BREAKWATER IN ON SATURDAY

Vessel Delayed at Portland by Repairs; Will Sail Sunday—5-Day Schedule.

The Breakwater will not arrive tomorrow morning from Portland, having been delayed at the Rose City until last evening by repair work. She crossed out at Astoria this morning in consequence of the delay, she will not sail from here until Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

It was planned to have her go on drydock at Portland next Monday but in consequence of the delay, this will be postponed until Monday, March 31. Supt. Miller will go north with her then.

The Breakwater will have 106 passengers and 425 tons of freight coming.

At noon today, all of the first class berths had been sold and it was expected that passengers would be turned away tonight.

On the trip a week ago, passengers were also turned away.

Supt. Miller has not made up his mind yet about putting the Breakwater on the five-day schedule and may wait until May 1 before doing so.

Captain Macgett says that the extremely low tides this summer will make it very difficult for him in keeping up the five-day schedule and incidentally will make the shoals in the lower Bay unusually troublesome.

You will find the CHEAPEST PRICES AND BEST STYLES AT THE VOGUE MILLINERY, North Bend.

LEAVE TODAY ON ALLIANCE

Steamer Sails This Morning For Eureka—Will Sail on Monday for Portland.

The Alliance sailed this morning for Eureka with a good list of passengers and a good cargo of freight. She will probably reach here late Sunday or Monday morning and will sail at noon Monday for Portland.

Among those sailing for Eureka on the Alliance were the following: E. M. Crawford, J. A. Bowe, L. Johnson, Mrs. T. A. Denmore, T. A. Denmore, Paul Soule, Mrs. Ashton, W. G. Eggleston and Herman Ayres.

Along the Waterfront.

The steamer Rainbow, which was sunk in North Coos River the first of the week by a snag, was raised yesterday and a hole was located under her bow. This was patched and she will be towed to Porter this afternoon, where she will go on the ways for repairs.

The Gleaner came in from Gardiner yesterday to take back general merchandise. Before leaving there, she towed the Louise, drawing about fourteen feet of water, to sea.

The Washington is expected in tomorrow or next day from San Francisco.

The Redondo is due to sail from here March 29 for San Francisco. She will leave San Francisco for here next Tuesday.

The Rustler is loading for the Stuslaw. She just returned from Gold Beach.

PLAN TO BUILD SEVERAL HOMES

Syndicate Purchases Tract in First Addition for Homes—Several Building.

Recently a syndicate of ten persons bought five acres of land in First Addition to Marshfield along Minnesota avenue from the Reynolds Development Company. Following are the names of the buyers: Matt Rankilla, Sam Holms, John Williams, Edward Johnson, Henry Hyrkas, Manni Pyhtila, Fannie Jarvinen, August Hendrickson, Creta Lindblad and W. V. Manning. About one-half the tract is hill land and one-half is bottom land. The buyers will plat into twenty quarter-acre lots, each person selecting one lot on the hill and one on the bottom.

Three houses have been put on the land already by August Hendrickson, Mr. Jarvinen and Henry Hyrkas. Messrs. Holms, Williams and Rankilla will commence building next week, and Mr. Johnson will build a little later.

Since the above purchase was made, Emil Lind purchased one and one-half acre just east of the above five acres and will soon commence building a home there. Mr. Lind is a recent arrival from Portland.

John H. Mattie from Portland, who recently visited on the Bay, bought a piece of acreage just east of Mr. Lind's purchase. Mr. Mattie expects to return soon and make this place his home.

AUTO SHIPMENT BREAKS RECORD

Car Load of Ford Cars Will Arrive on Breakwater in Morning.

When the steamer Breakwater arrives tomorrow morning it will break a double record. It will bring the largest shipment of automobiles ever brought to Coos County at one time, and also the largest shipment ever consigned to one individual in Coos County. The shipment consists of eight Ford cars and comes consigned to George Goodrum.

"Every one of these cars has been sold," remarked Mr. Goodrum today, "and will be delivered immediately on arrival. In fact," he continued, "I have sold already my entire allotment of Ford cars and as soon as I make delivery of these I will go to Portland to have a conference with a factory representative and try and have my allotment increased. It is not a question of selling Ford cars, it is a question of getting them from the factory. I have been telling Coos County people that delay in ordering might result in disappointment. That is the present condition. I will make this coming trip for the purpose of inducing the factory to make some increase in the number of cars they will furnish this section."

"The demand for the Ford is constantly increasing. Every car sold helps to sell others because of its superiority in service and satisfaction. I feel sure the placing of these eight cars will result in a demand for several others."

If the weather permits Mr. Goodrum expects to have a Ford parade on the arrival of the Breakwater tomorrow to celebrate the largest auto shipment ever received on Coos Bay.

R. J. COKE IS VISITING HERE

FORMER COOS BAY MAN TELLS ABOUT LOS ANGELES—EXPECTS MARKED DEVELOPMENT IN COOS COUNTY SOON.

R. J. Coke of Los Angeles, who brought his father's remains here for interment at the Dora cemetery, has just returned from McKinley and Fairview, where he spent a few days with relatives and friends after the funeral.

Mr. Coke is loud in his praise of the southern city and says the climate is just like up Coos River in the good old summer time. Mrs. Coke's health is much improved since they located in that part. Their son, Ralph, has been making himself useful as a grocery clerk and solicitor for about a year, but lately accepted a better position as assistant bookkeeper to the head credit man at Bullock's Department Store, a large establishment on Broadway, with 1200 employees.

Coos County still looks good to Mr. Coke and he says he can see a great future for everything on Coos Bay. He will visit his mother and brothers here and spend a few days with his daughter, Maude, and Dr. Bartle, her husband, at North Bend, before returning to his home by the steamer Speedwell or Redondo.

Mr. Coke has been boosting Coos Bay in Los Angeles and will probably take back some booster literature to distribute there.

BAND BOYS' BIG SHOW.

(By the Press Agent)

The rehearsals for the Band Boys' Big "Night of Laughs," which will be given Wednesday and Thursday, March 26 and 27, are going on night and day, and they claim everything promises to make this the best production ever staged on a local stage. All the latest songs of the day will be introduced. Fletcher will make his greatest hit in a splitting character song, "Throwing Air Balloons at the Monkeys in the Park."

Billie Smith, the sweet voiced tenor will treat the audience with "I were Caruso, I'd Be a Shining Star."

Fred Wilson has missed several rehearsals. Fred's nerves are terribly shattered. He is trying to cover from a strange dream. It was one of the most blood curdling ever to be imagined. He asked the writer not to say anything about it in the paper and he would put it in his monologue the night of the show.

Nevertheless, the band boys are enthusiastic over the great success so far, and every body is working hard so that he will be the leading light of the evening.

A. H. Dixon is preparing a monologue, entitled, "When You're Angry, Count Twenty Before You Speak to a Big Man." But he is a consumptive, with one lung, and speak at all—speak him.

Vince Pratt will hold you spellbound while he renders the beautiful little ballad, "There is No Insurance Against the Flames of a Woman's Eye."

Truck will tickle your funny bone with his character song and dance, "An Egg Has a Hidden Meaning."

Space forbids us saying any more at this time.

"BUT DON'T FORGET THE TICKETS" are on sale at the Busy Corner. Be on hand and get your seats early, as they will go fast.

Au revoir! Will see you at the 26th and 27th of March at the Music Opera House, Marshfield, Oregon. W. A.
