A Quartet of Reasons For Electric Light

It is the cheapest light to use, the cleanest, most convenient, safest light. Another pair of reasons are—the comfort and satisfaction which comes of having the best—and—the atmosphere of cheer and happiness always found in the well lighted home.

Electric Light Is Economical

Tungsten (Mazda) electric lamps give nearly three times as much light as carbon incandescent lamps. They are practically as durable and have a burning life of 1500 hours.

HIGH SCHOOL
NOTES

HIGH SCHOOL.

Athletics.

Preparations are under way for the county High school track meet, which will be held in the early part of May. All the schools of the county will be entered and much competition is expected as no school seems to have a preponderance of point winners.

A great deal of local interest is being shown in track athletics. The Junior class having challenged the remainder of the High school for an interclass track meet. In this way it is hoped still more interest will be shown, and that some new material will be developed, which will be of value in the county meet.

History Notes.

The Senior class has completed the period extending from 1800 to the close of the Civil War, which includes the rise of the Democratic party, the great extension of territory, the slave debates in congress, and fight for power by the South, and culminating in the Civil War. Little note was taken of the actual war, further than cause and effects of successive campaigns.

Junior class in English history are studying the period of the first Hanovarian king, noting particularly the changes in the government due to a foreign line of kings, and the great benefits to England through constitutional changes.

The French Revolution has been the subject under discussion in the Sophomore class, and together with the text books, some collateral reading has been done describing more fully the condition of France during that period.

The closing day of the Roman republic and the life of Julius Caesar have been the sources of study in the Freshman class and a great deal of interest has been shown in this period and the life of one of the greatest if not the greatest personage of the Roman history. A short review will soon be completed and then will follow a study of the Empire.

Latin and German.
The Cicero class is reading the oration concerning "The Manilian Law."

Senior German is reading Schiller's "Die Jungfrau von Orleans."

The Junior German class is to have a conversation period, during which, two by two, they will talk German for the instruction and entertainment of the rest of the class.

In the near future the Latin classes are to have a "spell-down" in principal parts of verbs. (The reward for the champions has not yet been decided upon. All suggestions thankfully received.) The preliminary contests will be held in the various classes.

The Caesar class will take up the third Gallic campaign next week.

GENERAL SCHOOL NOTES.

Lists of books suitable for pupils of the several grades and procurable in the library, have been arranged by Miss Topping, the librarian. These will be posted in every grade room in the school and pupils will be encouraged to read by talks by librarian and teachers. Similar lists will be found in the library for use of pupils.

The Bandon Board of Education has invited Miss Elizabeth Moore of the Marshfield schools to come to their city and present the cause of domestic science and domestic art before a meeting of their Patrons and Teachers' association. If Bandon people have any scruples about getting enthusiastic on those subjects, they had better pay Miss Moore to stay away.

At the request of County Superintendent of Schools Baker the department of domestic science may attempt to make an exhibition of its work at the Myrtle Point fair this coming fall. He promises the necessary equipment for doing this. The department has replied favorably.

We read of quite a number of High school graduating classes that intend to use the money saved on the frills of commencement exercises to pay the expenses of the class to similar events in our colleges and universities or to other places of interest. Why isn't there some sense in the plan?

Rev. Mr. Haberly of the Bandon Board of Education was a visitor in the Marshfield schools this week.
