The magazine from which the above is taken is one of the standard children's periodicals of the nation. Perhaps more youngsters have been brought up on The Youth's Companion or St. Nicholas than any other two papers. Some children have been lucky enough to have had both included in their earlier reading, and have profited much thereby. Therefor, it is more than more comment when such a magazine prints in its columns Information such as is given here, for not only do thousands of children, throughout the east and middle west read it, but their parents read it as well and thoughts are thus directed towards Oregon as a state that believes in looking out for Its future generations.

The neighboring commonwealth of Washington has long justly prided itself upon its public school system, which has been developed to a high degree. Tacoma, one of its cities, is perhaps most widely advertised by its magnificent high school and stadium—and while Tacoma has a newer and yet larger high school, its older building is still drawing annually many new families to the city. Peo ple migrate these days to places where they can not only better their own condition, but where they can be assured of a liberal and modern education for their children as well.

The little clipping printed at the headlines about Oregon is advertising that pays. It is quoted here as an example of the sort of news we want to give the rest of the world about ourselves. It matters not so much that our resources are wonderful and inexhaustible—the resources of Brazil are as great. What we want the rest of the world to know is that not only have we resources and vacant land awaiting settlement, but that we have also here a system of life as advanced as any to be found in the United States, a system that not only provides comfort and progress for the grown-ups, but that pro-vides the means of the successful adis today: Oregon's advanced public starts in as county attorney July 1. school system will do wonders in To Start Work.—E. ### STEAM SHOVEL EN ROUTE HERE

Machine for North Bend Work Should Arrive Within Few Days on Tillamook.

A telegram has been received from K. D. Hauser & Hauser Company, who will have charge of the South-ern Pacific construction in North Bend and for about 15 miles up North Inlet to the big tunnel at Ten Mile that the steam shovel for the North Bend work was shipped from Wenatchee May 2. It should reach Portsoon and will be immediately brought to Coos Bay by the Tillamook, arriving here the latter part of this week, probably,

The shovel will handle about two and a half yards at a time and will take out the Simpson Park cut fast. A small track will have to be built to carry out the dirt as some of it will have to be taken nearly half a mile to make the dike for the dredge fill from the Bay. There is about three months' work in North Bend for the steam shovel.

Railroad Man Had Unusual Experience During Recent Trip Here.

The Eugene Register prints the following story concerning H. Crosby, one of the party who came here last week from Eugene with Engineer Hoey and J. P. Porter:

H. Crosby, amphibian, Southern Pacific engineer, and member of Multnomah Athletic Club on his way out to Florence last Monday, ran the gamut of cold plunges from tub to ocean and still ended up with a stain more permanent than Lady Macbeth's. Before leaving Eugene he took his usual plunge in the tub. then arriving at Wildeat Creek he luxuriated a half hour in its frigid current, and finally when he came on the broad still Siuslaw, he doffed his garments and with a cry of delight sprang in.

Ten minutes later, looking down stream, he saw a rowboat coming un-mistakably filled with women. He made for a wharf recently constructed out of brand new lumber and with greater haste than discretion sat down upon it to dress. "Not long afterwards he entered the drug store at Florence and called for a quart of "something that will remove pitch" and struck out post haste for the Pacific, where he took his fourth and final bath, but to no

Word Received That Capitalist and Party of Four Are En Route-May Be Wilsey.

Word has been received that Frank B. Waite and four others will arrive here tomorrow from Portland. No other information has been received, but many presume that Waite is coming with W. J. Wilsey, Judge brunough and others on matters connected with the negotiations of W. J. Wilsey for the purchasing of the Kinney holdings on Coos Bay in which Mr. Waite has been heavily interested.

No word has been received from Messrs, Wilsey, Brunough or Kinney for the last few days.

Mr. Waite has recently been Interested in the Kinney electric projects in Ashiand and Southern Oregon. He has incidentally been trying to hasten a railroad to Coos Bay as he is a great believer in this section.

ation and his pegging to second was The fielding of Montgomery and Bultmann was a surprise to their friends who did not think they were capable of handling the ball in such a masterly manner

Ross Smith, Burmelster and Tom Harvey performed their duties in the outfield very satisfactorily.

By a ninth-inning tally, the Eiks tied up the score, which up to that time had been 5 to 3 in favor of North Bend. Howatt singled, Bultman walked. Gardiner sacrificed, advancing them one base. Johnston hit to center field scoring Howatt and Bultman, but was out rrying to stretch the hit into three bags. Montgomery flied out.

In the tenth heavy hitting by North Bend, off the fast hitting Howatt gave them the lead which the Marshfield boys could not overcome. The team as a whole looks like a classy organization and it has been suggested that they make the sixth team in the Coos County League.

After the game, J. W. Gardiner was elected captain and J. W. Hildenbrand manager. The box scores of the North Bend ceam are not available, but we are able to show Marshfield work,

Start Coos County League Anew With Five Teams.

It is expected that the Coos Counteam yesterday had a practice game ty League will be reorganized at a with the North Bend team of the meeting to be held in Coquille Wed-Coos County League. Greatly to the nesday. The plan is to drop the orsurprise of their many friends and ganization perfected sometime ago. probably to themselves, they put up and start anew forgetting the old or-a stiff game fighting all the way. The final score was 7 to 5 after stormy and which has accomplished nothing but got into a bad mixup. from the heavy stick work of Bur-meister. Johnston and Gardiner, the will get together and start with a will get together and start with a feature of the game were two double five-team league and a schedule plays, one unassisted, and the other will be arranged accordingly. Instead of playing double-headers to work in the extra team, a plan to have each team lay off every fourth Sunday will probably be considered in framing the schedule. Arthur McKeown, Denny Hull, Henry Kern and a number of others will probably attend.

> Coquille View. The Coquille Sentinel says: "The

baseball fans held a meeting last night and after discussing the situation decided that Coquille would make one more effort to effect a satisfactory organization of a league by inviting the several managers to meet here next Wednesday with the intention of forming a five-team league, any league refusing to attend such meeting to be declared our the running. The organization would then be effected with those present. Marshfield and North Bend suggested that the three river towns draw straws to ascertain which one should withdraw from the proposed league, which is considered as some nerve on their part. If the teams mentioned refuse to play with five teams. they, too, should join in the straw drawing and take their chances with the other four towns. The talk about those towns being necessary to the success of the league doesn't count, inasmuch as it is proposed that each town take its own gate receipts. the proposition does not take with the others interested, Coquille will have exhausted its last means of trying to get together on a basis that is considered fair and just, and will withdraw any further efforts in this direction. While it wants to play league ball, it doesn't have to.

"Marshfield and North Bend were anxious for the river towns to draw should play in a four-team league, but it appears that instead of following the wishes of the bay dictators Coquille and Myrtle Point "votd" to play in the organization, thus leaving Eandon in the lurch. This did not please the Marshfield aggregation and they refused to accept the "vote" as final, and threaten to play independent ball, or with Bandon.

Wanted Bandon In.

"Coquille has wanted Bandon in the league from the outset, but under existing circumstances self preservation seemed to be the first law of nature, and they voted to play, as did also Myrtle Point, which, inasmuch as the bay has refused to entertain a proposition for a five-team eague, left Bandon out in the cold. Bandon, of course, wants to play; it has a right to, as have the other towns, and there is no good and suffiient reason why all should not par icipate in the National game. While the arrangement of a schedule would be more difficult than with four teams, it would be serving all alike, whereas now there seems to be a display of partiality in some
