From My Mechanic, Harry,
You All Know Him

Portland, Ore., March 3, 1913.

E. Bandel,
Marshfield, Ore.

I just got off a Dayton motorcycle, and it is the best motorcycle I have ever been on. It is O. K. and no hill too steep.

the report giving her as one of the unsuccessful participants was erroneous.

Auto Speeding.—Marshal Carter has arrested D. L. Foote on the charge of exceeding the speed limits Saturday afternoon when he was taking a load of loggers to the North Bend celebration.

Meet Wednesday.—The Baptist Missionary society will hold a missionary meeting at the Baptist church Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. R. H. Corey as leader and Mrs. John Nagle as hostess.

Buy Store.—E. O. Hall, who has been in the real estate business in Marshfield has purchased the general merchandise store of Capt. W. C. Harris of Sumner and expects to move his family to their new home Wednesday.

Council Tonight.—The Marshfield city council will meet this evening to take up various matters. Among the things to come up are Terminal Railway-Southern Pacific franchise matter, the improvement of several streets and the permit for repairing the Doladson block.

Gets Gridiron Honor.—Gordon Rasmussen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Rasmussen of Marshfield, was one of the sixteen men who received the "Orange O." the honor bestowed on football players of the Oregon Agricultural College. The sweaters are high honors of the gridiron there.

Foreign Lumberman.—A. G. Van Eelde of Amsterdam and H. Doyer of The Hague are here to get ideas from the C. A. Smith mill and the Smith-Powers Company for a mill which a company they represent will put in on the Island of Java. They are to visit the Hammond company also before going to the Orient.

Bullet in Shoes.—George Rotnor received on Saturday a shipment of shoes from an eastern wholesale house. Three bullet holes were found in the box. One of the bullets lodged in the heel of one of the shoes. It is presumed that someone must have snoot into the freight car that carried the shoes across the continent.

Fine Hydroplane.—V. C. Gorst is planning to leave on the Redondo for San Diego to try out his new hydroplane. Mr. King may go with him. Edward Steele, who is now there, says the new hydroplane will beat anything ever turned out. Mr. Steele was formerly with Goodrum's garage here and may run the hydroplane for Gorst & King.

Took Calves.—Some time ago, Louis Nelson of South Marshfield took up some stray calves which came to his place. He tried to find the owner and advertised that he had them. Saturday afternoon while the family was away some one came and took the calves without notifying anyone or getting permission. Whether it was the owner or some one else he doesn't know but Marshal Carter and other officers have been notified and trouble may result for someone.

Narrow Escape.—Jas Watt, a well known Marshfield real estate man, yesterday narrowly escaped death by accidental poisoning. He was taking some medicine and reached up in the familiar shelf to get it and took a teaspoonful without noticing the vial. Instantly he discovered he had taken carbolic acid, and he rushed to Dr. Hayes' office and the latter phoned a physician. The latter gave him some instructions as to what to do until the physician could arrive. By this prompt aid, the poison was overcome and he will not sustain any permanent injury.

Auto Accident.—Guy Greenleaf, a driver for the Twin City Auto line, narrowly escaped death yesterday morning. He was taking Jo Winsor, Mr. Taylor and two others north and near the Porter bridge he met another auto. The coming auto was running about 40 miles per hour and instead of turning out for him, kept the middle of the road. He had turned to one side, but the first machine struck him and threw his auto over against the bridge railing. The railing smashed the windshield and damaged the front of the car. A watch in his vest pocket was broken and the key jammed into it, but luckily he escaped injury. The identity of the other auto has not been ascertained by Manager Kinney yet.
