SEVEN ARRESTED IN EFFORT TO STOP STREET ORATORS

Socialists Taken Into Custody For Violating Edict of Mayor Straw Here.

WILL HAVE HEARING TOMORROW MORNING.

Released From Jail This Morning on Own Recognizance After Night's Detention.

Marshfield, last night, experienced a decided sensation when nine were arrested for violating Mayor Straw's edict against speaking on the street and thrown into jail, where they spent the night. They were released this morning on their own recognizance and will have a hearing before Recorder Butler tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Barclay and Stoll have been engaged to defend them and they declare that they will knock out the edict against street speaking, claiming it is not warranted by law.

In addition to the arrest of eight or nine, a number of others attempted to follow suit but the officers had the jail pretty well filled and simply pushed them down off the cracker-box platform at the corner of Market and Front Streets.

Those Arrested. Most of those arrested were Marshfield men, members of the socialist party. For a few weeks, E. B. Ellis of Portland, an organizer of the Socialists, has been addressing crowds each evening at the corner of Front and Market.

Last night, he was the first one arrested. While being taken to jail, A. J. Stephan, secretary of the socialists here, jumped on the box and started to talk. The officers took him and one after another the way they were taken until eight or nine had been arrested. However, only seven complaints were filed today and they were against the following:

- A. J. Stephan, Wesley Everett, M. J. Edwards, C. B. Ellis, Joe Gossman, John Hayden, E. Wisti.

After being taken to jail, the men declared that they would not accept bail, even though their friends or relatives wanted to furnish it. They laughed and sang and scored Mayor Straw and others attempting, as they put it, to gag free speech.

Call I. W. W. Trouble. It was stated today that some of the I. W. W. organizers around here are to continue the matter and that one named Rankila had telephoned around over the county and elsewhere urging more of their followers to come to Marshfield.

There are not many members of the I. W. W. in this section, it is not believed, the organizers not having made much headway in their efforts among the loggers. When they started their campaign among the loggers in this county, a year ago, they talked about trying to organize a big strike of the loggers for May but it is said that their failure to get many of them spoiled their plans to try and start a strike.

According to talk about the streets the last few days, it was charged that Ellis was really an I. W. W. organizer, although working as a Socialist. It is understood that he denies this.

There have been some I. W. W. members in the railroad camps between here and Eugene and they attempted to stop the work but their strikes did not amount to much.

Citizens as Deputies. It was stated today that Mayor Straw would swear in a number of prominent Marshfield business men as deputies in order to have a sufficient number of officers to cope with any situation that might arise. It is said to be the plan to swear in practically all the business men around town, fifty or a hundred or more, so that the number of officers will eliminate the danger of serious trouble in enforcing his edict against public street speaking.

Statement by Straw. Mayor Straw today issued the following signed statement: "In so far as I am concerned in the arrest of people who violate ordinances I can only say that the city council and all reputable people of Marshfield depend upon the police force for protection. The responsibility for the government of this city has been enacted by the council. These law makers should be guided with common sense, a de-

BARTON JURY IS SECURED

Twelve Men Secured This Afternoon and Visit Vault in Barton's Office.

(Special to The Times.) COQUILLE, Or., May 7.—The jury to try J. S. Barton, State Representative, on the charge of assaulting Miss Madge Yoakam, an employe in his office, was secured about two o'clock this afternoon. The jury is composed of the following:

- From Marshfield—Chester Wolcott, E. W. Bennett, Carl Albrecht and Milo Sumner. From Dandon—M. C. Miller, L. L. Cox, A. McNair, S. Munday and L. C. Gibson. From Myrtle Point—L. C. Bruer. From Norway—Jessie D. Clinton. From Gravel Ford—W. P. Brady.

Immediately after the jury was secured, they were taken to Barton's office and inspected the vault in which the assault is alleged to have occurred.

The taking of testimony began late today. It is expected that there will be other witnesses than Mr. Barton and Miss Yoakam, as the past reputation of the two may be delved into.

Bunker Hill Case. The Brinkley-Dennison damage case is slated for trial again soon. The case is a suit for damage resulting from an assault case, the criminal suit being tried before Justice Pennock. In the first trial the jury brought in a verdict of $525. A new trial, however, was ordered.

Breach of Promise Case. The breach of promise case of Miss Wells, the North Bend milliner, versus Charles O. King, of the Gorst & King outfit for $5000, has not been set for trial. King is arranging to vigorously fight the case. He did not make any answer, which throws the expense on the plaintiff.

Mr. King says that in the trial of the case some sensational testimony will be brought out. He intimates that he is being made the victim. He dislikes the notoriety very much and is said to have offered $500 to settle the case before it was filed in order to avoid the publicity and notoriety, but since it has gone this far he declares he will fight it to a finish.

ENGINEER IS STRICKEN. J. E. Gardner, one of the engineering force on the construction of the Willamette Pacific on the lower Siuslaw, came in from the front with his wife, who is with him, suffering with a case of chronic appendicitis and after examination by Dr. Paine he was sent to the general hospital of the company at San Francisco for treatment. His wife will accompany him.—Eugene Register.

ARRESTED FOR WHITE SLAVERY

W. F. LaShelle of North Bend Is Held on Telegraphic Advices From U. S. Marshal.

W. F. LaShelle, who was out under $75 cash bond for the theft of a magnet from M. J. Coleman's launch at North Bend, was arrested there this morning by Marshal Anderson on the charge of "white slavery." His arrest was made on a telegram from United States Marshal Scott at Portland, who said that LaShelle was badly wanted by the Government and to hold him pending the arrival of a deputy United States Marshal. Deputy Marshal D. B. Fuller, who was here on other matters left on the Breakwater this morning. He did not take LaShelle because he did not have a warrant for him. He was supposed to have left overland yesterday, but found he could make better time by waiting for the Breakwater and remained. Consequently Marshal Scott supposed that Fuller had left here and had arranged to send another man.

While no details of the charges against LaShelle are obtainable, it is understood that he is wanted some where in the state of Washington. Not long ago, a man from Washington, who saw LaShelle on the street in North Bend, said that he recognized him as a man who was badly wanted in Washington state on a "white slavery" charge and it is presumed that this recognition resulted in his arrest. LaShelle is being held in jail pending other advices from Portland. LaShelle came here from Portland

CALVIN SAYS COOS BAY LINE WILL BE COMPLETED BY 1915

Southern Pacific Vice-President Says Construction Is Slow Owing to Being Along Water—Interview at Portland.

(Special to The Times.) PORTLAND, Ore., May 7.—Trains will be running between Portland and Coos Bay by the end of 1914, thinks E. E. Calvin, vice president of the Southern Pacific, who recently took a trip over the new line being built to Marshfield. Calvin inspected twenty-four miles of the track which is being completed by Twoby Brothers, immediately west of Eugene and the tunnel at Noti, which now is virtually completed. He went west and south over the new road as far as Gardiner but did not go to Marshfield on this trip, having visited that city and various other towns on Coos Bay that the new road will touch on an inspection tour a year ago.

For eighty miles the new road will be built along the water. Mr. Calvin pointed out, either rivers, lakes, the ocean front or the bay. This work requires slow and careful construction. Speed, therefore, is not an essential factor and the Southern Pacific officials are no skurrying on having the line finished much before January 1, 1915. The entire project is under contract, that on the western side being in the hands of Porter-Patterson.

MOURNED DEAD; RETURNS HERE

King Returns to Marshfield After Absence of Three Years.

Mourned for dead for three years by his cousins here, Andrew King yesterday gave his cousins the surprise of their lives by dropping in on them, arriving on the Breakwater after a trip through Canada. King formerly lived on the Bay but went to Portland a little over three years ago and dropped out of sight there and all efforts by relatives to trace him were in vain and they finally made up their minds that he had died in some mysterious manner. He carried some insurance in Sweden and also some in the United States but in the absence of positive proof of his death, these were not collected.

John King and Andrew Anderson, of Marshfield are cousins of Andrew King. When he dropped out of sight in Portland three years ago the relatives here became worried and went to Portland and searched for him in vain. It seems that John King suddenly made up his mind to go to Canada and left for there, not thinking it necessary to notify his relatives. He simply neglected to write to them. Although it was somewhat of a shock to the relatives to meet him, they were overjoyed yesterday when he looked them up after the arrival of the Breakwater.

Bankers To Meet. Invitations have been sent to all the bankers of Lane, Douglas and Coos Counties to meet in Eugene next Wednesday for the purpose of organizing Group Three of the Oregon State Bankers' Association. It is expected that there will be at least 30 prominent moneyed men of these counties in the city that day.—Eugene Register.

GETS DATA ON WATER WORKS

Railroad Commission Said to Have Inspector Making Canvass of Homes.

That the Oregon Railroad Commission is going into the Marshfield and North Bend water situation thoroughly prior to the hearing to be held here about the middle of next month has become evident. An inspector has been sent here to visit every home, secure data as to the pressure, cost of service, quality of water, etc. He is making a house-to-house canvass, personally tests the pressure and gathers data from the house owners.

It is stated that the previous inspection was not all that the Railroad Commission desired. While the inspectors secured much of the data about the physical conditions of the plant, they did not get the detailed evidence and now this inspector is making the canvass. His name was not given out and his canvass so far has been on the quiet.

In view of the early hearing before the Railroad Commission, it is not likely that the Marshfield City Council will take any definite steps on the last offer of the water company to sell the plant to the city for $145,000 prior to the hearing.

IMPROVEMENTS AT SMITH MILL

Remodelling of Eastside Mill Will Greatly Increase Cut—Pulp Mill Work.

When the improvements and alterations now underway at the C. A. Smith company's Eastside mill are completed, the cut of that mill will be increased to a strong 200,000 feet daily, one shift. The remodelling is progressing rapidly and it will probably be completed soon. This increased cut there with the constantly increasing cut of the big mill will bring the output of the two up to about 750,000 on big days for the two of them.

The shingle mill, which was recently moved to the west side of Isthmus Inlet, has a capacity of about 70,000 daily now and if things continue to go satisfactorily, a night shift may be put on at the shingle mill, doubling its output.

Manager Nerdrum is making good progress with the pulp mill and hopes to start it within a few weeks, probably about June 1. However, owing to its being an entirely new plant and trying out a new system of utilizing mill waste, it will probably be about July 1 before it is running at capacity.

Good progress is being made on the extension of the power lines which will transmit electricity from the power plant at the Smith mill to the Smith-Powers-Hennessey coal mine on Isthmus Inlet and the Smith-Powers camps at Coaledo and it is expected to be able to furnish electricity at both places within a few weeks. Part of the electrical machinery for the camps is now here and the balance is expected soon. The electric machinery for the mine should be here within 30 days.

Ex-Secretary of the Interior Thinks Government Must Aid in Alaska. (By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.) WASHINGTON, D. C., May 7.—Responsibility for the condition in Alaska rests squarely on the shoulders of Congress and no place else," former Secretary of the Interior Walter L. Fisher, asserted today before the Senate Territories committee. "The necessity for legislation to open up the territory has been pointed out time after time," continued Fisher, "but nothing whatever has been done. It seems to me," he said, "that no candid student of the situation in Alaska, who is at all free from personal and pecuniary interest, can have the slightest doubt of the propriety of the federal government operating roads at least for experiment. There can be no development of Alaska," he concluded, "unless the government constructs a railroad from the tide water to the interior."

Militants Charged With Three Attempted Bomb Outrages in English Capital.

HOUSE OF COMMONS DEFEATS THEIR BILL.

Several Fires Started; They Are Suspected by Police—Cause Much Turmoil.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.) LONDON, May 7.—An attempt to wreck the ancient St. Paul's cathedral by a bomb early today is attributed to militant suffragettes. This attempt and the placing of two other bombs in other parts of the city make it appear as if the militants had entered anew their hove working campaign, following the defeat of the woman's suffrage bill in the House of Commons last night. Bombs in at three places were discovered before they exploded. The suffrage "Luzon Squads" were also busy early today. They burned a pavilion in Cricket field at Bishop's Park, West end of London, set fire to an unoccupied house in the North of London. A timber yard also suffered a mysterious fire.

MILITANTS ARE BLAMED. Defeat of Suffrage Bill in House of Commons Laid to Them. (By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.) LONDON, May 7.—The defeat of woman suffrage in the House of Commons last night is generally attributed by the morning newspapers to the women, themselves, the militant ones, whose wild, law-breaking tactics have alienated the sympathies of suffrage supporters.

"Small but fiendishly powerful" is a police officer's description of the bomb found near the high altar of St. Paul's. It was timed to explode at midnight, but a derangement of the clockwork retarded the explosion.

TARIFF BILL NEAR TO VOTE

Debate Over Income Tax May Delay Measure in House Until Tomorrow.

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.) WASHINGTON, May 7.—The income tax section of the tariff bill has so retarded the progress of the measure in the House that Democratic leaders early today expressed doubt of the bill's passage before tomorrow. Majority Leader Underwood sought, when the House reconvened to speed up the consideration of the section, but there were scores of minority amendments to be considered. Following the income tax will come administration features of the bill with several stumbling blocks in the way notably the provision giving five per cent differential on imports in American owned vessels.
