

NORTH BEND TO BUILD STREETS

City Council Plans for About $70,000 Worth of Grading and Filling

The North Bend city council at its last meeting made preliminary arrangements for about $70,000 worth of street grading, exclusive of planing and paving. The streets which it is proposed to grade, fill and clear, and the estimated costs are:

From Sherman to Hamilton—Florida, $5118.50; Montana, $8,385.50; Connecticut, $6197.50; California, $7165.50.

From California to City Park—Union $6613.25; Meade $11,957.25; Monroe $8361.50; McPherson $6,848.75; Sherman avenue, $10,490.40. Sherman avenue is to extend past the park, terminating where the road turns up to old town and includes all of Sherman avenue on a straight line.

No action will be taken about paving or planing pending an expression from the property owners. City Recorder Derbyshire was also instructed to ask for bids for improving Stanton from Delaware to Ohio, Ohio from Stanton to Sherman and Delaware from Sutherland to Stanton.

To Sell Bonds. The council also repealed the old ordinance providing for the sale of $25,000 bonds to redeem the outstanding city warrants and enacted a new one. The new ordinance provides for the sale of the bonds at 8 o'clock on the evening of June 10. The bonds are to be dated June 2, 1913, bear six per cent interest and run for 20 years. Only unconditional sealed bids will be considered.

The council has been dickering with a bond firm for about a year and all of the proceedings have been in accordance with the wishes of the bond men.

For Water Supply. The council appointed Councilmen Bartle, Mandigo and Kern a committee of three to negotiate for a better water supply. They are to get terms from the Coos Bay Water Company and try and arrange for either the city of North Bend or the city of Marshfield to buy the supply and then improve it and supply the other town with water.

ELECTION IN BANDON.

Mrs. Minerva Lewen First Woman to Register There.

BANDON, Ore., May 15.—Mrs. Minerva Lewen was the first woman on the registration books of Bandon. She is a patriotic citizen and is publicly and privately urging the women of the city to take advantage of their right of franchise.

The levy of a one-mill tax for the support of the public library and the stock ordinance are two measures for the special election of June 9, in which the women are interested.

Mrs. Lewen is a native of Oregon and has lived in Coos County practically all her life. She is president of the Women's Commercial Club.

Mrs. E. H. Fish, formerly of Marshfield, was one of the first four to register.

TRUE BUYS STORE.

Former Marshfield Man Gets P. E. Drane's Grocery at Coquille.

The Coquille Herald says: "A deal which has been pending for some weeks is now released for publication and the Herald is permitted to state that F. C. True has purchased the grocery store of P. E. Drane, to take possession about May 15. Mr. True is well known here, having had charge of F. S. Dow's warehouse in this city. Recently he has been the storekeeper for the Prosper Mill Company and he thoroughly understands the grocery business. Being a good business man of very pleasant address, he will undoubtedly make a good success in this store, which has enjoyed a fine trade under Mr. Drane's popular management. W. E. Cleghorn's pleasant countenance will still be found behind the counter."

WANT TO GET TROUT.

Coquille Sportsmen Hold Meeting—Plan Big Shoot May 29.

The Coquille Rod and Gun Club held its regular annual meeting Monday evening and elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: A. J. Sherwood, president; M. Harrison, vice-president; Claude Moon, secretary; L. J. Cary, field captain.

A challenge was issued to the Marshfield and Bandon clubs to hold a friendly shoot here on May 29, for a banquet.

An application has been made to the State Fish Warden for 29,000 Rainbow trout, to be planted in Brewster Valley, in the North Fork and in the Middle Fork of the Coquille. A like number has been asked for by the Marshfield Club, and it is proposed to send Deputy Warden Frank Smith, of the Coos River hatchery, to Portland to receive the fish when they are ready for delivery.—Coquille Herald.

GIVE DETAILS OF MARRIAGE

Nuptials of Vernon A. Smith and Miss Katherine Drew in Minneapolis Saturday

The Minneapolis Journal of last Sunday contains the following account of the marriage of Vernon Smith and Miss Katherine Drew, which will be of interest to the many friends of Mr. Smith on Coos Bay:

Miss Katherine Van Valkenburgh Drew, the daughter of Mrs. Thomas H. Drew, became the bride of Vernon Anderson Smith of Marshfield, Ore., formerly of Minneapolis, last evening at a beautiful ceremony in St. Mark's Episcopal church. Rev. James E. Freeman officiated in the presence of several hundred guests and the nuptial music was played by Stanley R. Avery, the organist, and William MacPhail, violinist. The "Lohengrin" wedding march was the professional music, and the organ and violin music played softly during the service, included "To a Wild Rose," by MacPhail, and "Melody," by Ole Bull.

The decorations in the church were masses of greenery, palms, ferns and bay trees lending their foliage for a setting of Minnetonka roses and lilies about the altar, amidst which cathedral candles burned in tall holders.

While Mr. Avery and Mr. MacPhail played the program of introductory music the guests were seated by the ushers, Addison Parry of Indianapolis, Frederick Addison Warner of Berkeley, Cal., Stanley Arnold of San Francisco, Cal., Cornell Lagerstrom of Marshfield, Ore., and Stanley Partridge and Robert Burns of Minneapolis.

Carroll Smith of Berkeley, Cal., the brother of Mr. Smith, was the best man and shortly before the bride entered the two had approached to the chancel steps from the sacristy to await her coming.

The bride walked alone, preceded by a little flower girl, Margaret Burnett, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Burnett, who scattered rose petals in her path from a basket filled with pink roses and daisies.

Miss Drew's gown was built of white Duchess satin draped from the shoulders down in point de Lyons lace. The long train hung in a panicle several yards from the waist line and the draperies were caught in scarf effect below the shoulders and again below the knee with clusters of orange blossoms. The bodice of tulle under lace was short sleeved and low necked and the veil hung from under a quaint Queen Wilhelmina cap of old Duchess lace, which is an heirloom in the family of the bride's aunt. Clashed around her throat was a necklace which had as a drop a large pear-shaped blue diamond attached to the chain with diamond links, the gift of Mr. Smith. Her flowers were a shower of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Roland C. Nickerson, the matron of honor, Miss Adeline Smith of Berkeley, Cal., as the maid of honor, and four bridesmaids, Misses Myrtle Smith, also a sister of Mr. Smith of Berkeley, Cal., Beatrice Wilcox, Marguerite Gray and Katherine King were the bride's attendants. They were visions in Minnetonka rose pink, for the deep rose of that lovely flower was the pronounced color note in their costumes.

Mrs. Nickerson's gown was of white satin and white chiffon draped in Nell rose chamoise with a bodice of tulle and shadow lace. The gown was made with a short square train and the bouquet was of long stemmed Lake Minnetonka roses.

The maid of honor and the bridesmaids were in gowns made with very long skirts. They were of white satin chamoise draped in Duchess lace net and light rose pink chiffon; bands of Nell rose satin showed under the filmy lace and chiffon, and knots of the same held the drapes in place; the tulle bodices were draped in Duchess net lace and the maids held also arm bouquets of Lake Minnetonka roses. The wedding reception was given at the Plaza hotel and about 200 cards had been issued for the affair. In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Drew and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Smith. Mrs. Drew wore a gown of turquoise blue net draped in chiffon; Miss Margaret Drew, the bride's aunt, was gowned in gray brocaded crepe trimmed in orchid lavender.

American beauty roses were used in the assembly room, which suggested a lovely rose garden; between the two French windows leading to the conservatory was a bank of palms and ferns, serving as a background for the receiving party. Roses were abloom in tall vases and in baskets that topped handsome pedestals, and candlelight made the illumination; the walls were partly screened by branches of apple-blossoms and the wall lights were shaded in pink. In the private dining room where the collation was served were pink roses and pink-shaded tapers and a beautiful floral arrangement occupied the center of the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith left last evening for an extended Eastern wedding trip. They will visit friends and in June will go to Northampton, Mass., to attend Mrs. Smith's class reunion at Smith College, and they will be at Yale for commencement to be present at the reunion of Mr. Smith's class. They will travel east for about ten weeks, and on their way to Marshfield, Oregon will stop over in Minneapolis to visit. They will be at home in Marshfield after September 1. Mr. Smith having purchased a bungalow for their residence.

The guests from away, who came on for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Smith and Carroll Smith of Berkeley, Cal., one-time Minneapolis residents; Mr. and Mrs.

Frederick Addison Warner, of Berkeley; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Leavitt Brown, of St. Louis.

The dinner which Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Smith, the parents of Mr. Smith, gave on Friday evening at the Leanington was a beautiful affair appointed in spring flowers.

Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Smith were Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Addison Warner and covers were placed for 26 in the blue room. The guests were received in the rose room, which was hung with branches of apple blossoms and adorned with vases and baskets that held pink and white roses, lilies and carnations.

In the center of the bridal table was a huge crystal vase with pink and white roses and white lilies and amidst the handsome appointments of the service stood baskets laden with spring flowers, pink and white predominating in color effect and lilies being used with roses and carnations.

At the place of Miss Drew was a very beautiful bouquet of orchids.

ELECTION IN COQUILLE.

Skels, Pierce and Sanford Elected Over Socialist Opponents.

The Coquille Herald says: "The city election Monday resulted in the election of the Citizens' ticket by good majorities, though the Socialists' ticket made a good showing on some candidates. All the amendments to the city charter were carried.

The vote was as follows: For Councilmen, C. T. Skels, 292; D.

D. Pierce, 192; O. C. Sanford, 215; J. E. Quick, 152; J. C. Noel, 65; S. L. Curry, 157. For Recorder, J. S. Lawrence, 300; J. H. James, 55. Amendments, 200, Yes, 254; No, 100; 202, Yes, 202; No, 114; 304, Yes, 215; No, 108.

"Voters to the number of 254 cast their ballots, and 121 of these were women, Mrs. Wm. Canfield was the first lady to deposit her ballot.

WHAT THREE WELL KNOWN MARSHFIELD MEN SAY:

TO THE PUBLIC:

Shows of a first-class character, other than moving picture shows, have been so rare in Marshfield that the public feel that they are from Missouri and need to be shown.

At the present time, the Masonic Lodge, through their opera house committee, have secured what we can conscientiously say, after two night's trial, is the best show troupe that has been in this town for years. They are now playing at the opera house at popular prices, 25c, 35c and 50c.
