GREEN STUFF IS ON MARKET

CALIFORNIA SUPPLYING FRESH GARDEN STUFF—EGGS AND BUTTER CHEAP IN PORTLAND.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 17—The Telegram says:

"New green stuff from the gardens of the coast country now is more in ago, and with the spring season well on the markets within a little while will be loaded with all manner of fresh produce. For the time the earliest of the spring offerings come from California, and for that reason are selling at rather high prices, but from this time on the drift will be downward.

Asparagus of fine quality now is available at the retail stores at 15 to 20 cents a pound and green peas from the south are going at 30 cents. Beans at the same time are to be had in a small way at 35 cents and cucumbers are obtainable at a quarter apiece. New rhubarb is much more plentiful that it was a week ago and is retailing at 10 to 20 cents a pound, according to the size and quality. Artichokes hold at 15 cents apiece and Mexican tomatoes are retailing at 20 cents a pound. The staple vegetables, such as celery, cauliflower and cabbage, are selling at last week's prices.

In the fruit market this week there is nothing distinctly new, but it will interest householders to know that apples of all sorts are still selling at the lowest prices known in the local market in years. The apple-selling campaign of a week ago aroused general interest in and materially increased the local sale of the fruit, but with further arrivals from many of the orchard districts of the Northwest the supply of the fruit now is apparently as big as ever and prices remain just where they were before the campaign was started. Good apples are to be had at prices from $1 a box up.

Fine Florida grapefruit now is among the prominent features in the fruit displays. The large sizes are going at 15 cents apiece and the mediums at 10 to 12 1-2 cents. Oranges are firmly held and dealers say the prospect is for higher rather than lower prices as the season advances. The best now retail at 50 to 60 cents a dozen.

Last week's prices hold on practically everything in the poultry line. Best hens are retailing at 25 cents a pound and broilers and fryers are reported scarce and firm at 30 to 35 cents. Dressed ducks and turkeys are going at 30 cents. The market for the time is all but bare of geese.

In the fish market there is a greater variety than usual from which selections can be made, and prices there range from 2 1-2 to 25 cents a pound. Smelt is still the cheap feature, retailing at 10 pounds for a quarter. Chinook salmon holds at 20 cents a pound, while the steelhead variety is going at 15. Halibut and sole are selling at 10 cents a pound. Sea perch and black cod are available at two pounds for a quarter, while catfish, sturgeon and croppies are going at the rate of two pounds for 35 cents. Flounders and herring are held at three pounds for 25 cents, lake whitefish at 20 cents a pound and salmon trout at 25. Shrimp retail at 15 cents a pound, crabs at 10 to 20 cents apiece and razor clams at two dozen for a quarter.

The egg market for a week has been working steadily down and now is believed to have about reached the low level for the season. Fresh locals are retailing at 25 cents a dozen, or two dozen for 45 cents, and in some cases dealers are offering what they declare are good eggs at 20 cents.

Best butter holds at last week's quotation, 45 cents a pound.

COOS BAYITES MOVE NORTH

A Number Start for the Alberta and Manitoba Country.

The following letter contains news that will be of interest to many Coos Bay friends of the parties mentioned. Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Higginson formerly resided on a ranch on Catching Inlet and are now on their way to Red Deer, Alberta, where Mr. Higginson is superintending the construction of a new saw mill. At Burton, Washington, they are visiting Mrs. Higginson's sister, Mrs. Hunt, who will be pleasantly remembered here, having made extended visits to Coos Bay. Editor Times:

A party of five left Marshfield on the Breakwater, March 8, for different points north. Everything on board of steamer seemed to be pleasant and sunny as we left Marshfield, people on shore were bidding good-bye to those on deck. Coos Bay bar was smooth, even doors and windows of state-rooms were left open, while we crossed over, but the scene changes as we sail outside to the deeper waters of the Pacific. One by one the passengers began to disappear and as the steamer plys her way through the choppy waters, a person could easily count those on deck and by dinner time only 10 or 15 partook of the sumptuous meal.

We were told that the wind blew at the rate of 90 miles an hour, but after leaving Astoria and getting to the Columbia, people began to appear again, some showing signs of distress, but the change from the ocean to the smooth waters of the Columbia was indeed a welcome state of affairs. We arrived at Portland Sunday at 3:30 p. m.

Here we parted with Mrs. James McIntosh and her brother, Will Major, who are on their way to Manitoba, another one of the party left next morning for Spokane, and the remaining two for Tacoma. We arrived in time to catch the steamer going to Burton and took Mrs. Hunt completely by surprise, as she was not expecting us until the next day. We will visit here and "take life easy" for a few weeks, then proceed on our northward journey. MRS. THOS. HIGGINSON.

BOOM AT FLORENCE.

Many People Brought There by the Porters Starting Mill.

The Eugene Guard says W. H. O'Kelley arrived home last night from Florence, where he has been looking after the starting of work on a residence for himself and one for A. Pihlgren, who is associated with him. They will also build several small bungalows for rent. Mr. O'Kelley says the report that he intends to build a 40-room hotel is incorrect, but there is a move on foot to erect such a building, perhaps this year. If it is built it will be financed by a company, consisting of members of the firm of Porter Bros. and other prominent property owners in that part of the state.

Mr. O'Kelley says that Florence has a very lively appearance. New people are coming in on every stage, and on every boat, and the streets are thronged with strangers looking for rooms and houses to rent. Porter Bros., who are now operating the sawmill there, are bringing in a large number of families, and they all need houses in which to live, but there are few vacant buildings.

The city council of Florence, at its last meeting, provided for the building of a public dock and warehouse, and it is expected that an election will be ordered in the near future to vote upon the proposition of issuing bonds with which to install a system of waterworks, the water to be brought down from one of the lakes above the city.

The big sawmill is turning out lumber in large quantities and the machinery appears to be working smoothly. The capacity of the mill is between 130,000 and 150,000 feet a day.

SPECIAL ROAD TAXES.

Douglas County Commissioners Decide to Let Them Wait.

The Roseburg Review says: Altering their original decision of ten days ago, the county court has come to the final conclusion that the taxpayers of Douglas county need not pay their special road taxes for this year unless they wish to. It was the court's plan at first to compel everyone affected to pay their special road taxes and then refund them if the county lost its threatened lawsuit with the Weyerhaeuser Timber Co. to test the validity of the levies. It is now the plan to leave the payment of the special taxes to the option of the taxpayers. If the county wins the lawsuit, which may not be settled during the present year, the special road taxes that should have been liquidated this year will be collectible in 1914. Should the county lose, it will refund what will have been paid in on that item. The court's order dealing with this matter affects $72,000 in road moneys.
