

Eighth Grade Graduates Attention.

Do you want to knock your career on the head as men tell you to do with an axe? Simply accept some trivial employment when you finish grammar school.

This is a difficult, mysterious age. Becoming more and more difficult each year. It is without hope for the untrained apprentice, who must put in his best years for development pattering in a trifling job; and who almost without exception remains stationary, unwarded—his life dedicated to mediocrity—confined within a small orbit without hope of escape.

At the same time, however, a little training COMPELS SUCCESS. Real business efficiency training, for instance, brings you in touch, at once, with things worth while; and fits you for positions of trust and responsibility.

Preparedness is the key that unlocks the doors of opportunity. This is your time to choose. We have made it easy for you. May you choose wisely, as your future happiness is at stake.

The Coming Musician

—BY— BOB STANLEY

My neighbor's musically inclined. I often wonder when he's dined for every time I have a meal, I hear his little cornet squeal. He's learning how to play a horn, and practices from night till morn, because he works most of the day and therefore does not get to play much of the time save in the night.

But, still, my neighbor, I forgive for his sole thought is but to live to spread sweet music through the land, and maybe own some mighty band. He doesn't mean to do me harm nor fill my sleep with wild alarm.
