PORTERS MOVE THEIR OFFICE

Will Make Headquarters at Florence to be Nearer the Scene of Activities

EUGENE, March 17.—The Guard says: Porter Bros., railroad contractors, will close their office in the Hampton block in about a week and transact their business and forward their supplies through the Mapleton office, which will hereafter be the headquarters of the company in its construction work on the Eugene-Cos Bay line. The employees of the company who are now in Eugene will go to Mapleton. The workmen for the line will come through Eugene but that will not necessitate the keeping of an office in this city.

The bar at Florence has been so far improved that the steamer from Portland can be depended upon to make the regular weekly trip, and as water transportation is cheaper than land transportation, and the supplies can be brought to a point much nearer the work, they will be carried that way to the head of navigation on the Siuslaw, after which it will require but a short haul to get them to the camps.

Eight head of stock for Towhy Bros. and 20 head for Fuller & Bain, will arrive tomorrow and be sent at once to the camps on the Cos Bay line.

"Bole & Co. have only one camp at present, but they intend to establish another camp at Walker Creek as soon as they can get men.

Wilson was urged to recommend to a special session of congress action on such amendments but he told visitors he had not made up his mind on the woman's suffrage question.

Mrs. Ida Husted Harper, who spoke for the women, reminded the president that Mrs. Susan B. Anthony pleaded with Roosevelt that a similar futile appeal to recognize suffrage before he retired from office was made to Taft. "Almost a century ago the greatest step which has ever been taken by the Democratic party occurred with enfranchisement of the workingman. We ask that the Democratic party take another great step in giving the vote to women."

CONGRESS TO MEET APRIL 7

President Wilson Issues Proclamation for Special Session—Plans Message.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—President Wilson today issued the formal proclamation convening congress in extra session at noon, April 17.

The absence of any specific reason for calling an extra session is explained by the fact of Wilson's statement immediately after election in which he declared he would call an extra session to revise the tariff. President Wilson plans to point out specifically his wishes for an extra session in his first message, now in preparation. The general belief is that the entire message will be given over to a discussion of that subject, with the exception of the last paragraph or two, which will call attention to the need of new currency legislation.

The tariff plan is to be submitted first to a caucus and then directly to the House by the Ways and Means Committee which today began taking up the administration features of the new tariff. The plans will be in such a condition that whatever form of revision the caucus determines upon, it can be reported immediately out of the committee and the whole tariff discussion formally opened up in the House without delay.
