on Monday, February 3. Children who are six years of age are permitted to enter.

The distinction of being "honorary" in the semester's work is certainly worth striving for, but let parents not ride the device too hard. Some good students have been known to take the examinations in order to increase their standings. There is really value in taking examinations. Some of our most useful citizens were not in the high mark class in school. The real question is, "Has the pupil done his level best?" If he has, that is good enough.

Dr. J. T. McCormac has sent the pupils of the school a large collection of views of scenes in and about Washington and Mount Vernon. They will stimulate interest in Washington's birthday.

The school is in receipt of samples of art work done in the Portland schools. They will be used for purposes of comparison and inspiration.

An effort is being made by the superintendents of the county to secure Dr. Shaffer of the University of Oregon for a series of lectures. It is practically certain that he will come to us in April.

TALKS ON ADVERTISING TO THE TIMES READERS

Every merchant and manufacturer, retailer and jobber desires to increase his volume of profitable trade. He (first) wishes to increase his number of Profitable Customers and (second) to make them Profitable.

Here is how I would suggest:
First—He should advertise in the mediums he knows will reach the class of purchasers who need and afford his goods. He must talk to them in a way they will quickly understand, then Appreciate and finally Act upon.

Second—in order to make his customers permanent he must live up to his Published Promises—in other words, Make Good.
Let us put it This Way: He must lay a Rock Foundation of Public Confidence for the Building of Permanent Success. Rather than speculating in the Shifting Sands of Broken Promises.
RALPH KAYE.

Don't forget W. O. W. Dance at Empire Saturday, Jan. 25. Alice H leaves Market street wharf 7:30 sharp. First class orchestra music.

W. R. Fox, 195 W. Washington St., Noblesville, Ind., says, "After suffering many months with kidney trouble, after trying other remedies and prescriptions, I purchased a box of Foley Kidney Pills which not only did me more good than any other remedies I ever used, but have positively set my kidneys right. Other members of my family have used them with similar results." Take at the first sign of kidney trouble. Sold by Lockhart & Parsons, The Busy Corner.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W, Notre Dame, Ind., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

LIBRARY NOTES.

The library needs more copies of Shakespeare's plays. The complete works in a single volume or copies of the plays in separate volumes would be very welcome. We would also like to ask again for school geographies and for copies of any of Miss Alcott's books, especially Jo's Boys.

Among the books received by the library are the Art Series by H. Will. The books of these series treat of great artists, sculptors and periods of art. A volume is generally devoted to each man. The merit of these works lies in the excellent reproductions of the chief works of the subject of the book. The print is large, the type good, the style so simple and untechnical that any one can read. Besides the text and illustrations the books also contain a list of the famous contemporaries of the artist, and a chronological outline of the chief events in his life.

Take for example the life of Millet. It contains a collection of 15 pictures by the artist, among which are The Man With the Hoe, The Sowers, The Angelus, and in addition to these a portrait of the artist. The interpretation which the author gives of The Man With the Hoe is different from that by Markham, in a poem of the same name. With each picture, which, by the way are made from carbon prints and are in brown and white, is a description of the coloring and an interpretation of the meaning of the costumes and backgrounds, etc.

Doing the same thing for literature as Miss Hurli does for pictures is Howell's Heroines of Fiction. To read a description of Elizabeth Bennet is to want to get hold as quickly as possible of that most charming of English classics, Pride and Prejudice. If you have already seen D'Arcy through his courtship once you are immediately inspired to read the book all over again because of the delightful gossip you have read with Mr. Howells about it.

"Power through Repose," is one of the newly received books at the library. It concerns itself with the business of life, especially the life of women, more of a joy and less of strain. Most people try so hard to do everything well that they constantly hit above the center. A little more ease, letting go and don't-care-how-it-turns-out would better living. To bring this about is a matter of mind control and through it of the muscles. Such is the teaching of this book. It is not the propaganda of any sect. Suggestive and stimulating, it arouses serious thought and by its simplicity and truth has already done untold good. Of this book William James says in his essay on relaxation, "And, better still than that, because more radical and general, is the gospel of relaxation, as one may call it, preached by Miss Annie Payson Call of Boston, in her admirable little volume called 'Power Through Repose,' a book that ought to be in the hands of every teacher and student in America of either sex."

Kindred to "Power Through Repose" is the great psychologist's "Talks to Teachers on Psychology; and to Students on Some of Life's Ideals."

The essay on Relaxation from which the extract about Miss Call's book was taken is included in this book. The title seems to limit the class of readers, but so plain and clear is the language, so general and applicable the philosophy that anyone from groceryman, butcher and candlestick maker to doctor, lawyer, merchant, or chief, might read it with pleasure.

A dance will be given by the Bridge Whist club before long for the benefit of the library. The patronesses will be Mrs. W. S. Chandler, Mrs. Herbert Lockhart, Mrs. J. W. Bennett, Mrs. L. J. Simpson, Mrs. C. M. Byler, Mrs. Ward M. Blake, Mrs. H. S. Tower, Mrs. E. G. Perham, Mrs. Wilson Kaufman, Mrs. W. S. Turpen, Mrs. W. A. Toye, Mrs. J. A. Matson, Mrs. Wm. Horsfall, Jr., Mrs. E. G. Flanagan, Mrs. B. M. Richardson, Mrs. E. K. Jones, Mrs. J. S. Coke, Mrs. J. H. Flanagan, Mrs. W. T. Merchant.

R. H. Corey has given the library a complete set of the proceedings of the American Society of Civil Engineers for 1910, 1911 and 1912. In November, 1910, is an article on the bar at the entrance to Coos Bay. Other articles worthy of note are Forest Influence on Flow of Streams, Reinforced Concrete Buildings, Bridges, etc., Street Pavements, Preservation of Wood for Piling, Paving Blocks, etc.

Mr. Corey, who helped to make the engineering index for the Portland Library association, is going to help index the proceedings for the library here.
