CUT OF LUMBER IN THE NATIONAL AREA INCREASES

16,500,000 More Board Feet Cut During Last Six Months of 1912 Than for 1911.

A report showing that more than 16,500,000 board feet of timber was cut during the last six months of 1912 over the amount cut during the corresponding period of the previous year has been completed by the officials of the United States forestry service.

These, however, include only the large transactions. By far the greatest number of sales were made in small amounts to homesteaders and ranchers for domestic use.

During the fiscal year that ended June 30, 1912, the total number of national forest sales was 656. Eighty-five per cent of these, however, were sales of 100 or less.

Final agreement for the sale of 58,800,000 feet, board measure, was approved last month, to the Whitman Lumber Company of Baker.

The largest amount of timber now being advertised for bids lies on the Row River watershed, east of Cottage Grove, within the Umpqua national forest.

The second largest logging chance now being advertised consists of 72,000,000 board feet situated on the Burnt River watershed near Whitney, on the Sumpter Valley railroad.

Other Sales Pending. A number of recent applications have been made for timber amounts varying from 5,000,000 to 40,000,000 board feet, all of which are soon to be advertised for competitive bids.

Only mature timber is sold from the National forests and in making the sales sufficient timber is reserved for the needs of local settlers and those dependent on the national forests for their supply.

The present law provides that 25 per cent of the receipts from National forest timber sales and other revenues from the National forests shall go to the county in which the National forest is located for the road and school fund and an additional 10 per cent for the improvement of the main highways.

TELLS OTHER SIDE OF CASE

J. O. Stemmler Makes Statement About Burr Larceny Trial at Myrtle Point.

Editor Coos Bay Times: We observe in the issue of your paper of the 7th, instant, an interview purporting to have been with Mr. John D. Goss, relative to the arrest and binding over to the grand jury of Messrs. James Brock and A. S. Riggs,—and assuming that it is your aim to publish facts only, we take this means of correcting a false impression left in the article.

Mr. Goss is reported as branding this affair as an outrage, and if the undisputed evidence as given by several witnesses upon the examination, is true, every fair minded man would fully agree that the affair was an outrage.

The facts, as testified to, were about as follows: Mr. Walls had purchased of Willet & Burr, a tent, tools and provisions to the amount of $230.00, and had cleared something over two acres of land for them for which they had agreed to pay him $100.00 per acre, and to furnish him, monthly, the engineer's report showing the amount due him for work.

One day, the 25th day of January, last, Mr. Riggs notified him that unless he turned his tent, tools and provisions over to the company, he would be arrested and sent to the penitentiary, whereupon he went to Coquille and conferred with Mr. Liljeqvist, to learn from him what his legal rights were, and while thus absent, the defendant's cut the tent about the lock, tore it down and took it, together with all his tools, provisions, and some other property he had purchased from other parties, and moved them away to their own store houses, and upon demand made upon Mr. Burr, a return of the stug was refused.

None of these facts were denied by the defendants or by anybody else, and Mr. Liljeqvist was of the opinion, and so advised, that this constituted larceny, and it was upon this state of facts that the defendants were arrested and bound over, and the Justice of the Peace could not, without having violated his oath of office, have done otherwise.

So far as our conduct of this case is concerned, we have no excuses or apologies to offer, as it is, at best, most distasteful to rush into the public press, there to try out legal issues, and we make this statement only in fairness to Justice Dodge, before whom the examination was held.

We will say further that Mr. Walls denies being an I. W. W., and says he does not belong to any labor union; but, were a man, because poor and friendless, denied the protection of the law, as Mr. Goss infers he should be, honest men would soon turn anarchists.

Let it be understood that in this communication, we make no accusations against any of the defendants, as they may be able, upon an introduction of their evidence in defense, to show that in their appropriation of this property, they were doing Mr. Walls a kindness, and that they are in no wise guilty of larceny, as charged; but as the evidence stands at the present moment, it would have been a miscarriage of justice and a prostitution of his office, for Justice Dodge to have done otherwise than as he did.

J. O. STEMMLER. A. H. BLATCHLEY.

DAIRYING IS GROWING.

Creamery Expend $4000 on Improvements Along Coquille. The Myrtle Point Enterprise says: Bert McCloskey, manager of the Norway creamery was a visitor to Myrtle Point the fore part of the week, and in answer to the query, how matters were generally, replied: "We are spending $2000 on an addition to our Norway plant for the making of cheese exclusively. We are also laying out a like amount on a new factory now being erected at Lee on the North Fork for the same purpose. We are installing the very latest machinery and providing every modern convenience for the converting of dairy products. Our Norway addition will have a 20,000 pound capacity, while at the Lee factory we can easily handle 10,000 pounds. Last year the Norway creamery made and marketed approximately 310,000 pounds of butter, most of which was disposed of at Portland and Seattle. The demand for dairy products made in this particular section far exceeds the supply, and farmers throughout the valley are turning their whole attention to dairying, realizing the great advantages and rich compensation this fertile valley offers and returns to those specializing in this branch of farm life."
