

HORTON WRITES ABOUT STORM

Former Marshfield Man Sends Interesting Epistle to Senator Smith.

Senator I. S. Smith has just received a letter from M. C. Horton, formerly of Marshfield, but now of Poplar Bluff, Mo., which will be of interest to the many Coos Bay friends of the Horton family. Mr. Horton is now head of the Bank of Poplar Bluff, which has $611,004.30 deposits and surplus and profits of $65,253.09 and a capital of $100,000. In his letter to Mr. Smith, Mr. Horton says:

"Your kind letter of inquiry as to the effect of the storm on my family and myself received.

"I am sure you have learned ere this that ever since Wilson was inaugurated things have been greatly exaggerated, and while we may feel that we should hold the present administration responsible for all of the calamities visited upon us during the incumbency in office of the party in power, we must remember that the associated press is under the domination of the Republicans, the 'interests' and the Bull Mooses and should throw the mantle of charity over Woodrow and his fellow conspirators, consider the source of these enlarmatous reports and be skeptics until we are 'shown'."

"No, we had quite a tornado but the main force of it did not hit the city, and while considerable property was damaged, there was no loss of life. Am indeed pleased to learn that prospects are so bright for Coos Bay. I take the daily Times and read each issue with interest and keep pretty well posted on the local news. Please accept my congratulations on your fine record as state senator and would judge from the cordial reception tendered you on your return that you received the enenium 'Well done.' Part of the family are at school and the rest of us are boarding as we have not gone to housekeeping since our return, but expect to be settled in our own home in a few months."

"We often think and speak of our Marshfield friends and hope to see them again sometime, if only for a visit."

"Mrs. Horton joins me in kind personal regards to yourself and family."

PARENTS WERE MAROONED.

Dorsey Kreitzer's Father and Mother Kept on Top Floor of Home 3 Days

Dorsey Kreitzer yesterday received a letter from Thayer Grimes, now at Cincinnati, saying he had just returned from Dayton, Ohio, where he went to see if he could not be of assistance to Mr. Kreitzer's parents. Mr. Grimes says that the Dayton flood was just as bad as portrayed, with the exception that the loss of life and the fire was not as disastrous as were first feared.

Mr. Grimes says that Mr. Kreitzer's parents were marooned from Tuesday until Friday in the second floor of their home, no one being able to reach them. Although the shock was hard on them, they are now safely located at the home of a daughter in Dayton. The Kreitzer home is within a few blocks of the business district and the water was within a few inches of the second floor.

The flood descended on Dayton as a perfect wall of water when the big levee broke, there being no warning, or opportunity to escape from it.

Warren Bachtel, formerly of Marshfield, but who is now located in Alabama, has sent papers to Marshfield friends giving all the details of the flood situation back there, indicating that Coos Bay has raised another notch in Mr. Bachtel's esti-

TO WED HERE THIS EVENING

Marriage of Miss Eugenia Schilling and Ray B. Dement in Marshfield.

Miss Eugenia Schilling and Ray B. Dement, both of Myrtle Point, will be quietly married here this evening. Only immediate relatives will be in attendance, the ceremony taking place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Murphy, uncle and aunt of the bride, on North Broadway, at 8 o'clock.

Miss Schilling is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Schilling, formerly residents of Marshfield but now of Myrtle Point. She was born and reared on Coos Bay and has spent most of her life in Marshfield and has won for herself a host of friends here.

Mr. Dement is the son of Russell Dement, the well known Myrtle Point capitalist. He has charge of a large stock ranch on the upper Coquille where he and his bride will reside. He is a member of the Marshfield Lodge of Elks and one of the most prominent young men of Myrtle Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Dement will leave tomorrow morning overland on their honeymoon trip which will embrace most of the cities on the coast.

Scores of friends in Marshfield will unite in extending best wishes.

Information in contrast to that stricken section.

Fred Backman has just received a letter from his mother telling of the flood situation in Indiana. She says it beggars description and declares that everyone is aiding in the relief work.

AMONG THE SICK.

Harry Boone, of Sumner who was critically ill at his home in Sumner last night, is reported improved today.

Mrs. Fred Messerle is reported being quite ill at her home on Catching Inlet.

James Tracey, engineer of Smith-Powers camp, Bunker Hill, who has been suffering from a severe attack of quinsy, will have a minor operation on his throat this afternoon.

Rev. Father Springer of North Bend is confined to his home from grip.

Miss Julia Holmes, who has been ill for some time, was reported in a rather serious condition yesterday.

NORTH BEND NOTES.

Mayor L. J. Simpson returned from San Francisco on the A. M. Simpson yesterday.

Mrs. C. H. Worrel returned yesterday from a week's visit with her sister, Mrs. E. W. Fahy, at Bullards.

Mrs. Mary Thompson spent Sunday with Mrs. George Bolster.

The Van Zile gasoline launch will leave at 6 p. m. Wednesday for Mosier Chapel on Coos River with the contestants for the Demorest gold and silver medals. The Millicoma will carry a crowd from Sumner and the Sunrise will gather a crowd from Upper Coos River.

PORTLAND—Louis Graf, son of a wealthy tobacco dealer at Tampa, Fla., and Miss Charlotte Fisher, the daughter of a well known railroad man, were married by Judge A. B. Treadwell. The parents of the young couple were not notified of the event until it had taken place.

EGG RECORDS OF COOS BAY HENS

Some More Interesting Statistics Concerning Poultry Production.

The recent publication in The Times of egg-laying records has developed into an interesting contest among the poultry raisers. The Times published a number Saturday and since then two more have arrived. This paper would be pleased to hear from owners of other hens with records. The following are the last that have been received.

Hens Average 21 Eggs in March.
Rev. Z. O. Doward reports a rather remarkable record from his 16 hens during the month of March when the production reached the high-water mark, or rather the high egg mark of 336 eggs, an average of 21 per hen. These layers are White Leghorns and White Wyandottes.

Ancona Pullets Production.
Marshfield, Or., April 6, 1913.

Editor Times:
I have noticed several egg records in your paper of late so I will send you a record of my 12 Ancona pullets and one hen. The pullets began to lay in October. I began to trapnest them on November 1. In November they laid 181 eggs. In December 198. In January 201. In February 287. In March 303, and up to this evening, April 6, they have laid 50 eggs.

Yours respectfully,
J. T. ARCHAMBEAU.

MORE EGG RECORDS.

Editor Times:
I notice in your paper two egg records which are very good, but will tell you of a better one. John T. Olsen, on Kentuck Slough, has 51 white Leghorns and for the month of March collected 1278 eggs, or 104 1/2 dozen, making an average of a little better than 25 eggs.

Tuesday, April 2, they got 49 eggs, although two hens are now brooding.

Yours truly,
LOUIS CARLSEN,
North Bend.

COOS RIVER EGGS.

Mrs. W. B. Piper of North Coos River is another aspirant for the poultry record. She has a flock of fifty-five hens and during the month of March, she received 1186 eggs from them. They are the White Leghorn variety and she says the record they made is a third greater than the one made by the Barzee poultry.

"Sairey Gamp"—A Hen That Has Laid 217 Eggs in a Year.

In the poultry department of the current issue of Farm and Fireside appears an account of "Sairey Gamp," a hen famous for her steady production of eggs. Following is an extract from the article:

"Sairey Gamp" last year, in her third year of production, laid two hundred and seventeen eggs distributed by months as follows:
January 8
February 23
March 23
April 23
May 28
June 22
July 18
August 17
September 14
October 22
November 18
December 5

Total 217
As this is written, 'Sairey Gamp' has practically completed her molt and looks promising for her fourth year's work. She is as sprightly and vigorous as a pullet.

"Her exact production in her pullet and second years was not recorded, but she has probably laid more than six hundred eggs, perfectly shelled and of normal size, during her three years of production."

"This hen has each season laid steadily up to about December before molting, then rapidly grows new feathers and is again on the egg job. 'Sairey Gamp' has a direct line of descent from the Maine Experiment Station stock bred by Professor Gowd during his famous breeding experiments conducted several years ago."

How to Double Your Egg Production.

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside, a contributor says that poultry-raisers can practically double their egg production if they persistently use the trap-nest. Following is an extract from his article:

"For the benefit of those who are not acquainted with the trap-nest I will explain in detail its purpose. The trapnest is a nest so contrived

FARM HAS 5000 SKUNKS

Klamath Enterprise Sells Pelts That Command $3 to $5 Each.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., April 7.

A skunk farm is not entirely a new thing, but it is new to this region. Alex and Robert Cheyene have one a few miles from here, and have been selling the skins during the past six months, bringing in three wagon loads in that time. The prices range from $3 to $5 each for good pelts, and the boys estimate they have 5000 growing now. No outsider has dared go close enough to dispute their word as to the number.

They keep them in a wire mesh enclosure, the lower edge of the fence being buried deep enough to prevent their burrowing under. They are fed on jack rabbits and mud hens, and refuse meats bought at the butcher shops.

ALIEN LAND LAW.

President Wilson Investigating the California Legislation.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 7.—President Wilson took up today the formal protest by the Japanese government against the alien land act pending in the California legislature. He arranged to meet Senator Works of California, to learn the status of the bill and sought information from Secretary Lane of the Interior department, who is a native of California.

"THE HINDO DOCTOR"

Dear Girls:

THIS morning we received quite a lot of answers to our conundrum, "WHY ARE BRADLEY CANDIES LIKE LITTLE GIRLS?"—all of them very nice and complimentary—but none of them correct. Now, we want to give 25 boxes of candy and we want 25 correct answers, so we are going to give you another chance and extend the time until Thursday. Think of all the rhymes and jingles you ever heard, and get Mamma and Papa to help you, and you will surely hit the right answer. You will KNOW when you get it right.
