

George Washington's Birthday, February 22nd

It's a good thing for all of us, at certain times, to pay honor to the Nation's great men. We want our young people to feel the inspiration of such patriotism and devotion to great ideals as these men showed.

There's no better way to accomplish this than for all of us, business men, parents, teachers, to make a point of celebrating such days as Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays. It shows that we consider such men more than a mere historical name.

We can all be patriots such as they, even in our local affairs; it's nothing too small or unimportant to do in that spirit.

planning to begin suit against some Kentuck Inlet ranchers for money due him for dredging the inlet last year. They claimed first that he did not dredge it deep enough and he went back and did some more work and still they will not pay. The residents were to pay half and the county court half. The county court has informed John D. Goss, Mr. Larson's attorney, that it is ready to pay its half any time and now Mr. Goss will probably go ahead and sue the ranchers for the balance.

"But we must first see what it WILL DO for us."

Our machine is to be here about March 1st.

If it does not make good, we will sell it at cost and throw in the best agency agreement ever written.
