 "My position as mayor requires me to see that the public welfare is safeguarded and in order to do so it frequently becomes necessary for me to enforce the law.
 "Now to state the matter briefly and clearly, I intend to use my authority and my best judgment in surrounding the people of the city with every means of protection within my power under the law. My determination to enforce the law is absolutely positive and to that end none of the liberties of peace loving individuals will be interfered with.
 "E. E. STRAW."
 Mayor Straw's Edict.
 Mayor Straw's edict to the police officers to stop the street speaking is as follows:
 "Your attention is called to the fact that the street and sidewalks in the business part of the city are frequently being blocked by groups of men gathered thereon and standing for considerable periods of time, thus causing great inconvenience to persons traversing the same on lawful business and becoming a source of danger to the persons involved by reason of the frequent passage of automobiles and other vehicles.
 "Any person desiring to hold open air meetings within the city may be permitted to use the city park on Park avenue and North Third street for the said purpose.
 "For the protection of the traveling public in the city you are hereby instructed to enforce the provisions of section 21 of ordinance No. 2944, which is herewith quoted for your benefit. Section 21.—Any person or persons who shall stand in or upon the street or sidewalk, or in any public hallway, stairway, or other public passageway, within the corporate limits of the city of Marshfield after being notified to move on by any police officer of said city, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof before the recorder's office shall be punished as herein-after provided."
 The ordinance provides a fine of $5 to $100 or from three to fifty days in jail, or both, for violations of it.

 Emanuel Peter, of Marshfield, underwent an operation at Mercy Hospital today for appendicitis and is reported to be doing nicely.
 Mrs. Harry Mann was able to return today from Mercy Hospital, where she has been receiving treatment.

WANTS BETTER FARMS IN COOS

Senator I. S. Smith Favors $4,000 Experiment Farm Instead of $2,000 One.

Senator I. S. Smith, member of the committee named by the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce to secure an appropriation by the Coos County Commissioners for a State Agricultural Experiment station in Coos county, has written them a strong letter which will be taken up at a meeting of the commissioners in Coquille today. The commissioners recently agreed to appropriate $1,000 for this, the state to furnish an equal amount but Senator Smith thinks that the county should provide at least $2,000 and the state a similar amount. His letter, which follows, is self explanatory:
 "As a member of the Committee from the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce and as one of the authors of Senate Bill, No. 72, providing for certain extension work by the Oregon Agricultural College in the various counties of this state, I wish to urge that the appropriation of $1,000.00 formerly made by your Honorable body be increased to $2,000.00, which by the provisions of the bill will entitle Coos County to a State appropriation of $2,000.00 or a total of $4,000 per annum for the most important work in this county.
 "In my opinion it will be impossible to secure the services of a competent man and pay all necessary expenses incident to carrying out the plan of work provided by this measure, for less. The high cost of living is at least in part caused by the abnormal growth of cities and towns as compared with the slow growth of country districts.
 "For every seventeen people added to the population of the rural districts of Oregon from 1900 to 1910, there were added eighty-three to cities and towns. James J. Hill has said that the production of the whole country can be doubled by applying scientific methods to farming. Dr. James Whithycombe who is the most eminent authority, made the same statement with reference to Oregon. I think their estimates too conservative.
 "It requires from two to three acres of rich bottom land on an average in Coos County to support one dairy cow; whereas if properly cultivated, one acre will support a cow.
 "Land in the coast counties is becoming too valuable for "scrub" cows and "scrub" methods of farming to be profitable. This law, if properly supported by the various counties of the state, will do more to increase the prosperity of the producing class than any law ever enacted in Oregon.
 "You will find hereto attached an account of one county in the state of Illinois, which expended the small sum of $12,000.00 on work of the kind proposed in Oregon under this bill and received in return an increase in production of $500,000.00. In the Review of Reviews for April there is an article telling of the work of Dr. S. A. Knapp in introducing scientific methods in nine corn states of the South, and the result shows a gain of from 15 per cent to 75 percent in the ten years for 1900 to 1909. If other states and counties find a liberal expenditure for improved methods of farming profitable, why not Coos County?
 "There is no wealth except in land and that can be obtained only by labor intelligently applied; so I beg of you don't turn down the class of people who produce the wealth. All responsibility of making a success of this law rests on the officers of the State Agricultural College, but in order to get the best results they must have the co-operation of the various counties.
 "Coos County will be taxed to provide the state fund to be used in this work. We can have our share for the asking. If we neglect or refuse to take advantage of the opportunity, we alone are the losers. Hoping you can see your way clear to raise this appropriation to $2,000.00, I remain,
 "Respectfully,
 "I. S. SMITH."
 Send Delegates.
 H. E. Bessey and J. E. Fitzgerald the committee chosen by the Marshfield Grange to urge an appropriation by the Coos County Commissioners for a state experimental station, left this morning to urge it before the Commissioners at Coquille today.

ARRESTED WRONG MAN.

Chas. Nordquist, Well-to-do Tunnel Contractor, Victim of Mistake.

With over $200 in his pocket and also a letter of credit for $5000 which he had on deposit in a Northern bank, Chas. Nordquist, a tunnel contractor, had the strange experience of being arrested in Astoria as a man who passed a $10 bogus check on the Union saloon at North Bend. Not only was he arrested, but he was brought back here yesterday by Sheriff Gage, but immediately on his arrival at North Bend, the proprietors of the saloon declared he was not the man who passed the bogus check. He was released and left this morning for Portland, where he goes to see Grant Smith about some tunnel contracts in California. Nordquist had hard luck on his visit to the Bay, having been one of the occupants of the launch at Ten Mile which upset and drowned Chas. Johnson, another tunnel man. Then Nordquist had nearly $300 in bills in his pocket and he had a hard time drying them out so that they would not be lost, as they were water soaked during the ducking he got.
 The $10 bogus check was passed on the Union saloon at North Bend by a man named Rylander a week ago, and it was thought that he sailed on the Breakwater under the name of Nordquist, and a warrant was telegraphed to the Astoria officers, who promptly arrested Nordquist on the arrival of the Breakwater. They would not listen to his denials and Sheriff Gage, who was at Astoria with J. C. LaFrance, was sent to bring him back and he did. Nordquist was very angry but said that he would not begin any action for damages as he couldn't afford to waste the time here. It was stated that the officers paid his way back to Astoria.
 No trace of Rylander has been found, but the officers are hopeful of picking him up.

 to instal the machinery in the Twin City Laundry at North Bend a few months ago and claimed to be an expert. Later he started to establish a launch line between Marshfield, North Bend and Eastside but got into a mixup. Finally he bought Chas. Van Zile's launch, the Wanderer, and was to have gone to Portland to secure a new engine last week. Then M. G. Coleman missed the magneto off his launch and had LaShelle arrested for the theft, the magneto being found in some of LaShelle's baggage in the North Bend warehouse. LaShelle was admitted to $75 cash bail, furnished by Sam Van Zile, of North Bend, for his hearing next Monday before Justice Shuster.
 LaShelle is probably 40 years old. He is a small man weighing probably 140 pounds, is smooth shaven and is noticeable on account of having many gold teeth. He was accompanied here by his wife.
 LaShelle is said to vigorously deny the charges against him.
