ISSUE BONDS IN NORTH BEND

Special Election April 29—Mayor Simpson Promises Big Developments.

A special election in North Bend to vote a $35,000 bond issue to pay outstanding warrants and to validate warrants issued prior to February 3, 1913, in excess of the charter limits, was called by the North Bend city council last evening. The bonds are to be floated for a period of twenty years and to bear not more than six per cent interest.

Mayor Simpson was present last evening and following the completion of the routine proceedings made a little talk to the council. He declared that everything looked mighty good for North Bend and Coos Bay. He said that while he had been absent long enough to lose his office had the council been inclined to oust him, still he said the council and citizens of North Bend would soon be glad, when they see what will take place, that he was away. He said that the developments that will take place will more than pay for his absence, indicating that he had been working while away on important matters for North Bend.

Mr. Simpson also stated that today he would confer with the Southern Pacific engineers relative to the grades in North Bend and said that just as soon as something definite could be agreed upon, a special meeting of the council would probably be called to approve it.

The grade in Sutherland street from Ohio to State in Plat B was ordered established to permit some of the property owners there to erect new homes. The street will probably be improved late this summer.

The engineer was also instructed to establish grades on Liberty street from Maine to Ohio and on Union from Oregon to Maryland.

The mayor and recorder were authorized to issue duplicate warrants for about $250 to the Oregon Power company, the original warrants having been lost, somehow.

The quarterly reports of the treasurer, recorder, police judge and wharfinger were approved, and the current bills allowed.

In his talk to the North Bend council last evening, Mayor Simpson said that the day that North Bend was having the big celebration and the

CONFESSES TO MARKET THEFT

Clarence Lewis Admits North Bend Robberies—Says He Was Drunk.

Clarence Lewis was yesterday afternoon bound over to the grand jury by Justice Shuster, of North Bend, on the charge of robbing the Rock meat market there the night before last. His bond was fixed at $1000 and was furnished by his mother and two uncles, Ed and John Thomas, the latter being known as "Kentuck," being half-breed Indians.

Lewis has made a confession to Constable R. E. Emory, admitting his guilt in the Rock and Fourier cases. He says he was drunk and broke and wanted some cash. Lewis is about 25 years old and last year conducted a ranch on Kentuck inlet belonging to his mother. Mrs. Lewis is quite well to do, having about $10,000 worth of property in North Bend, in addition to the Kentuck inlet ranch. She receives a pension of $12 per month.

CURRY COUNTY FOR GOOD ROADS

BIG BOOSTER MEETING HELD AT WEDDERBURN—OTHER LATE NEWS FROM OUR SOUTHERN NEIGHBOR.

(Special to The Times)

WEDDERBURN, Or., April 9.—The regular meeting of the Curry County Commercial Club held in the parlors of the Bay View Hotel in Wedderburn this week, was turned into a "Good Roads Booster Meeting." A banquet was spread for 50 and 60 were present since the ladies are taken into full membership of the club. Roderick L. Macleay, of Portland, and all the members of the county court, as well as all the road supervisors of the county were the guests of the evening. Every phase of the road question for Curry county was discussed and action planned which will certainly change the conditions of the roads here in the near future. A resolution was unanimously passed requesting the county court to order the survey of a wagon road up Rogue river to the county line to meet a like road from Grants Pass in Josephine county, and each member of the court present placed himself on record as being in favor of such survey, but it will not be ordered until the State Highway Engineer is appointed and called in for consultation.

It was also the unanimous sentiment of all present to call a special election at the earliest possible date and vote Curry county's limit of a bond issue under the state law for improvements of her roads. This will mean $80,000 and possibly $90,000 under the coming assessment.

The peculiar situation of Curry county, its isolation, and the fact that five-ninths of its area is in the Forest Reserve, was thereby canvassed, and a committee appointed to take this matter up with the State Highway Commission and the Federal Government, and with a request for aid from the Forest Service and the State. Roderick L. Macleay was appointed chairman of this committee, and he will interview Gov. West, and perhaps make a trip to Washington, D. C. Curry county is the only county in the state with so large a part of its area in the Forest Reserve and therefore non-taxable, and should be entitled to some relief in its road building on this account.

TO GET EGGS AT HIGH PRICES

P. N. Flagg Claims Record for His Hens When Prices of Product Were High.

Editor Times:

I have read with interest the various egg records printed in your valuable paper lately, and would like you to print the following, which is a record of my hens "doings" the past winter:

The lowliest dunghill fowl will lay a few eggs during March, April, May and June, but it takes hens with some merit to lay when eggs sell at a nickel apiece. While I do not claim a record for March, I fully believe I have a record for November, December, January and February, 1912-13. During those four months my 16 Buff Orpington hens laid 1243 eggs, an average of 313 per month, or nearly 20 eggs each, per month. This is not all. During October, November and December, while eggs were at their highest averaging 57 1/2c per dozen, I collected 55 dozen eggs (from these 16 hens, or a value of $31.62. My total expenses, exclusive of my time, were $12.68, leaving a net profit of $18.94 for three months, from 16 hens.

Respectfully submitted,
PHIL N. FLAGG.

Mr. Wooley stated, and they intend to thoroughly examine the copper prospects on the upper Rogue and Illinois rivers.

Mr. E. I. Kennedy has also shipped in a large amount of machinery from Grants Pass, and will demonstrate his new method of extracting gold from concentrates by means of certain salts, which method promises to revolutionize gold mining in the placer claims on Rogue river and save 90 per cent new gold from the sands than have heretofore been recovered by any known method. Mr. Kennedy says when his method has been demonstrated there will be a rush to Rogue river again as great as in the fifties when there was a miner to every rod of ground. They got the coarse gold then, but Mr. Kennedy gets the fine gold now and gets it all.

The Curry county court at its meeting this week set aside $500 to have an expert go over the county books back for a period of six years. Each member of the court also committed himself to the bond issue for roads at earliest possible date after the new law takes effect.

Fred Caughell has resigned as manager of the Wedderburn Trading Company's store, and Tom L. Carr, of San Jose, Cal., formerly from North Bend, Or., will be here in a few days to take this position.

TELLS ABOUT FLOOD.

J. H. Pinkerton Receives Word From His Son, Lyman C. Pinkerton.

J. H. Pinkerton, of North Bend, was a Marshfield business visitor yesterday. He has just received a letter from his son, Lyman C. Pinkerton, who formerly taught school on Coos River, saying that the flood situation there was the worst ever. His son also sent him some copies of the Ashtabula (Ohio) Beacon, which gives detailed accounts of the Ohio disaster. The Pinkerton family formerly lived at Ashtabula.

Lyman C. Pinkerton is now attending Dennison University at Granville, Ohio, and was recently a leader of the Dennison team in a debate with Miami University, the question being:

"Resolved, that all cities of Ohio having a population of 15,000 or over, should adopt a commission form of government." Dennison University vs. Miami.

The Miami Student, the college paper in its account of the debate, said:

"Mr. Pinkerton showed a clear-cut, emphatic style of speaking. The applause of the audience proved the appreciation of his speech."
